ATTACKING FORCES HURLED BACK UPON LINES IN DISORDER

Italian War Office Reports a Severe
Repulse of the Invaders on the West Front of the Piave.

THE BRITISH NOW IN ACTION IN ITALY

Rome, Dec. 17.—Austro-German forces which attacked the Italian lines on the northern front from the direction of San Martino were driven back in disorder, the war office announces today.

In the Col Caprille region the Italians attacked and then were counter-attacked. Finally the enemy had to withdraw to the positions from which he started.

BRITISH IN THE BATTLE

Berlin, Dec. 17.—British troops on the Italian front yesterday launched an attack against the Austro-Germans south of Monte Fontana Secca, but it broke down before the Teuton positions, the German war office announced today.

CHEC KGERMAN ATTACK.

Rome, Sunday, Dec. 16.—There was little infantry fighting on the front between the Brenta and Piave Saturday and one hostile attack was checked, the official statement from the war office today says. There was much artillery fighting on the northern front. The statement continues: "At the delta of the Piave, a storming platoon, well supported by an armored motor boat, destroyed one of the enemy's small bridges and patrols, consisting of sailors, attacked some houses occupied by the enemy and captured a number of prisoners. Along the remainder of the front the fighting was normal."

"On the night of the 14th-15th movements of troops within the enemy's lines of communication was hampered effectively by our airships. A hostile airplane was brought down by British airmen near Quermelle and one of our airmen accounted for another machine west of the Saren valley."

NOTHING NEW ON WEST FRONT.

London, Dec. 17.—"There is nothing of special interest to report," says the official announcement today from the war office.

BRITISH IN AIR RAID.

London, Dec. 17.—The British statement on aerial operations issued last night reads: "Although the weather was fine Saturday, a very high wind and ground mist interfered with reconnaissance and artillery work. Many rounds were fired during the day into

DAY'S WAR SUMMARY.

(By the Associated Press.)—When the armistice agreement between the Russian government and the central powers goes into effect on the eastern front today the emissaries of the several countries will begin negotiations looking toward peace between Russia and her former enemies. Meanwhile it is indicated in London that the allied powers may be preparing to deal more sympathetically with the Bolshevik government.

The armistice between Russia and the Central powers is to continue for 28 days and for an indefinite period afterward unless a seven days notice is given. Both sides agreed not to carry out military transfers on the eastern theatre except those begun when the treaty was signed.

London newspapers forecast that the allies will give recognition of the Bolsheviks "in order to prevent Russia from passing under the political and economic heel of Germany." Great Britain is said to have decided to release Tchitcherine, a Russian political prisoner, and the Bolsheviks are now permitting British subjects to leave Russia. To the American delegates at the Paris conference is said to belong the credit for tempering of the allied attitude toward the Bolsheviks.

Labor strikes appear to be the great menace before the Bolsheviks at present, especially in the Petrograd district. The railway and fuel situations are serious. The counter-revolution

ALL NON-COMS ARE

Great School for Education and Training to be Kept in France.

With the American Army in France, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The orders just issued by Gen. Pershing providing for a system of promotion from the ranks, under which any private who demonstrates his ability may win a commission, makes all non-commissioned officers, even corporals, eligible for a school which is being established at a large training center for the instruction of candidates for commissions. Privates who desire to become officers must first demonstrate their efficiency by earning appointment as non-commissioned officers.

The non-commissioned officers will be sent to the training school on recommendation of their superiors, which will be forwarded by the commanders of divisions or other separate units and by the chiefs of departmental staffs to the commander in chief.

When candidates attending the training school have been found to be proficient they will be assigned to vacancies as second lieutenants of replacement divisions. Thence they will go to fill vacancies occasioned by casualties and other causes in combat divisions. There will be no limit to the number of second lieutenants in the replacement divisions. On the contrary it is recommended that there be at least three times as many in a given

EVERY EFFORT FOR ORDINANCE

General Crozier's Office
Report Vindicates War Department.

MACHINE GUNS ARE NOW COMING ALONG
Work on Heaviest Artillery
Slow and a Bit Disappointing.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—Army ordnance conditions at the beginning of the present fiscal year are treated only briefly by Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance in the annual report of his bureau made public today. Since the review was written General Crozier has furnished the senate military committee a much more complete record of what has been done to arm the forces in France or under training in the United States.

The report shows that up to June 30 orders have been placed for one million Enfield rifles, details for the re-chambering of the British standard gun for American ammunition having been completed June 12.

Machine Gun Equipment.

On the machine gun construction Gen. Crozier says that several types of weapons had been found efficient by the machine gun board but that procurement of an adequate supply was a question of securing deliveries.

"In other words," he adds, "the number of machine guns on hand when war was declared was so small that it was necessary to keep going at the greatest possible capacity those machine gun factories which were already in operation and to utilize their output when the guns so manufactured had been reported by the board as efficient, even though they may not have been reported as most efficient."

"Every energy has been bent to secure satisfactory output and considerable progress in this direction is being made. Funds appropriated to date are adequate for the purpose."

OF French Caliber.

It is shown in the report that all American field guns are to be similar in caliber to the French "seventy-fives" which have been so much discussed since the war began.

The French semi-automatic breech mechanism also has been adopted in modified form so that American and French batteries in France can be served from the same ammunition factories. Anti-aircraft guns of the "seventy-five" type also have been adopted.

Both these and the machine guns are under manufacture in quantity, the report says. A considerable number of the anti-aircraft guns figured for mounting on motor trucks, also had been ordered.

The report shows that 3.8 inch and six-inch howitzers, the guns principally used for barrage work in trench fighting, were designed and ready for manufacture on June 30. Gen. Crozier expresses appreciation of the cooperation of French and British ordnance experts in turning out these guns.

Big Caliber Guns Come Slowly.

The production of large caliber mobile artillery, that is, weapons of the type of the German forty-two centimetre guns, appears to be the chief source of delay in the army's equipment. Gen. Crozier says a process of supplying our troops with these guns "necessary will be slow and disappointing, although every advantage has been taken of the assistance secured from abroad."

NO TAX REFORM THIS SESSION.

Washington, Dec. 17.—There will be no general reconsideration of the war tax bill at this session of congress, Chairman Simmons of the finance committee announced today during an attack on the measure by various republican senators. He declared the bill was not perfect and added that to correct various inconsistencies some legislation would be required.

BALLPLAYER SMITH ENLISTS.

Sandusky, O., Dec. 17.—Elmer Smith, Cleveland American league outfielder, will report at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., for duty today. He left here yesterday for Chillicothe. Smith will try for a commission. He has been promised enrollment in an officers' training camp.

Borden Ministry.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 17.—Upon the decision today of the voters throughout the dominion rests the fate of the new union government which, if retained in office, will enforce selective conscription fill the ranks of the Canadian army overseas. Opposing Sir Robert Borden, leader of the union forces, is the veteran liberal leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who proposes a referendum as an alternative to the compulsory conscription law, pledging the liberals to abide by the will of the voters.

The polls opened at 5 o'clock this morning and will close at 5 p. m. By acclamation already made eighteen Laurier and eleven Borden supporters have been returned without opposition. Four contests have been deferred, leaving decisions to be given in 202 constituencies. It is estimated that there are a million and a quarter male domestic voters, three hundred thousand overseas soldiers' votes and probably half a million women who are permitted to vote through relationship with soldiers in service. Both the Borden and the Laurier managers express confidence, while the prevailing belief is that the decision will be given by the soldier and the women voters. The government bases its hopes on the soldier and women elements to retain the Borden ministry and confirm conscriptions with heavy majorities.

LITTLE LIGHT IS SHED BY REPORT ON AIR PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 17.—The tremendous air program of the American army is dismissed with a brief paragraph on the liberty motor in the annual report today of the chief signal officer of the army directly in charge of the work. The statement on the liberty motor concludes:

"The liberty engine, which for power, lightness and efficiency compares favorably with the best European types, was under development in June."

Other statements in the report as to the expansion of the signal service and the aviation section are so remote from conditions today, although they were made only a few months ago, that they furnish no additional information as to what the signal corps is doing.

PRESIDENT OFF RAIL PROBLEM FOR TWO WEEKS

Washington, Dec. 17.—It was indicated today that President Wilson will make no further move in the railroad situation until congress reconvenes after Christmas holidays.

KOSCIUSKO CO. SOLDIER DEAD AT THE FRONT

Washington, Dec. 17.—General Pershing today reported the death of Howard C. Stahl, a field artillery wagoner, on Dec. 14 of measles complicated by pneumonia. His father is Elmer G. Stahl, R. R. D. No. 1, Sidney, Ind.

CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM

Detailed Account of Fall of the Holy City is Furnished.

BRITISH HAD HARD
MARCH AND BATTLE
Turks Fought With Much Spirit to Save Their Seat in Palestine.

London, Dec. 17.—In attacks preceding the surrender of Jerusalem, the Turks employed storming troops in successive assaults on Nebi Samuel northwest of the Holy City, then held by London troops, according to a Reuter despatch from British headquarters in Palestine. The despatch which was sent by airplane gives details of the capture and the entry into Jerusalem.

The final Turkish attack was preceded by such a heavy shelling that it appeared the enemy was confident the British would be blown off the summit, but all their attacks were repulsed singularly. The Turks held a strong line west, south and northeast of Jerusalem. They were well provided with machine guns and their artillery dominated the crests over which the British should have to advance. Some Turkish guns were placed just outside the city walls, making it impossible to reply to their fire without endangering the town.

Roads Almost Impassable.

"A torrential rain made the roads impassable," the correspondent continues, "while a chilly east wind pierced the sodden soldiers to the bone. The problems of supply and transport almost drove us to despair. The camels were unable to continue a foothold on the slippery paths. Nevertheless, the food and ammunition supply was maintained fully."

"On the night of Dec. 7, when our attack began we moved up under cover of darkness, the attack pivoting on Nebi Samuel from which the Londoners advanced eastward toward Jerusalem while their troops ascended the Hebron road threatening the town from the south."

"They found Hebron evacuated, but encountered resistance around Bethlehem, where the Turks also had posted guns so that counter-battery work would endanger the sacred village. Hence our troops had the disagreeable experience of being shelled without the ability to reply. But they pressed forward and by noon of the eighth we were two miles north of Bethlehem."

On the Judean Hills.

"The Londoners had a hard task on the steep slopes of the Judean hills, where it was impossible to bring field guns to their support, but some mountain batteries and howitzers rendered magnificent service and by seven in the morning the Londoners had stormed and captured all the enemy works of the town. The Turks still held the last line on the ridge overlooking Jerusalem, having posted numerous machine guns in the houses of the Jewish and German colonists in the outskirts of the town."

Welsh troops advancing from the south pushed across the road east of Jerusalem leading to Jericho and thrust back Turkish reinforcements advancing along this road to succor Jerusalem. In the course of all these operations they captured nearly 1,000 prisoners in addition to 700 wounded Turks in hospitals in Jerusalem.

Praise for Staff Work.

"The wonderful co-ordination of all our movements in itself speaks praise for the admirable staff work. Of conditions in Jerusalem I learned that in the early days of the war and the abortive Turkish attacks against the Suez canal, the Turkish losses in pack animals exceeded 45,000 dead from neglect, lack of food and overwork. The people were so famished from hunger that they used to fight for the bodies of the animals that died in and about the town. Then there was suspicion and persecution."

"Everybody suspected of sympathizing with the allies were imprisoned or killed. Many persons were executed. Among these was the Mufti of Gaza, belonging to a distinguished Arab family, who, after an attempt to escape, was captured and hanged with his son."

ATTEMPTS TO BIND ALLIES ON SEAS

UNITED STATES HOLDING OFF.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Recognition of the Bolshevik government by the United States still is remote, it was indicated today at the state department. Reports in Europe suggesting a developing sentiment in favor of dealing the new regime as a de facto government have found no response here and it was made plain that the United States would continue its policy of awaiting developments. Reports from Ambassador Francis are now coming through with more regularity, but consults in many parts of the country appear unable to communicate with Petrograd.

It was suggested here that one of the direct results of the armistice between the German and Russian armies might be the financing of the Bolsheviks by Germany with paper money. When the war began Russian money was being printed in Germany and the plates are still in Berlin.

Diplomatic dispatches to the state department from Teheran, Persia, contained an appeal for relief of the famine suffering people in that region.

Petrograd, Sunday, Dec. 16.—The terms of the Russo-German armistice, according to a statement issued here, include no transference of troops until January 14, (Jan. 1, Russian); no increase of troops on the fronts or of the islands in the Moon Sound or a re-grouping of forces.

The Germans are not to concentrate troops between the Black sea and the Baltic east of the 15th degree of longitude east of Greenwich.

Intercourse between the troops may be allowed from sunrise to sunset. Groups are limited to 25 persons at a time who may exchange newspapers and unsealed mails and who may carry on trade and exchange articles of prime necessity.

A special agreement will be made by the naval general staff regarding the extension of the armistice to the White sea and the Russian coast in the Arctic zone. It is agreed also that attacks on war and commercial vessels must stop in these regions in order to avoid attacks in other seas.

The armistice on the naval front embraces all of the Black sea and the Baltic sea east of the meridian, 15 degrees east of Greenwich. The demarcation line fixed for the Black sea is from the light house of Slinka to the Estuary of the Danube to Cape Gagos. In the Baltic the line runs from Reval to the western coast of Vormis island to the island of Dagher to Kienarsko.

BOOZE TO GET ANSWER TODAY

House Will Take Vote Late on Resolution to Amend Constitution.

DRY FORCES CLAIM VICTORY CERTAIN

Resolution Has Passed the Senate, But Will Have to be Modified.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Both wets and dries predicted victory today when the house launched into a six hour debate which is to close at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the prohibition constitutional amendment.

The dries admitted that the wets had been gaining strength for several days but claimed twenty votes to spare over the necessary two thirds.

The wets gave no figures and predicted the defeat of the resolution by a narrow but safe margin.

Although the resolution has already passed the senate it will not be out of the woods until it passes the house.

As the debate ran on representative Barkley, of Kentucky, one of the prohibition leaders, claimed that a complete canvass of the state delegations indicated adoption of the resolution by a margin of 15 votes over the necessary two thirds.

As presented to the house, the resolution requires ratification by three-fourths of the states within seven years, while the draft approved by the senate last August fixes a time limit of six years for state action.

Favorable action by the house today means the difference must be adjusted in conference and the conference report adopted by both bodies before it is submitted to the state.

It is apparent no indicate smoothing out processes can be completed before the Christmas adjournment tomorrow.

Representative Cooper, of Ohio, for the amendment told the house: "You look into a hat band or a coat to see if it bears a union label but you look in vain into the whisky bottle for a union label."

INDICATES THE AMERICANS ARE DROPPING BACK

With the American Army in France, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Although German claims in an official communication regarding a retreat in the Bures sector are not confirmed by a French source, it may be said that the locality described virtually is identical with the positions which the Americans were fighting on Nov. 3. Three American soldiers were killed in the fighting on Nov. 3. The first to die fighting on an American front was killed; five Americans were wounded and twelve were captured.

BUSIEST WEEK OF THE ENTIRE YEAR

Suburban Shopping Day Will Bring Many to Town Wednesday.

In anticipation of the busiest week of the entire year, the Fort Wayne merchants are not only arranging their goods for the most attractive display, but extra salespeople are engaged to care for the crowds which will be coming this week, especially on Wednesday, suburban day. Many have been prevented from coming to the city on account of the cold weather, but the time is now so short that it will be necessary to come now in order to meet the necessities of the season's shopping.

With the exceptional attractive "specials" which will be announced through the Sentinel tomorrow, this issue of the paper may well be taken as a guide to the very best things that are in store for the people this week.

With the Red Cross membership campaign now on, every element of Christmas cheer is being centered upon the "Red Cross" drive.

sacrifice, of the warm-hearted consideration of the welfare of others, the Christmas spirit was never more clearly manifested than right now. So, the giving of gifts will be just as widespread and generous as ever before, and each gift will bear its message of love and tenderness as never before. This week promises great things for both merchant and patron, and all who can arrange to come to the city this week Wednesday will be amply repaid for the time and energy required.

BOLSHEVIKI ON TOP.

It matters nothing how we view it—how fatuous it may appear as an undertaking nor how much it may injure democracy's cause—there is no reason to doubt that the Bolsheviks are on top in Russia. The strength of the extreme element is amazing and unaccountable, but it is undeniable.

The uprisings instigated against the Bolsheviks by Generals Galedines, Korniloff and others have been put down. The elements relied upon by the more moderate factors in Russia to support their cause have proved weak and undependable. Lenine and Trotsky are the rulers of Russia and their rule is of iron. It is hinted that back of these radical agitators is some concealed strong force—some masterful hand—that knows the one way by which to drive Russia. There is something in the suggestion. It is not easily conceivable that a pair of street yawpers like Lenine and Trotsky can possess the character and force and the genius of a masterful leadership to make unrelenting headway against the best and strongest democratic opinion and statesmanship in that vast empire of near two hundred millions of people. That is the fact of contemporary history, but is not the explanation.

The undertaking of the Bolsheviks for an armistice has succeeded and the sequence of that, which is to be the conclusion of a definite peace, appears to be following fast. It will be the fault wholly of the kaiser and his war cabinet if war with Russia be not brought wholly to an end on terms that will profit the German empire greatly so long as that peace shall endure. Just how long that may be no one can say, because no one can say for what tenure the present regime in Russia is to have its way. The Bolsheviks have mastered the situation. Whether or not it has mastered the masses of Russia for good and all is a chapter yet to be written. Robespierre, Marat and Danton, that bloody triumvirate of the French revolution, held fast to affairs and ruled without question and without ruth until in the climax of that red terror they had conjured the people began to take counsel of their fears and the triumvirate fell, while France hailed the advent of a tyrant as the second triumph of her freedom.

It may not so fall out in Russia, but in the fondness of history for repeating herself she will find no stage more amply set for repetition of what transpired in France during the final decade of the Eighteenth century than in the land of the Muscovite in the second decade of the twentieth. What seems to be going on there now is the tyranny of democracy. Whatever stands in the way of the Bolsheviks is ridden down and run over. Only Bolshevik successes in the elections are recognized. Only Bolshevik delegates to the constituent assembly can have seats. It is rule or ruin—Bolshevik or nothing. That can only mean either complete anarchy or an ultimate recrudescence of the despotism.

It is a singular political and social drama that is transpiring in Russia today. Nothing quite like has ever passed into human ken and it can be watched by the world with an interest altogether apart from its bearing on the fate of democracy in its life and death struggle with the mad ambitions of the Prussian military autocracy.

IS A STRICKEN WORLD'S NEED.

Almost the whole world stands today in need of the ministrations of the Red Cross. The havoc created by the war will not end with the war. If the great strife were to be brought tomorrow to conclusion in a peace humanity could trust there would remain a gigantic task for the Red Cross.

In France, in Belgium, in Poland, in Italy, in Serbia, in Rumania and throughout Western Asia humanity is prostrate under its desolation and its woe. All that the less stricken part of the world can do with America's great aid to relieve distress and agony in those crushed and bleeding lands will be none too much.

But the war is not going to end tomorrow and it is not, so far as mind now can penetrate the future, going to end soon. This nation is just beginning to put its strength into the conflict. Where we now have perhaps two or three hundred thousands of troops in the theater of war we shall have a year hence perhaps two or three millions. Whatever the need put upon this country to furnish men must be met. We must make the Red Cross organization for war work adequate to meet the necessities of a huge participation in the conflict. We must do more. We must make our Red Cross strong enough to serve also our allies, who are becoming destitute of all sorts of means to carry on the work of mercy. Human as well as financial and material resources have been critically diminished abroad by the unexampled stresses of more than three years of the bitterest war ever waged.

The war will vastly increase the work of the Red Cross here at home. That must be kept in mind and prepared for. While ministering to want and woe over seas we cannot neglect want and woe in our own midst. That by itself will constitute a prodigious task once America has gone far enough into the strife to have felt its desolations.

For our duty while the war lasts and for the tasks that will lie over half a world in the wake of the war we must make ourselves altogether ready. This week the great drive for the American Red Cross is on. It is the Christmas drive. When it is brought to a conclusion it is hoped that it will show the membership brought up to fifteen millions in the United States. That is a vast membership, to be sure, but it will mean but one in every seven of our population—not a great percentage in a patriotic and humane labor that should interest and enlist the fervor and service of all.

Get the Red Cross service flag in your window. Get the Red Cross Christmas spirit in your heart. Do it this week. Join the drive.

RATHER DRAGGING IT.

The senate pounced with some ferocity upon La Follette before the end of the last session of congress and began to prepare the skids for his exit from that body. Some headway was made and then the end of the session approached. The inquiry was put over until this session.

So far nothing doing. Congress is about to adjourn for the holiday recess and so there is no hope of anything doing until the statesmen come back from their yuletide rejoicings to take up once again the burdens of national assembly—including La Follette.

It may be that the last has been heard of that inquiry, begun with much noise of wrath. It is notable that when the senate voted on the resolution to declare war against Austria the Wisconsin senator made it unanimous by slipping from the chamber and hiding out until after the vote had been taken.

We make no accusations—do not even conjure a suspicion—but there may have been a deal of method in La Follette's retreat from the chamber while the war resolution was up. There may have been more than method. There have been—but that's suspecting and "suspicioning," and we disclaim that.

Perhaps the senate may consider it better to keep La Follette in its midst and also quiet than to give him the boot to the skids and the skids to the street. He could make quite a deal of a holler about that and would. A silent, tractable, well-behaved and chastened La Follette would be something of a drawing card in the senate.

There is no other movement in which a few pennies from everybody can do so much good as in the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign. That touches light upon the giver, makes him no trouble in giving, is all net gain to the cause and in the aggregate makes up a formidable war fund with which to rout the white plague.

No one can accuse the Bolsheviks of any want of energy and capacity. The fashion it has put down the rebellions that have flamed up here and there testifies to the good faith and ability of somebody who is running the big show in Petrograd.

A service flag, a Red Cross flag and a national food saving card in the window all join to give a good testimony to the patriotism that has its abode under that roof.

Taking Mr. Hoover's word for it, the sugar king is not in any sense a Santa Claus Spreckles at all. He's for getting, not giving.

Buy the little Red Cross seals and send the deadly little microbes headless.

AWAITING THE VERDICT.

The Triumph of the Crusade

(Christian Science Monitor.)

"And Canaan begat Sidon his first-born, and Heth, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, and the Girgashite, and the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Shitite, and the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad. Those verses, taken from generations of the sons of Noah, in the book of Genesis, contain the first mention, known to man, of Jerusalem, the Jebusites were, of course, the inhabitants of Jebus, which as the book of Judges says, is Jerusalem. For centuries, indeed, the world believed that Jebus was the old name of the Jebusite city which was altered to Jerusalem when David captured it. But, in 1890, this theory was mercilessly exploded. In that year, the discovery of the el-Amarna tablets disclosed the fact that as early as 1400 B. C., at any rate, or some five centuries before the time of David, Jebus, if the bull may be forgiven, was known as Uru-salim, which in the Anglo-Saxon tongue is Jerusalem. Indeed whether there ever was a Jebus on Mount Zion is something over which the pundits are still disputing.

Anyway, some time early in the tenth century before Christ, "all Israel gathered themselves to David upon Hebron." And David led Israel to the ridge of the Jebusites, unto Uru-salim; and Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was the first to mount the walls, and so to become the captain of Israel. After that David himself kept his court in the castle of Zion, and so ever since that time has Uru-salim been known as the city of David. That was twenty-seven centuries ago, and today some at all events of the troops of General Allenby have marched to the ridge of the Jebusites over the very ground trodden by the feet of all Israel after the elders had appointed David King over Israel in Hebron. Here then in the castle of Zion David lived and ruled, and builded the great temple which bore his name, though the materials for it had been collected by his father.

Some four hundred and twenty years after the mighty hero had climbed up the hill of the Jebusites behind Joab, Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, and carried the people away into captivity. It was the beginning of Israel's sorrows, because though, when Cyrus conquered Babylon, the people of Judah were permitted to return, with Ezra and Nehemiah, to Jerusalem, and to rebuild the temple the Jews never were free again. Only now after twenty-seven centuries of the lash of the Babylonian task-master, the ghetto of the Christian, and the bastinado of the Turk, does the pen of Mr. Balfour offer to Lord Rothschild, the descendant of the Jew who once declared that, if the Jews went back to Zion, he would ask to be appointed permanent ambassador in London, security for this very return of the Jewry to Jerusalem.

Between the hour of the proclamation of Cyrus, king of persia, and the hour of the letter written by Mr. Balfour, much has happened in Jerusalem. It has seen Sanballat come down from Bethoron, from whence the British troops have come today, and lie in wait to destroy the people as they labored on the wall. It has seen one of the fiercest and most savage sieges in history. It has seen the dawn of the Christian era, the coming of the Christ, the trial on the pavement, and heard the roar of the storm over Calvary. It has seen the dawn of the morning of the resurrection, and the night of the vengeance of Caesar. It has risen from its ashes, under the hand of another Caesar, a Roman city, by name Aelia Capitolina. It has seen Jupiter and Apollo go the way of Babel and the graven images, and the Christian pilgrims flocking to the Damascus gate, when Constantine ruled on the Bosporus. It has seen the builders of Chosroes, and then the long night of Islam, broken only by the flashes of the crusaders.

It was in 1244 that the last vestiges of Christianity disappeared in the Khazarian massacres. And then in 1517 came the Sultan Selim I, and Jerusalem became a Turkish city. That was just four hundred years ago, and the desert which Selim then crossed with his army, on his way to the conquest of Egypt, is the desert which the troops of his successor were destined to cross when they moved out of Jerusalem in the attempt to tag Egypt, this time not from the grasp of the Mamelukes but the British. In 1517 Selim and his Turks were successful, but in 1917 the troops of the Sultan came tumbling back in defeat, with the British marching remorselessly at their heels. It was at Gaza, in 1917, that Selim gained his initial victory, over the Mamelukes, which opened Egypt to him. It was at Gaza, in 1917, that General Allenby inflicted on the Turks the decisive defeat that placed Jerusalem within his grasp. The Turks had boasted that the Gaza lines were impregnable. There were miles of dugouts, with chambers far underground, just as on the Somme and the ridge at Passchendaele. But General Allenby's men seized these new gates of Gaza, just as Samson walked away with the gates of the old Gaza on his shoulders. And so, for the first time for six hundred and seventy-three years, the Crescent has been hauled down from the walls of Jerusalem, and the blended crosses of St. George, St. Andrew, and St. Patrick, which men call the Union Jack, hoisted in its place.

What then does it all mean? The capture of Jerusalem, the Holy City of the Christians, the Turks regard it, following immediately upon the capture of Islam's Holy City of Baghdad and the revolt of the Arabs in the Holy Places of Mecca and Medina, will deal a tremendous and shattering blow to the prestige of the Turk in Asia. When, in the early days of the war, Enver Bey succeeded in forcing Turkey into the conflict, it was by the talismanic promise of a jihad for the restoration of the Empire of Islam. The green flag was unfurled, the green turban assumed, and the blessing of the Sheikh-ul-Islam pronounced. But Islam, in spite of all, was cold. The Mohammedans of India refused to take to the British raj, the Afghans in Kabul remained true to the British alliance, the tribesmen of Egypt were staunch in support of the British protectorate. Under the green flag, however, it was very different. First Mecca and Medina, then Baghdad, and now Jerusalem have been lost to the troops of the Khalif. In such circumstances men are beginning to wonder, can Enver hold his own? Djemal and Talaat are known to be wavering. The march of the soldiers of the ninth crusade into the streets which the knights of the first crusade fought their way through, means more, much more than the capture of a small Syrian town.

Our Army Great Leveler.

(Indianapolis Star.)
An army officer who has been visiting in Baltimore tells of a private soldier, a New Yorker, in a regiment at a southern camp, who is earning millions, yet who has no disposition to serve in any other capacity than as private. This officer was regarded as very remarkable, and the case was considered by a Baltimore paper of sufficient importance to "play up" under conspicuous headlines.

The New Yorker in question performs all the duties and tasks incident to the life of a private, and it was not until he asked the privilege of giving a limousine and the services of a chauffeur to the commanding general at that his possession of wealth was discovered. When he first breached the subject to his commanding officer, where he stole the machine. Later it was learned that the car and the chauffeur were in a neighboring town and that the private owned the car. Also, it was learned, not through him, that he had given his yacht to the government and was very wealthy. It is considered by the officer who tells the story very remarkable that the private in question does not seek a commission.

Why the case should make such an impression is not clear. How many men of great wealth have enlisted as private soldiers there is no means of knowing; not many, probably, for men of army age are too young to have acquired riches by their own efforts. But in the ranks are young men of education and talent, men who have been in business and professional life long enough to have proved their ability and to have laid the foundation for promising careers. Such men, in giving up their callings and entering the army, whether as privates or officers, have made greater sacrifices than if they were leaving behind the luxuries made possible by a big bank account. The bank account will be there when they return; the business and professional life of the others will have to be started anew under less promising conditions.

Our army is made up of all kinds of and conditions of men—workmen, students, lawyers, teachers, artists, business men, farmers. Such men are in the ranks as well as among the officers. It is a democratic army and has no place for the distinctions of class or of wealth. If a rich man chooses to be a private, feeling, perhaps, that he is not fitted to command, that is his own affair. He deserves no special praise or consideration and presumably wants none.

DELIVERANCE OF JERUSALEM

(Baltimore American.)

Fate, destiny, providence, has flung back the dark curtain of Mohammedanism that has shrouded Jerusalem for a number of centuries, and the hosts of Christendom are now looking to the restoration of the sacred city, their wailing place, while they cried out to the Lord of Sabaot. How long how long! Mighty pulsations of Providence through the arteries of contemporary events are causing the world to do signal service to the spirit of reverence with which Jew and Gentile alike regard the Holy Land, so long the spoil of the infidel and Turk.

Uncle Harry Explains Why President Wilson Speaks For The Allies

"What do people mean when they say that President Wilson is the 'spokesman for the allies'?" Haven't the allies any men who can speak for them like President Wilson?" asked Jimmy.

"How about Lloyd George, the Premier of England?" added Helen. "I used to think he spoke for the allies."

"Of course the allies have men who can speak for them, but the position of President Wilson is different from that of any of the rulers or of any of the premiers of the allies," said Uncle Harry.

"Won't you explain it to us?" asked Helen. "Almost every day I read something, too, about President Wilson being the spokesman for the allies and when he delivered his message to congress the other day everybody said that he wasn't just speaking to our own congress, but to the whole world and on behalf of all the allied nations."

"And so he was—speaking for, and to, all our allies," said Uncle Harry. "and the reason is this: The world has come to look upon the United States as the leader of the allies, and, what is more important, the leader in the fight—not against the German people, but against the German imperial government and the militarism that that government upholds. You see, folks, our country did not enter this war until it had been raging for more than two and a half years. But last February when Germany renewed its unrestricted submarine warfare, thereby breaking its pledge to the United States, President Wilson declared that the time had come when the German government, as it is constituted today, could no longer be trusted—that it was a menace to the entire world.

"But wasn't that what the allies had been saying all along?" asked Helen.

"America Changes the War." "Yes; but the situation became entirely different when our country declared war," explained Uncle Harry. "Up to the revolution last March, Russia, you will remember, was the worst kind of an autocracy and maintained an army even bigger than Germany's. The Russians feared the Germans and the Germans feared the Russians, and war between those two countries was regarded as practically no different from many other wars that have been fought in the past. As to France, everyone knew that the French people had been angry and bitter toward Germany ever since the Franco-Prussian war, when Germany defeated France and took the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine."

"How about England?" asked Joe.

"There had been fear of Germany in England for years before the war, and the two countries were the bitterest kind of rivals in business and manufacturing."

"But our country has always been friendly with Germany in every way, hasn't she?" asked Helen.

"That's the very point," answered Uncle Harry. "Separated from Germany by the three thousand miles of ocean and free from the neighborhood quarrels and jealousies, so to speak, which have been common among the European countries for centuries, we remained when the war broke out, the only nation in the world that was friendly to Germany."

turn to the great conflict. That fact and the further one that the United States was the world's greatest democracy, and in certain ways the biggest and richest of all the nations, made our part in the war unusually important. Then President Wilson made his famous speech in which he declared that 'the world must be made safe for democracy,' and then a great many of the other countries that had been neutral either declared war on Germany or severed relations with her. Next, the liberal, or more democratic leaders in Russia, England, France and Italy announced that President Wilson had voiced their feelings as much as America's, and then, just naturally, Mr. Wilson, as the spokesman of the American people, came to be looked upon as the spokesman of all the allies."

"Was that why his message to congress was sent to all the allied and neutral countries?" asked Joe.

"The 'Message' to Germany." "That was one of the two reasons," said Uncle Harry. "And the other was this: President Wilson wanted the position of the United States in this war to be read by all peoples, and especially by the German people, if that were possible; and he knew that the wider the publication it was given in all parts of the world, the more likelihood there was of copies reaching the interior of Germany and being read by a greater number of German people."

"President Wilson has a lot of faith in the German people, hasn't he?" said Helen.

"All great men have faith in the common people," said Uncle Harry. "President Wilson believes that once the German people are awakened to the real truth about their government the war will be practically over—and over for good. Because he believes that German people will establish their own government, which would, of course, be some kind of a democracy. And that is what President Wilson says is necessary before peace can be made, because the German imperial government, has shown that it cannot be trusted. So you see the president's message had three purposes—it was for ourselves and our allies, the people of the neutral countries, and last, but by no means least, the German people."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the person writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

Not Quite Down and Out. Many a man feels that he is down and out when as a matter of fact he still has in him many years of good service that can be brought out by proper treatment. Stomach trouble often makes one despondent. It hits him where he lives, saps his strength and energy and makes him feel like giving up. Give him a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to improve his digestion and invigorate his liver and bowels, and in most cases recovery is prompt and effectual.—Advertisement.

WORLD POWER WOULD IN END DESTROY GERMANY

Member of Reichstag Points Out Weakness of Economic Position.

Amsterdam, Dec. 17.—German victory in the war would mean that the Germans "as the dominant race, would have to keep in subjection by force of arms the crushed and disposed peoples," asserts George Gothein, a leading liberal member of the German reichstag, in an editorial in the official organ of the influential German association for commercial treaties.

"Should we actually succeed in gaining a decisive victory, which only a few persons believe possible," he writes, "we should have to bear a weight of armaments for the purpose which would make it impossible for our national strength, so terribly weakened in any cause by bloody losses, again to regain its economic power. And yet without this permanent political strength is impossible. One day the world would rise against the German way, would burst its fetters, would destroy our power which would be lacking in economic support. For if we have been able to hold out this time, we have above all to thank our economic efficiency."

"There remains only one solution, peace by understanding. A peace which is permanent must remove from the world the rivalry of power."

"An economic war after the war would be unbearable for Germany."

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

It's a commendable trait that when something has been of benefit to us we want to share it with others who stand in need of the same help. It's the touch of Nature that makes the whole world kin—the wanting to be helpful to our fellow-men. That's why people who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers about it, and as to have them published so that other will know what to do under the same circumstance. Behind every one of these letters is the warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to some one else.—Advertisement.

How to Soften Rigors of Your Meatless Day
BY BIDDY BYE.

We have enjoyed a weekly meatless day for several months now and finding ourselves able to endure the privation and still strong enough to do our daily work the early rumblings of protest from reluctant families have died away, like stage thunder, into low and intermittent mutterings.

What was once a day whose meal times were hours of stoic endurance has now become a season of pleasant anticipation to see what new dish mother will hatch up next as substitute for roast beef, medium.

One firm head of celery, cut in two-inch sticks, washed and put to cook in 1 quart of milk, with 1 dozen whole peppercorns tied in a bit of muslin and cooked with milk and celery. Melt 1 tablespoonful of butter and add to milk. Two small onions fried light brown in butter are then added. Let all mixture boil and then simmer for an hour or until celery is tender. Rub through colander and return to saucepan, thickening with a teaspoonful of cornstarch and seasoning with salt and pepper. Serve with croutons of fried bread.

Rice Croquettes.
Boil 1-2 cupful of rice until very soft, cool, then beat in 2 eggs, 2 teaspoonfuls sugar, and 1 teaspoonful salt. Mold in balls and dust with flour. Roll croquettes in egg and fry in oleomargarine or half lard and half oleomargarine. Serve with sweet sauce made of 1-2 cupful corn syrup, pinch of salt, 1 cupful water and vanilla to flavor.

Vegetable Chicken.
Four cupfuls boiled Lima beans, 4 tablespoonfuls butter (melted), 2 hard boiled eggs. Rub the boiled Lima beans through a sieve and mix in the melted butter, salt and pepper. Place half the mixture on a floured board and mold into oblong shape. Spread the mold with a mixture of 1 cupful breadcrumbs toasted, 3 teaspoonfuls chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoonful lemon-thyme, 1-2 teaspoonful grated lemon rind, salt, cayenne pepper, yolk of 1 egg, 1 tablespoonful milk. Cut the 2 hard boiled eggs in strips and place across mold, cover with the rest of the dressing, spread remainder of the bean mixture over the top and shape mold like a fowl. Brush over whole mold with a beaten egg. Melt 3-4 cupful butter in deep pan and heat very hot, put in the vegetable chicken and bake for an hour basting frequently, and serve with a gravy made of the melted butter and browned flour. Garnish with parsley and serve very hot.

Stuffed Onions.
Four large Spanish onions, 1-2 cupfuls boiled Lima beans, 1 cupful mushrooms, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, pepper, salt. Skin onions and boil slowly until tender, remove the centers and chop well, adding the mushrooms which have been peeled, cooked in the butter and cut fine. Rub beans through sieve and add to onion mushroom mixture and seasoning and stuff the onion cups with filling. Set on buttered tins or paper, dot with butter, then bake until slightly brown.

ELEVENTH HOUR CHRISTMAS GIFTS FROM RIBBON BOX AND SCRAP BAG

It wouldn't be a proper Christmas if there was not a grand rush at the last moment—not a shopping rush—oh, dear no!—we all did our Christmas shopping early, but a jolly little flurry to make the last small gifts for that friend we had almost forgotten to provide for or the acquaintance to whom we decided to send a bit of Christmas cheer just for friendliness' sake.

Here are a group of bright and dainty bits that a clever woman might fashion in a few hours from materials to be found in any well conducted head and button boxes and the treasure chest devoted to scraps of silk, ribbon and velvet, and bits of flowers from discarded hats and gowns.

This long, dingle-dangle object with the two Japanese dolls is a fancy cord for living-room window shade, or a pull-cord for the electric floor lamp. The cord is made of any silk braid and the fancy tassels may be made from bright colored embroidery silk.

The hat-pin holder is made of raffia and the small Japanese person who guards it is done in pink silk pajamas of bewitching fluffiness.

This bluebird of happiness is a gay pin cushion concocted of blue satin with a rose pink breast and he sits on a sure-enough twig, varnished and hung on silk cords with an artificial rosebud and leaf to help him add a springy touch to a girl's dressing table.

UNITED STATES OF THE WORLD A VISION OF WAR

(Special Staff Correspondence)
Washington, Dec. 17.—The appeal of Finland for recognition of her independence under a constitutional government, together with the determination of Poland, Ukraine, Siberia, Crimea, and Caucasus to secede from Russia, may indicate an ultimate reorganization of the great Russian empire into the United States of Russia.

In other words, the old state that was built from a czar down may be torn to pieces and rebuilt from the people up.

The lesson of the United States of America is before the eyes of the world. If we were organized as Europe is organized, with numerous independent kingdoms instead of 48 unionized states co-operating under one federal government, we might have as perfect and war-like hell right here in America as they have over there.

On the other hand if the warring states of Europe were organized as the United States of Europe, with government "of the people, by the people and for the people," there might be the same peace permanently over there as there is here.

If Austria-Hungary were the United States of Something-or-other, with the Germans, Magyars, Czechoslovaks, South Slavs, Poles, Little Russians, Rumanians and Italians separately organized, and then subsequently organized as United States, the different peoples could get along together much better than under the present form of government with an emperor trying to hold them together with a club.

If the warring Balkan governments were organized as the United States of the Balkans, and dumped all their autocratic rulers overboard, their chance of getting along together without standing armies would be infinitely better than it is now.

And finally there would be possible the league of nations, the United States of the World, with one international navy to patrol the seas and keep them free for all, and one international police force to preserve the international peace.

But the first essential, the absolute fundamental, is that all governments be governments of the people.

There is no fundamental difference between the working class of one country and the working class of any other country. Labor leaders in all countries—that is, leaders with imagination and vision—have sensed this fact and they have aimed at international unionism.

Capitalism has sensed the universe as one, instead of many. Probably oil, as represented by Standard Oil, comes the nearest to international organization; although it hasn't gone the full route. Steel was headed in the same direction. Likewise beef.

We have delayed the game by fighting organization and co-operation, and insisting on competition and war. International Socialists had the vision but the moment the world was plunged into war, they became national. When the Prussian kaiser started this war on democracy—that's what it is—the German Socialists lost their vision of internationalism and became Prussian soldiers ready to be brutalized and murdered by their comrades of other nationalities.

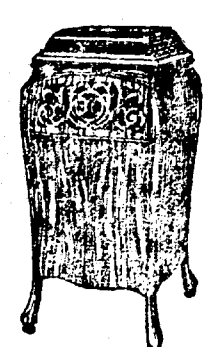

Democracy was coming along too fast to suit the kings and kaisers. Something had to be done to save autocracy—and the kaiser did it. And right now there are no more dangerous enemies of genuine democracy than the Leninists and Trotskyes, who think they are internationalists.

A Love Idealist Who Is No Hero at Home

As a novelist, Harold Bell Wright creates the perfect hero and knows how to make his heroes for a lasting happiness. But as a husband he seems to have been less successful. The author of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" is today writing "The Losing of Mrs. Wright" into the divorce records at Los Angeles, Cal.—a bitter sequel to his own romance. He charges his wife with mental cruelty, following an estrangement of some months, duration, proving that it's much easier to consummate the perfect marriage in fiction than in real life. The Wrights were married 18 years ago and have three children.

BRADEN MURDER TRIAL BEGINS IN ANDERSON

Charged With Killing of His Borther-in-Law During Quarrel.

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 17.—The trial of Marion Braden, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Frank Hodson, on August 4, began in the circuit court today. Nearly 100 witnesses have been summoned and the trial is expected to last all week.

Braden, who is 27 years old, was indicted for murder in the first degree.

Following a controversy between the two men who lived in adjacent houses Braden shot Hodson, who died within a few minutes after the bullet had struck a vital spot. Hodson died without making any statement of the case, while Braden claims to have fired the shot after his brother-in-law made an alleged threatening move with his hand toward the hip pocket as if to draw a weapon. Search of the dead man's clothing disclosed the fact that he was unarmed.

The trouble which led up to the killing was a family affair. Hodson married a sister of Braden. Differences arose between the husband and wife which ran their course through the divorce court of this county over a period of nearly three years. In the trouble between Hodson and his wife Braden espoused the cause of his sister and that is what caused enmity between the two men.

This will be clothing week at Wayne and Harrison. $2.50 will be deducted from the price of any man's or young man's Suit or Overcoat.

DETECTS METAL IN WOUNDS.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Detection of metal in wounds by means of a new telephonic device is described in dispatches to the department of commerce. The instrument is moved over the body of the patient and emits a humming noise when over a shrapnel ball or shell splinter and is further used on guiding a probe toward the hidden metal. Whether the metal is magnetic and can be withdrawn by an electric magnet without the use of an incision can also be told by the instrument.

DETAIL MAP OF AMERICAN FRONT IN FRANCE!

This is the territory in France where there are American soldiers on the battle line. The line of combat is shown in the heavy dotted line; note that it is very close to the boundary of German Lorraine. The government has not announced exactly what section of this line the American troops are holding. The entire line shown here, however, is only 72 miles long, and the skirmishes between Saxons and Germans were in the neighborhood of the Rhine-Marne canal, which crosses the battle line northeast of Lunéville, almost in the center of the map.

Observe that a few exceedingly small pieces of German territory north and east of Nancy are now in possession of the allies—presumably the French.

Railroads are indicated on this map by crossed lines, good wagon roads by dashed lines, and canals by lines with circles on them.

This map covers a territory of 20 miles across, from Dec. 17, 1917, to Dec. 17, 1917, and is published in France.

NEW HAVEN ENTHUSED OVER COMING MEETING

Prominent Red Cross Speakers Will Augment Occasion Tuesday.

Arrangements have been made for the Red Cross meeting which is to take place in New Haven Tuesday evening. The most prominent speakers of this section of the country will be on hand to enliven the occasion. There is a great deal of enthusiasm being displayed over this event.

There was a whole car load of Red Cross supplies sent forward Saturday night. The car consisted of 152 cases and a conservative value on this material would be $45,000. This was in all probability the largest single shipment that was ever sent from the Lake district. It speaks high praise for all those who were instrumental in making such a large shipment possible. Mrs. A. E. Fauve, in speaking of this accomplishment showed marked pleasure over the good showing that this department has made.

There was a rush order of 2,500 sweaters sent out by express to camp Taylor, Louisville, Sunday morning. This is in preparation of the arrival of drafted men. Every one of these sweaters were made by northern Indiana women.

An example of patriotism which would be well for younger persons to pattern after is the effort Mrs. Jenny, an inmate of the St. Joseph hospital. She is 84 years of age, and Monday morning she sent word to the local chapter to send her yarn, she wanted to knit, and that she felt sure that she could do more of this kind of work than many younger people.

Little Ann Barrett, a young miss four years of age, donated a dollar to the cause Monday, she also took out her membership. With a precision that is complete from one end of the country to the other the big drive for Red Cross memberships will begin Tuesday. Mr. E. C. Miller, who has charge of the drive in this locality, and after a conference with all the different chairmen, stated that hundreds of workers were on their tiptoes ready to begin. There is a surity that northern Indiana will do her part towards enlisting the 15,000,000 people in the Red Cross movement in the United States.

SHAKE-DOWN FOR THE WAR

Rearrangement of the High Commands in Department Has Been Made.

GOETHALS TO BE QUARTERMASTER

Canal Builder Offered Post of Chief of the Army Supply Work.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Rearrangement of some of the high commands in the war department was indicated today by the detachment of officers designated by Secretary Baker to sit in the department's war council.

It became definitely known today that Major Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal has been offered the place of quartermaster general to succeed Maj. Gen. Sharpe.

Provost Marshal General Crowder is the only officer assigned to the war council who will not be detached from his present office.

The three remaining officers are Major General Weaver, chief of coast artillery; Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance, who has been under fire in the senate investigation, and Major General Bliss, chief of staff, who has just returned from abroad where he participated in the war council at Paris with Colonel House and the other American delegates.

What officers will act for them at the heads of the bureaus is not yet known and probably has not been decided.

MARKED RISE IN THE TEMPERATURE COMING

Washington, Dec. 17.—A marked rise in temperature was forecast today by the weather bureau for the Ohio valley the lower lake region and Atlantic coast districts by Tuesday. Moderate temperatures now prevailing in the upper lake region and the upper Mississippi valley will continue until about Wednesday and be followed by several days of somewhat colder weather.

CROZIER STILL UNDER QUIZ OF THE SENATE

Tells Committee That U. S. Has Done Better Than Britain Did.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Gen. Crozier, chief of ordnance, declared when the war inquiry by the senate committee was resumed today that there was "entirely too much red tape" getting money. While an emergency appropriation request for a lump appropriation of $2,932,537,000 made by the war department April 5, a day before war was declared, it was June before congress made appropriations under the estimates.

"But you had millions of dollars left of appropriations made a year before," interrupted Chairman Chamberlain. "I have not been entirely satisfied with any explanation made of this matter. For instance you had money appropriated for machine guns and you haven't the guns yet. We appropriated for small arms and you spent the money for pistols instead of rifles."

"We were far shorter of pistols than rifles," Gen. Crozier answered, "and we are not going to be clowned up in this war in the slightest degree on account of rifles."

"We have placed orders of more than $1,500,000,000 since the war began," Gen. Crozier explained, citing the magnitude of operations.

"That is more than fifty per cent. over the entire government's expenses for any year since the Spanish war."

Senator Wadsworth asked whether the government should have an office or department similar to England's minister of munitions.

"My own belief is that the better way is to enlarge and strengthen existing organizations rather than create new ones," Gen. Crozier replied.

"Quicker results have been obtained here than by the British organization," Gen. Crozier disclosed that steps have been taken to equip American forces with tanks, similar to the new British machines but smilingly refused to go into details.

"Have we taken steps for equipping them with bombs, hand grenades and other new fangled things?" asked Senator Chamberlain.

The ordnance chief answered affirmatively.

"Will there be sufficient as compared with those furnished the British and French troops?" asked Senator Weeks.

"Yes and I don't anticipate any shortage, although a good deal of the United States supply will come from outside where they have been already under manufacture," said Gen. Crozier.

British Phrenologists Want Heads of Candidates Examined.

London, Dec. 17.—A proposal that all candidates for parliament should submit to examination by a phrenologist and "have their bumps told," is one of the features of the annual report of the British phrenological society, which has just completed its annual meeting here.

"The state's need of phrenology is evident in nearly every department of government administration," said one of the speakers at the convention.

"Particularly in the election of members of parliament, it seems to us that the best-fitted candidate, according to the formation of his head and the volume and quality of his brains, is not always elected. A phrenological examination of all candidates would save an immense amount of unnecessary misunderstanding, blundering and expense."

The system which we propose was tried on some candidates for the Brighton town council recently with satisfactory results. Phrenology should be utilized in this way in every town and city.

"We have heard a good deal lately in political circles about 'brain efficiency,' but it has been said, because the authorities have no scientific formula by which they can calculate a candidate's brain capacity or his intellectual grip and ability, nor will they ever have found it they call us phrenologists to their assistance."

"Cabinet ministers ought to be all selected according to the formation of their heads and not merely upon personal influence, credentials or reputation."

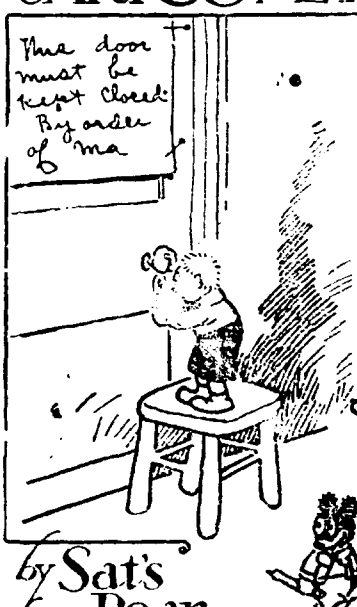

"Phrenology ought to be taught in the schools instead of German."

WHERE THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR IS FINE

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Thieves and robbers have profited to the extent of more than $2,000,000 by their operations in Chicago since the first of last January, according to police figures made public today. This is said to be the largest harvest gathered here in a year by criminals. There have been 14,000 burglaries of all description, twenty pay-roll robberies and ten bank robberies.

IVAL CITIES CHALLENGED

RED CROSS DRIVE ASSURED SUCCESS

Country Districts Are to be Covered by Committee in Bob Sleds.

"Fort Wayne, Indiana's second city, challenges Evansville to be the first to reach its quota of membership in the Red Cross Christmas campaign. We will telegraph you each evening our standing, and will expect the same from you. The quota from the city of Fort Wayne is sixteen thousand."
(Signed) HARRY MULLER, Chairman.

The above message was sent to both Evansville and South Bend, Monday morning. An answer has been received from South Bend accepting the challenge, and containing a promise of defeat for Fort Wayne. Evansville has not yet heard from but it will undoubtedly accept the challenge. There has always been a keen rivalry between Evansville and Fort Wayne in matters pertaining to civic affairs and the race will therefore be of the keenest. South Bend is no mean rival by any means and Fort Wayne residents will have to respond immediately to bring victory to their city. The outcome of the race day by day will be published as they are telegraphed in.

To be Used Nation Wide.
The plan started by the Indiana Red Cross organization in regard to street cars will be used by the national organization. Placards bearing the words "The conductor and motorman of this car are Red Cross members. Are you?" will soon be placed on every car in the city. Practically all of the carmen have signified their intention of joining the organization.

Designate New Members.
In order to designate 1918 subscribers from those of last year, the organization has issued a tag bearing the words "A 1918 subscriber." One of these tags will be worn by every subscriber of the Red Cross. The usual Red Cross button designates that a person is a member of the organization, but it does not indicate whether he has joined this year or last.

Ready for County Drive.
All is in readiness for the county drive. The motor reserve has signified its willingness to help and will carry supplies to various sub-stations where they will be more accessible to the various county committees. The county drive will be almost in the form of a bob party as most of the committees will be taken through their districts in bob sleds. Patriotic farmers have enrolled to carry the committees in their element. Chairman McGilgitt states that the county organization is the best ever attempted in any drive held up to this time and he feels positive that the results will bear witness to this exceptionally fine cooperation.

Federal Protection.
In order to protect the people of the United States from impostors, the government has passed the following federal law.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled: "Section 4. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person within the jurisdiction of the United States to falsely or fraudulently hold himself out as a member of or an agent for the American National Red Cross for the purpose of soliciting, collecting money or material, or for any person to wear or display the sign of the Red Cross or any insignia colored in imitation thereof for the fraudulent purpose of inducing the belief that he is a member of or an agent for the American National Red Cross. If any person violates the provisions of this section he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any federal court shall be liable to a fine of not less than one nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, for each and every offense."

Downtown Work.
Teams from the One Hundred Per Cent club and the Kiwanis club were busy all day in the downtown stores, which have been assigned to them. They were not to be outdone by the business girls, as everyone of the latter organization was busy before one-half of the occupants of the various office buildings to which they were assigned had arrived for the day's work. Miss Loretta Hayes, in charge of the Utility building, was going 100 per cent strong in practically every office.

Where Red Cross Money Goes.
There are 3,000,000 members of the American Red Cross. They each gave a dollar for membership.

In addition to that the people of the United States gave a cool $100,000.00. What has become of that money? H. P. Davison, head of the Red Cross work, says that only $150,000.00 of that great sum goes to paying for the expense of administering the Red Cross work.

The other 101,500,000 "goes to the spot."

"Nifty work, I should say, and few corporations in the world have so much a net surplus to distribute in a year."

Well, what does the Red Cross do with its money?

It has given $1,000,000 for sick and wounded French soldiers.

Establish twenty dispensaries in the American army zone.

Distributes supplies to 3,423 French military hospitals.

Gives surgical supplies to 2,000 French hospitals.

Operates ten army canteens at the front.

Accommodates 30,000 French soldiers daily at six other railway canteens.

Creating an artificial arm and leg factory.

Building a movable hospital with 1,000 beds.

Established camps for thousands of French refugee children.

Caring for 500 French children daily who are sent back to France by the German army.

Built a hospital for such repatriates who are coming in 1,000 a day.

Arranging for another 1,000 hospital beds at Paris for victims of tuberculosis.

Getting 200 tons of supplies at Paris daily and reshipping 125 tons daily to different parts of France.

Uses 400 motor vehicles.

To create a line of autos through Switzerland to carry French and German exchanged prisoners.

Recently, in one day, all unknown to our people generally, 3,000 American soldiers "passing through" were fed here at Philadelphia by the Red Cross.

So when you are now asked to help along this new Y. M. C. A. fund, don't dodge behind the query:

"I wonder what the Red Cross is doing with the money I gave it?"

EXEMPTION MILL IN THIS STATE

That is Charge Embraced in Indictments by U. S. Grand Jury.

NEW YORK DRAFT MEN CAME WEST

Draft Appellant and Lawyer Face Trial in Federal Tribunal.

Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—Back of the arrest of a Joseph Schur, national army draft appellant for a local division, and Maurice L. Smitkin, a lawyer, charged in a federal grand jury indictment with conspiracy to obstruct the draft laws, is said by federal authorities to have been a scheme to obtain for a money consideration exemptions for persons coming from New York to Indianapolis for the purpose of being exempted here.

The names of New York men are not mentioned in the indictment, being included under "divers persons unknown to the jury," but federal officers said today that evidence they hold indicates two men came here from New York. Schur and Smitkin were placed under arrest Saturday night, but the charges against them did not become public until today. Three local men are mentioned in the indictment with them, but they have not been placed under arrest, it is said, because they are willing government witnesses.

Schur and Smitkin were arrested several weeks ago, but the charges against Schur were dismissed before a United States commissioner. Smitkin waived examination and gave bond. The indictment was returned Saturday.

LOOKING UP LAW.

Not Likely Present Prosecutor Will Attempt to Oust Grabner.

Although Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Enrick is looking into the law as to the probable action that could be taken, it is not likely that he will make any attempt to oust Enry J. Grabner from his office as justice of the peace. He will leave that job to the incoming prosecuting attorney. Grabner was indicted last Saturday by the federal grand jury charged with aiding Michael J. Gumlock to evade service under the conscription act. An effort may be made to oust him by Prosecutor-elect Todd.

APPEAL MADE TO MINE MEN

Garfield Asks Operators and Miners to Forego the Holidays.

EACH IDLE DAY IS 2,000,000 TONS LESS

Authority Given to Close Industries to Relieve Domestic Stress.

Washington, Dec. 17.—To keep coal moving at a maximum, Fuel Administrator Garfield is preparing to appeal to operators and miners to forego the usual Christmas and New Year's holiday. Every idle day in the mines costs the country nearly 2,000,000 tons of fuel.

Authority to shut down industries, if necessary to supply householders with coal, was granted by the fuel administration today to W. K. Prudden, federal fuel administrator for Michigan. Many Michigan cities are said to be almost entirely without supplies for domestic use.

The situation in the midwest, where cold weather and lack of fuel has brought much suffering, was gone over at a conference today by Dr. Garfield and W. C. Baird, in charge of the fuel administration of rail transportation and coal distribution. Mr. Baird reported conditions improving somewhat, although there is a great congestion of coal cars at some terminals.

SPRECKLES IS SPECIFIC

Says Western Sugar Administrator Made Millions Out of Order.

SUGAR KING HEARD FURTHER IN PROBE

Herbert C. Hoover Asks the Committee to Hear Him But is Not Heard.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Food Administrator Hoover personally appeared today at the senate committee investigation of the sugar shortage and asked to make a statement of his version of conditions. The committee, after considering the request in executive session, went on with the questioning of President Spreckels of the Federal Sugar Refining company, one of the administrator's chief critics, without announcing any decision on Mr. Hoover's request. The food administrator then left the committee room.

Spreckels declared that if this year's western sugar crop had been allowed to come east there would have been "an abundance of sugar." As the refined price for beets, he said, had been set by the food administration at 7.25 at all ports, the western refiners sold in the west to escape freight charges to eastern ports.

Spreckels reiterated that at the time his refinery was about to close for lack of supplies, 110,000 tons of raw cane sugar was held by the California-Hawaiian company the Western Refining company and that George M. Rolph, president of the former and director of the sugar division of the food administration, declined to allow any of it to come east.

Spreckels testified that the price for the Cuban crop now coming on would have been less than it has had it not been regulated and that the regulation would result in additional revenue of $8,000,000 to the California-Hawaiian Refining company of which Rolph is president. There would have been plenty of sugar in the east this fall, Spreckels maintained, if stocks held by Rolph's company and the Western Refining company had been allowed to be shipped. H. Curtis Lindley, counsel for the administration, suggested the committee ask if lack of railroad facilities were not the cause of the non-shipment.

Before the question could be put, Senator Reed announced a recess.

DEALERS MUST NOT BOOST BREAD PRICES

County Food Administrator G. M. Haffner and his force of deputies held a meeting at the commercial club on Monday noon to discuss various phases of food regulation which were brought out by the Indianapolis meeting recently. Plans were also discussed for a meeting in the near future of all local manufacturers and dealers in food-stuffs.

There has been considerable complaint from several parts of the city that grocers are charging too much for bread. All cases will be investigated and prosecutions will follow. All customers are urged to be patient.

SEE COMPLETE PEACE IN EAST

People in Petrograd Sure War With Germany is at an End.

GERMANY HAS HAD MATTERS OWN WAY

Belief is That Gen. Skalone, Russ Negotiator, Was Murdered.

London, Dec. 17.—The predominant fact as regards the Russian situation at the moment is the signing of an armistice which is announced officially at the capitals of all the countries concerned. According to special dispatches from Petrograd, every one there believes that a permanent peace between Russia and the central powers will result.

Correspondents in general treat as negligible the undertaking of Germany and her allies not to withdraw troops from the eastern front.

A Petrograd dispatch to the Times says large masses of Germans already have been removed, and that probably the German command has transferred all it purposes to employ elsewhere, so that its plans are not likely to be deranged seriously.

The reported suicide during the armistice negotiations at Litovsk of the Russian general, Skalone, apparently has made a considerable stir in Petrograd, although the Russian national commissaries are silent in regard to it.

A Petrograd dispatch to the Post says General Skalone was responsible for the armistice conditions, including the evacuation of Moon Sound, which so offended the Germans at the first meeting of the negotiations and rendered nugatory the efforts of the first mission.

General Skalone returned most unwillingly for the second meeting, under imperative orders of his superiors. The correspondent seeks to show there is nothing to prove that he committed suicide, which is most improbable, and insinuates that he was murdered.

There is no confirmation of last week's official Bolshevik announcement regarding the arrest of General Kaledine.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN VARNEY MURDER TRIAL

Woman Charged With Killing Paramour's Wife to Know Fate Soon.

Dedham, Mass., Dec. 17.—Closing arguments occupied the day in the trial of Miss Harriett A. Varney, charged with the murder of Mrs. Pauline C. Keyes in Brookline last June. Attorney David O'Connell, for the defense, opened the arguments, and District Attorney Frederick J. Katzmann was expected to close in time to permit the giving of the case to the jury before adjournment. Attorney O'Connell in his address severely arraigned one whom he did not name but upon whom he placed the responsibility for Miss Varney's downfall, declaring that until she met this man the defendant was beyond reproach.

"Today she stands here alone," he said, "without the support of father or mother, with only her faithful sister at her side to aid and comfort her."

"The nearest the state has placed her was at the Huntington avenue station," the lawyer said. "After the murder or suicide she met Keyes and went to lunch with him. She ate and he did not. Who was nervous?"

CONGRESS WOULD SACRIFICE.

Washington, Dec. 17.—A bill to reduce salaries of senators and congressmen from $7,500 to $5,000 during the war was introduced today by Senator Kenyon of Iowa and referred to the appropriation committee.

NO JAPS IN VLADIVOSTOK.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Further news that Japanese soldiers have been landed at Vladivostok was contained in dispatches to the state department from Tokyo. A telegram received at the Russian embassy from the Russian ambassador at Tokyo also said no Japanese troops had been landed at Vladivostok.

JURY SAYS GASTON B. MEANS IS NOT GUILTY

Man Tried for Murder of Rich Chicago Widow Is Set Free.

Concord, N. C., Dec. 17.—Gaston B. Means was acquitted yesterday morning. He was charged with the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, widow of the wealthy James C. King, of Chicago. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" at 10:05 o'clock. Five minutes later Means walked out of the court room a free man, to carry the news to his aged mother.

Judge E. B. Cline was breakfasting when Sheriff Caldwell brought him news that the jurors had reached a verdict. Telling of the court house bell announced to the township that a decision had been reached, but only a few spectators were on hand half an hour later when the judge took his seat on the bench.

The defendant was there. Beside him sat his wife, William B. Means, Gaston's father, was the only other member of the family in court. Gaston had entered with a confident smile. As the jurors entered he greeted them with the usual smile.

The few formalities were quickly over. Then Clerk Stonestreet asked: "Gentlemen of the jury, do you find this defendant guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty."

The verdict came from the lips of Judge Frank Cline, who had been elected foreman. Spectators started forward from every part of the court room to offer congratulations.

The jury took three ballots. On the first nine men voted for acquittal and three refused to vote. On the second eleven voted for acquittal, with one not voting. The third was the acquittal.

The verdict was what every one in Concord expected from the time it was announced that this town had been selected for the trial. Solicitor Clement, prosecuting official, expected it and accepted it with good grace.

WARMER DAYS ARE HEADED THIS WAY

Mercury Remained Above the Zero Mark Throughout Entire Night.

Although warmer days are coming soon, according to the weather observer, it is too early yet to put on lighter ones. The mercury remained above the zero mark all night, the lowest being three above, with four above the temperature at 8 o'clock this morning. Those who have pictured Canada as a frozen stretch of bleak country after November 1 should have been there yesterday, when it registered twenty four above at Winnipeg and correspondingly high throughout all the country north of Fort Wayne. In Grand Rapids it was fourteen above when it was almost zero here. It is much colder to the east and warmer to the north and west which means that Fort Wayne soon will be enjoying relief from the cold snap which has continued for more than a week. A heavy frost last night covering trees, but so far as has been observed, no snow has yet fallen.

us to conclude that the initiative in the west has passed from the allies to the enemy," says Secretary Baker in his weekly review of military operations made public today and devoted largely to the German advertising of an impending offensive. "During the period of the review (week ending Saturday) the general military situation in the west has remained unchanged," the review said.

"Rumors of great preparations on part of the Germans with a view to achieving some major strategic success in the west continue to reach us. Reports of massed hostile concentrations in those sectors where the enemy proposed to break through the French front and roll back the allied line on a broad scale are numerous.

"The German higher command seeks peace through victory. The enemy is apparently very eager to have us believe that he is about to win such a victory.

"For the past two years the Germans have been on the defensive in the west. The bold advertising of an imposing offensive on the part of the enemy, which, while in the realm of possibility and therefore should not be neglected or overlooked, must in no wise be interpreted to mean that the increased strength of the hostile forces will result in any permanent strategic advantage to the Germans.

"Surveying the outlines of the general war strategy on all fronts we find that both belligerents have been on the offensive during the past six months.

"The central powers have taken the initiative in the eastern and Italian theaters, the allies along the major front in the west, in Palestine, Mesopotamia and East Africa.

"The enemy has confined his efforts to advancing his line along the Russian front, resulting in the capture of Riga and then by a quickly conducted offensive in Italy with the assistance of an intensive political drive, gained a marked strategic advantage in this sector.

"The allies in the principal theaters of operations, the west have been able to record an almost uninterrupted series of tactical advantages and in spite of the concentration of a preponderant majority of the most German offensives have gained considerable territory and taken a large quota of prisoners.

"In the outstanding areas of Mesopotamia and Palestine the British have driven the enemy before them and their offensive culminated during the week in the capture of Jerusalem.

"Though the capture of the Holy City cannot be held a principal military objective of the campaign so vigorously pursued by General Allenby in this theatre, the conquest of Jerusalem will have a wide influence throughout the Turkish empire. And it will go far towards reaffirming the prestige of the allied powers throughout the orient.

"Germany realizes the danger attendant upon the waning of her influence in the east and will therefore be more anxious than ever to conclude a speedy peace before the war map becomes less favorable.

"The raiding of German towns of the interior, more especially the industrial centres of the Rhineland by allied air craft, as reprisals for the repeated bombardment of open towns in France and Great Britain by the Germans has been successfully initiated.

"Reports of observers recently out of Germany, who were present during previous air raids state that these raids have had a very depressing effect on the civilian population and have heightened the growing discontent among the German people, who now for the first time are being brought face to face with real war conditions.

"The armistice concluded by the Russians with the enemy now includes the entire eastern front from the Baltic to the Black sea. Negotiations are not proceeding smoothly. The German demands are reported to us specifically among other points, the immediate opening up of channels of commercial intercourse between Russia and Germany."

OUTWITTED BY A FOX.

Hartford City, Ind., Dec. 17.—Thirteen men and five dogs were outwitted by a lone fox in a chase southwest of this city. The fox was still running at dark, long after the men and dogs were exhausted. The fox, which is said to be the finest specimen ever seen in this county, has been making nightly raids carrying away young pigs and chickens, and farmers decided to organize to get the animal. The fox was followed thirteen miles before the chase was abandoned.

Fire, resulting from an exploding gasoline engine at Elzey restaurant on public square, Friday, and threatened the entire block. Guests in the Hartford hotel, a few doors north of the restaurant, hurried to the street when they were informed of the fire. Elzey, proprietor, was burned about the hands and face, when he attempted to extinguish the burning gasoline can from the room. The loss, which probably will reach $3,000, is covered by insurance.

WHITLEY COUNTY CORN SHOW ENDS

There Were 320 Entries This Year and 149 Premiums.

(Special to The Sentinel).
Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—The Whitley County Corn Show and Woman's Auxiliary came to a close in the Commercial club rooms in this city Saturday afternoon, after a two-day exhibit, the largest ever held. There were 320 entries this year and 149 premiums, totalling $208 in cash, besides ribbon awards. Wade Heran, well known farmer of Washington township, was adjudged corn king, his ten-ear exhibit of yellow corn winning the prize for him. Exhibits of apples, onions, potatoes, beans, wheat, oats and mangels were also exhibited, and prizes awarded for them. A bushel of fine apples owned by George Peabody, who had them on exhibit at the corn show, and which were from a lot selected for prize winners, were sold at auction to A. A. Bush, for $7.00, and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross. Other products taken from the large exhibit were sold, the money being devoted to the same purpose. The auxiliary was especially fine this year. Added features were the war ration table, where the domestic science girls of the high school served nut bread, Welsh rabbit, oak-hull potatoes and peanut salad; and the war knitting. The officers of the Whitley County Corn Growers association for 1918 follow: Clyde Miller, president; Nelson Keller, vice-president, succeeding Mel Blain; Lawrence Goble, secretary, and Adam Mullett, treasurer. All of the above officers, except the vice-president, were re-elected. Mrs. Charles W. Goble of this city is the new chairman of the Woman's auxiliary, and she will choose her secretary and staff of township assistants in a few months. The judge at the corn show was Ernest Thornburg, paid by the U. S. government to attend such affairs as the above and judge the exhibits and give lectures on seed corn, and he spoke ten minutes Saturday afternoon, before leaving for his home at Winchester.

Columbia City Short Items.
The mercury slid down to 16 degrees below zero Saturday morning and a party of bobsledders who had spent the night dancing at Tri-lake, in the Esterline pavilion, became extremely cold coming home, and walked or ran part of the way, arriving home in the morning. Despite the unusual cold, an enormous crowd of people, attracted here by the corn show and auxiliary, came to town and did trading.

Fifty seven questionnaire blanks, representing five per cent. of the draft registrants in Whitley county not yet inducted into service, were mailed out Saturday by the local conscription board. They are taken from numbers 1 to 71, inclusive, the remaining 14 being in camp.

Miss Kate Flox of South Bend is visiting her brother, Jacob O. Flox and family.

The headquarters for the local Christmas Red Cross Membership campaign will be in the Commercial club rooms, in all probability, according to attorney Joseph R. Harrison, who is chairman of the big drive. Miss Hildreth Sharp is secretary of the committee.

Mrs. Kate Sherburn, 58, mother of Mrs. Geo. Aulton and Jesse Sherburn east of the city, and a resident of Warsaw, is dead at the home of a brother in Walkerton, from heart failure.

Frank Johnson, brutal assailant of Arthur Benward, his employer and benefactor, at Chubbuck last May, is wanted in several places in the Central states for forgery, auto thievery, grand larceny and other crimes, and it may be that the case resting against him in the Whitley circuit court may not be tried. Again it is possible that the case growing out of his assault upon Benward may receive priority of consideration in court. When Benward went to Corunna, Mich., last week, and identified Johnson, the latter greeted Benward with a laconic "Howdy do".

SEE JEWISH UNITY IN PALESTINE'S CAPTURE

Baltimore, Dec. 17.—Two hundred leaders of the Zionist organization of the country launched at a concert yesterday the great movement to realize Jewish national unity as a result of the recapture of Palestine from Turkey. "An historic gathering," Nathan Strauss, of New York termed it, amid cheers. It was the first concrete step toward the achievement of the national character taken by the Jews of the world and intimation was given during the meeting that a practical reoccupation of the Holy land would be under way within a month or two.

The outlines of a general Jewish fund of $100,000,000 to make the Jewish re-occupation real and practical were given and within a few minutes $35,000 was raised toward an initial $1,000,000 of the international fund with which to begin the re-assimilation of the "promised land."

The $100,000,000 fund is to be used for constructive and administrative work in the new Jewish state.

GREAT WHITE WAY DIMMED.

New York, Dec. 17.—If Diogenes has been patrolling Broadway without a lantern last night he would not have recognized an honest man if he had passed one. It was the first real "lightless night" the "Great White Way" has known since electric lamps were invented. There were no lights in the streets of course, but the famous advertising signs were dark. By contrast with its usual brilliancy, the thoroughfare was dark as the inside of a pocket. The Broadway association announced that the fuel administration ordered the street darkened Sunday and Thursday nights.

COMMISSIONS FOR MEN IN THE RANKS

General Pershing Makes Provision for Promotions
for Merit.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 16.—Every enlisted man in the American army now carries the stars of a general in his knap sack. Orders just issued by General Pershing and a plan announced today so provide for promotion from the ranks that any private may win a commission and, having won it, may climb rapidly up through successive grades. The latter feature is made possible by a section of the general orders which says that hereafter all temporary appointments and promotions on the American expeditionary force will be on a selective plan as in the British army. Recommendation for appointments and promotions must be based solely on demonstrated fitness and capacity of the man. The system of temporary appointments is one which the American army has not had previously.

Under it a first lieutenant who has demonstrated special qualities and fitness may find himself a temporary captain or even a temporary major. He would hold that position until he had proved himself worthy of the new rank when the appointment may be made permanent. The British have found this method excellent and by it have secured a great number of efficient officers.

It is announced also that regular reports on the fitness of all officers of all ranks are to be made for guidance in transfer and promotion, thus making sure that the soldiers are under competent leaders.

START ACTIVE WAR ON ENEMY PROPAGANDA

State and County Councils of Defense Offer Reward for the Guilty.

(By Indiana State Council of Defense.)
Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—Treasonable and slanderous gossip against the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other war agencies has been so generally and so systematically carried on that Councils of Defense in many Indiana counties are offering rewards for evidence tending to prove the identity of persons starting and repeating the pro-German tales which are being industriously peddled in many quarters.

William Fortune, head of the Indianapolis Red Cross, offers a reward of $100 for information leading to the originator of the mysterious and absurd falsehood of the sweater knitted by an unknown woman for the Red Cross and later found by the knitter in the possession of a person who was reported to have "bought" the garment.

The Clay County Council of Defense also has put up a $100 reward for proofs as to the identity of persons who start or repeat slanders against the Red Cross. A miner employed in a mine on the Lybrye farm near Brazil, reported that a woman in Clay City had found a man in Brazil wearing a sweater she had knitted for the Red Cross, the sweater being intended for her soldier son. The story went on to say the woman had closed a secret pocket in which she had knitted money for her son's use. Red Cross sweaters are not distributed to individuals, but go in boxes, indiscriminately to the soldiers. The foolish falsehood is being traced and a search is being made for the miner who repeated it. The $100 reward has been provided by W. E. Carpenter, head of the Red Cross, and by M. M. Johnson, of the Clay County Council of Defense.

The Steuben County Council of Defense, finding enemy propaganda in that county, has formally offered a $100 reward for information which will enable the council to deliver pro-Germans to Uncle Sam.

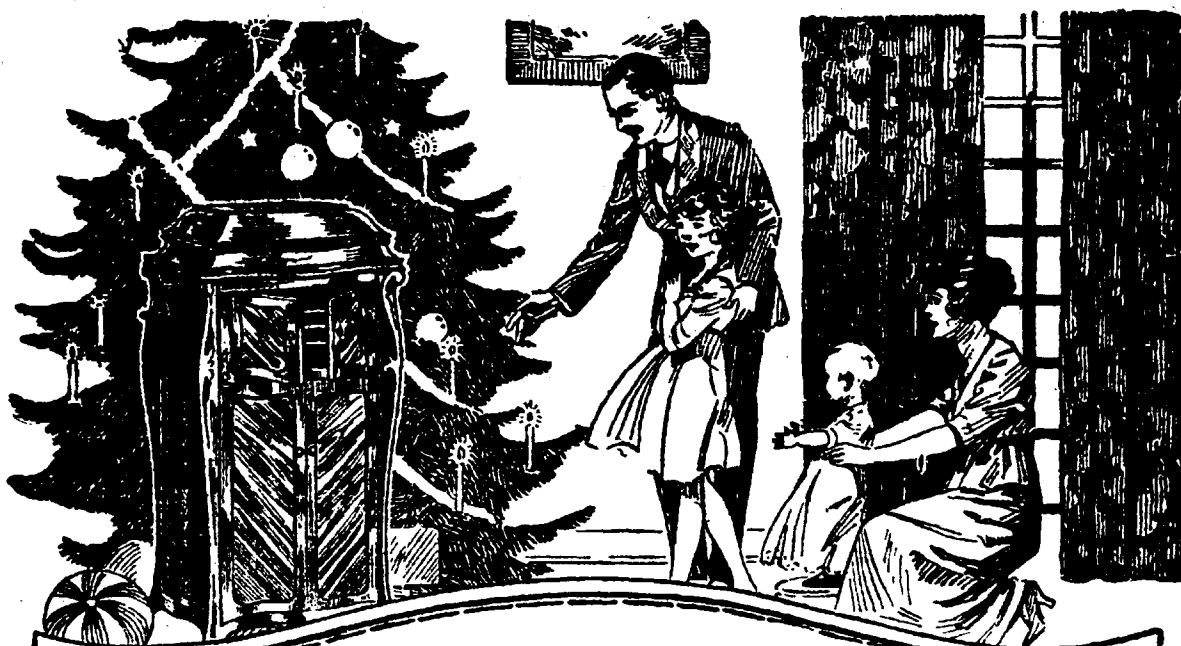

FAVOR AMENDMENT OF THE LEVER FOOD LAW

Indiana Food Administration
Likes Changes Proposed.

(By Indiana State Council of Defense.)
Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—The Indiana state council of defense and the Indiana food administration, headed by Dr. Harry E. Barnard are watching with interest the proposed revision of the Lever food control law, by the present session of congress.

It is announced that the proposals will cover the following points:

1. To regulate portions of food served in hotels and restaurants a step toward fixed rations in public eating places.
 2. To stabilize the prices of pork products, possibly beginning with a fixed price for hogs.
 3. To deal with sugar, vegetable oils and a few other commodities as it now done with wheat.
- Statistics show immense savings in hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, clubs, etc., as a result of the wheatless and meatless days. These figures indicate the possibilities of still further elimination of the excesses of hotel and public eating house serving, it is said.
- Herbert Hoover, food administrator and his aides are reported as favorable to some such legislation, the details of which they are working out with the co-operation of men who understand the situation as it affects the larger cities, where the principal savings have been effected.

There's But One Safe Way to Buy

I keep in close touch with market conditions of food products. I am correctly informed as to the cash and food value of practically every article of table and baking use. My knowledge and close acquaintance with baking materials and their quality and money worth passed on to you in my articles, should aid in the selection of proper foods at proper prices.

You have often heard the expression that "water seeks its own level." This same thought might well be applied to merchandise.

Inferior merchandise may find a ready demand when first put on the market—but its inferiority is soon found out—and its sale usually takes a slump. Hence I have come to the conclusion that the biggest seller is the best buy.

When some other brand is given a wide preference over all similar merchandise it means but one thing—merit has proved it best.

So it follows that if housewives would purchase only merchandise that meets the greatest demand their buying would be far more satisfactory.

I have noticed invariably that the demand for a product always verifies the value of a product determined by scientific tests—which proves my contention conclusively.

Take baking powder. The biggest selling brand on the market today proved to me by the most critical experiments that it is entitled to the preference it has gained.

There are more pounds of Calumet sold than any other brand of baking powder. Usage has proved its superiority—my tests pointed to the same fact. The woman who buys Calumet eliminates all possible waste. She profits by the experience of millions of women who after testing many different brands of baking powder find Calumet best. It is safe to buy because overwhelming choice shows the supreme satisfaction it renders the vast majority of housewives.

I have made investigations and trips through many plants that manufacture food articles, and I have yet to find a finer and better equipped, more up to date, sanitary plant than that of the Calumet Baking Powder Co. Anyone who will visit this plant will readily understand why they should and how they do manufacture baking powder that fills all the requirements.

"I have seen the widows of France, I have seen the blind boys of England, I have seen England's navy guarding the North Sea. All that the correspondents send over about the atrocities that have been committed, all the inhumanities, all the beastialities that no paper can possibly receive in ink—they are not only true, but the worst of them cannot be told.

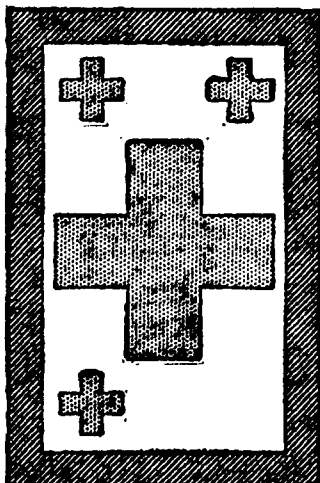

"You have been told that our women and our girls have been protected by the British navy from the fate that befell the women of France and of Belgium. Men, believe it; it is absolutely true. It is more than true. I have been in the hospital in the Department of Lamerck, of France, where there are nearly a thousand girls; not one is eighteen years of age, and all will be mothers. And 61 per cent are in addition afflicted with the most filthy, unspeakable malady that we know of, and 11 per cent in addition are stark mad. I have seen the boys that will never be men; I have seen the boys who have been cruelly mutilated. You don't know anything about this war. You don't know.

"We don't know we are at war, and some of you think that because you have bought a hundred dollars' worth or a million dollars' worth of liberty bonds, you have done your share. Some of you think that because you have given $10 or $100 to the Red Cross you have done your share. You have not, and you will not have done your share until it hurts. And men and women, when next February or March you take up your daily papers and on the front page you read that casualty list, and when you read the columns and columns of names of dead, the wounded, the missing, then and then only will you realize what England, what Australia, what Canada, what New Zealand, what France has gone through for three years.

"This war is not won. This war will begin for us next spring. Don't you get the idea that because you see our boys in khaki on our streets this thing is now going to be attended to, this thing is going to be won, and that shortly. Oh, no! There will be more thousands, there will be more millions, and they have got to be transported, and they have got to be fed, and they have got to have munitions to fight your battles and save your women and protect your girls, and to protect the grandmother, because the Beast makes no difference between the girl who has not reached womanhood and the venerable mother or grandmother with white hair."

ST. PAUL NATIONALS TO OPPOSE INDEPENDENTS

The Harlan Team is a Fast
ers.

The St. Paul Nationals will take on the Harlan Independents at their gym Tuesday evening. The Harlan boys come with a reputation which if upheld will make the local team play to their top strength. In the playing strength of the Nationals, the manner in which they trained the Spencerville aggregation is not forgotten, and if the visitors do come out on the big side of the score they will certainly have to be satisfied.

The Harlan boys have won the greater number of games they have played this season, and against top-notch teams. And they have proved their prowess by their shooting ability and floor work. In spite of this advance dope, both Manager Trier and Captain Koenig are not worrying. Their team has made a showing in all departments of playing that gives them the assurance that the team will be more than able to uphold their good record.

At this match there will be a preliminary game between the Luther Institute team and a team which will be announced later. Tickets are on sale for this game at the St. Paul cigar stand or phone 3122. There is every indication that there will be a large crowd present.

SPHINK DEFEAT NATIONALS.

The game at the Olympic gym Saturday evening between the Sphinx and the Nationals resulted in favor of the Sphinx by a score of 39 to 8. The first few minutes of play was very interesting and hard fought, but throughout the remainder of the contest the Sphinx showed their superiority in every phase of the game. Suelzer and Stark proved the individual stars for the winners, and it was demonstrated that if the Nationals had been up all through with men like Hartman there would have been a different story to tell.

TURNERS WILL PLAY FRIDAY.

The announcement is made that the Turner Active will open their season next Friday with a game scheduled with the T. O. P.'s. Manager Walter Geller, of the T. O. P.'s, states that he has gotten together a strong team and that it will be able to hold its own with the best talent of the city. The line-up is as follows: Granger, Miller, Bauer, Diefendorfer, Myers, Bradley, Tigges and Outland.

IONIANS ARE DEFEATED.

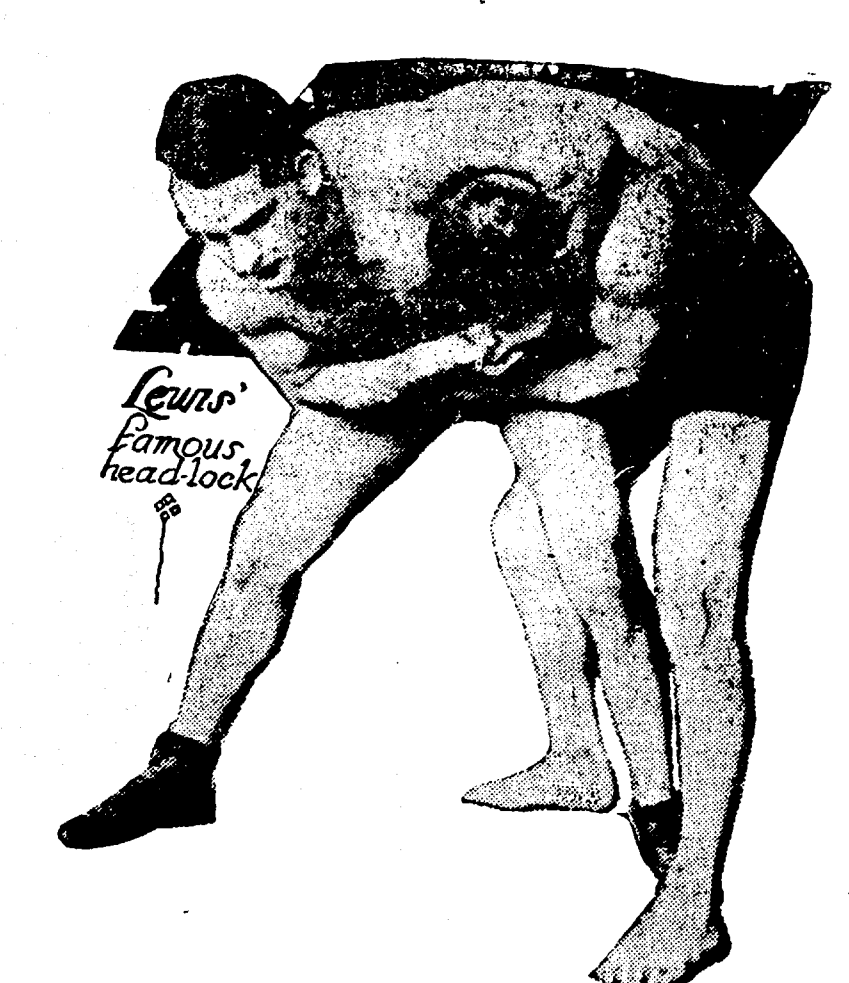

The Hudson basketball team defeated the St. Patrick's Ioniens in a fast game Saturday night at the St. Patrick's gym by a score of 31 to 20. Both teams played fast and snappy, but the superior accuracy of the Hudsons in caging baskets resulted in their victory. The winners are out with a challenge to St. Peter's Oakwoods. Phone 6746 after 7 o'clock.

TOOK GAME BY FORFEIT.

The Fords took the second game of the series with the P. O. P.'s by forfeit, the latter team failing to appear at Library hall Friday evening. The Fords are busy training for their contest against the Wayne Athletic club, which is to take place Tuesday evening.

EMROES LOOKING FOR GAMES.

The Emroes challenge any team in the city, where the weight of the players average 110 pounds, for a game to be played Tuesday evening. The St. John Juniors preferred, Call 2030 green, Monday, 12 and 1, or 6 and 7 o'clock for particulars.

Work.

The total score of the C. C. H. S. against the Independents Saturday evening, was the largest that has probably ever been rolled up against a contesting team. The score was 58 to 15.

A large audience of basketball fans saw the game at Library hall, and there was a great deal of satisfaction throughout the followers of the C. C. H. S. by reason of the splendid team work; a great improvement over their previous game. Captain Logan proved himself the individual star and to him was credited no less than 15 baskets and four free throws. Sultzer was in all the mixups and was instrumental in breaking up many a play of the opposing team. The two guards McLaughlin and Bushman did more than their part in winning the game and did not give the opposition a show at their goal. Hergenrath took Logan's place in the last few minutes of play and scored three baskets.

This game will end the season for the high school until after Christmas. Two out of town games are, however, on the schedule for next week at Geneva, Wednesday, and Angola, Friday. The line-up and score for the game was as follows:

C. C. H. S. 58 INDEPENDENTS 15
Doriot R. F. Ahner
Logan L. F. Leeper
Suelzer C. Richards
McLaughlin R. G. Berry
Bushman L. G. Koontz
Substitute—Light for Berry; Hergenrath for Logan.

Field Goals—Doriot 5, Logan 5, Suelzer 3, Bushman 1, Hergenrath 3, Richards 5, Leeper 1, Koontz 1.

Free Throws—Logan 4, Richards 1. Referee—Jule Doriot.

ALEXANDER OWES HIS START TO JAP POOR

Famous Pitcher Was Found by Butcher at Hartford City Years Ago.

Hartford City, Ind., Dec. 17.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, recently sold to the Chicago Cubs by the Philadelphia Nationals, owes his start on the road to fame to a Hartford City butcher, Jap Poor, former baseball manager and player.

It was Jap who, while managing the Galesburg (Ill.) team of the Missouri-Illinois league about eight years ago, "found" Alexander. Poor had been in need of a pitcher. Meeting Sanders, then manager of the Nebraska Indians, he asked him if he knew where he could get hold of a pitcher. Alexander was at that time pitching independent ball for his home team, St. Paul, Neb., at a salary of $125 a month, and was also assisting his father on the farm. The Nebraska Indians went down in defeat on two different occasions at the hands of the St. Paul (Neb.) "scrubs," with Alexander twirling. They knew he was a sure-enough pitcher. Sanders told Poor of Alexander. At that time Poor was unable to pay more than $100 a month for a pitcher. The terms were given Alexander. He hesitated at first, saying that he hated to leave the folks on the farm. The idea of playing league ball, though, finally caused him to accept the offer and he played the remainder of that season with the Galesburg team, pitching wonderful ball.

Later, when the Galesburg team dropped out of the league, Grover was sold to Indianapolis, of the American Association, at a very low figure. He didn't get much of a show with Indianapolis and was "farmed out" to Syracuse, N. Y., where he pitched excellent ball for a season. The Indianapolis management "overlooked a bet" and failed to recall Alexander, who was then sold to Philadelphia.

UNBEATEN WRESTLING
CHAMPION IS NO MORE

Frank Gotch Succumbs at His Home to a Long

HIGH SPORTS IN GOTCH'S CAREER.
Born, April 27, 1878.
First professional match with Swede Swanson at Bear Creek, Alaska, in 1897.
First important match in America with Dan McLeod at Lucerne, Ia., in 1899.
Won American championship by defeating Tom Jenkins in Kansas City in 1906.
Won world championship by defeating George Hackenschmidt in Chicago in 1908.
Defeated Hackenschmidt in straight falls at Chicago, Labor Day, 1911.
Married Miss Gladys Oestrich at Humboldt, Ia., Jan. 1, 1911.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 17.—Frank A. Gotch, retired heavyweight wrestling champion and the most spectacular figure of American mat history, died at noon yesterday at his home, Humboldt, Ia. The cause of death was uraemic poisoning. He had been in failing health for two years and recently made a trip to Chicago for treatment.

This Iowa farmer amassed a fortune estimated at $200,000 from his earnings in the arena, the bulk of which he invested in Iowa farm lands which he worked himself. He also had interests in Humboldt business enterprises, including a grain elevator, and was director in the Humboldt bank.

Gotch's most important matches in which he clinched the world's title were against George Hackenschmidt, both held in Chicago. At Dexter park pavilion in 1908, Hack, then heralded as world's champion, quit after two hours and three minutes of grueling work. Most of the time was spent in what is known in wrestling parlance as "bulling," that is, the men stayed on their feet pulling and tugging about the ring in a struggle of endurance.

On Sept. 4, 1911, Gotch and Hackenschmidt met in another match at White Sox ball park, which drew an $87,000 gate and an unwavering math when it was learned that Hack had an injured knee and was forced to keep the engagement by the promoters because of the gate money in sight. Gotch is not supposed to have known of Hack's condition. He won two comparatively easy falls in 14:18-1:5 and 5:32-1:5.

Originator of "Toe Hold."
Gotch was the originator of the "toe hold," which he employed against Hack with a combination crook hold. The "toe hold" was a leverage grip which caused excruciating pain. Unless the victim rolled over he was liable to a broken leg. Gotch frequently employed the grip as a feint for some other hold or used it as a combination.

Gotch was 41 years old. He is survived by his widow and one small son.

Details of Career.
Frank A. Gotch, perhaps the greatest wrestler the world has ever known, undefeated champion of the world, has lost his last fall. His wonderful strength, his cat-like agility, his mat craftiness availed him: nothing against that champion of champions, death.

Gotch was one of the unique figures of American sport. He is one of the few champions who have retired with their championships safely tucked away.

Gotch was born on a farm near Humboldt, Ia., April 27, 1878, his parents being of Dutch descent. He attended the country school near his home until he was 16, when he was sent to college to study law. Gotch was so busy with athletics that his father took him from school before the end of the year and put him to work on the farm.

In 1897 Gotch got the gold craze and went to the Klondike and it was here that he first wrestled for money. At Bear Creek owners of rival mines persuaded Gotch to wrestle a local celebrity and bet $11,000 a side on the match. Gotch won in 18 minutes and was given $5,000 as his share.

Gotch soon afterward returned to the United States, but later returned to Alaska, remaining there a few months. Gotch's first big match in America was with the great Dan McLeod, then in his prime. This match took place in Lucerne, Ia., and Gotch lost.

LATE FRANK GOTCH, UNBEATEN MAT
CHAMPION, AND HIS YOUNG WIFE

After this match he became a pupil of Farmer Burns, the former world champion, who taught Gotch the inside points of wrestling which enabled him to defeat Tom Jenkins for the American title in Kansas City in 1906. Gotch clinched the world title by defeating George Hackenschmidt, European champion, in Chicago, two years later. In 1911 he again met and defeated Hackenschmidt with ridiculous ease.

On Jan. 11, 1911, Gotch married Miss Gladys Oestrich, daughter of a wealthy Iowa farmer, whose farm adjoined the Gotch home. Since their marriage they have lived at Humboldt. They have one child, a boy of 5.

Gotch has won thousands of dollars on the mat and careful investments, mostly in Iowa land, have made him a wealthy man. He owns about 2,000 acres of land near Humboldt in addition to his home farm and his residence in addition to large blocks of bank stocks and other safe securities.

One of the greatest evidences of Gotch's sense of honor was shown in his refusal two years ago to meet Joe Stecher, the sensational Nebraska boy, in a match for the championship of the world.

The match would have meant more than $50,000 to Gotch, but he refused to sign articles, when he was not confident of victory, fearing his hundreds of friends would lose thousands of dollars should he be defeated.

SOME FAST SKATING
FOR RED CROSS BENEFIT

Will Try to Defeat Ex-Champion Kimm at Washing-

The swiftest boys on rollers in this vicinity, and several who have made records close to the top, will skate with the team in an effort to defeat the ex-champion, Leon Kimm, in the competitive skate at the Washington rink this Monday night. The race will undoubtedly be spirited and hotly contested. "Butch" Slater, and George Striker are a duo of the local boys who are expected to make things interesting for the world-wide celebrity.

"Butch" Slater is a local product and is considered the swiftest skater in the city. The latter boy formerly resided in Chicago and on several occasions has matched his speed with Kimm.

It should not be forgotten that the entire receipts for this skating race goes to the Red Cross.

SPORTING NOTES.

College of the city of New York has made soccer football a major sport. For the first time in seventeen years Utah A. C. defeated University of Utah on the gridiron in the recent match at Salt Lake City, 14 to 0.

GREAT DRIVE BEGINS FOR THE RED CROSS

Campaign Started Sunday from Thousands of Pulpits.

Washington, Dec. 17.—With the delivery yesterday of thousands of sermons from as many American pulpits, urging membership in the American Red Cross, the Christmas campaign of that organization for ten million new members was formally started. The drive will continue until Christmas Eve by which time it is expected that the total membership in the United States will reach fifteen millions at least.

Among those who realize from European experience the war started the urgent need of virtually universal Red Cross membership in this country is Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton, formally Minister to the Netherlands. Dr. Van Dyke makes this appeal under the caption: "A Red Cross Christmas to Those Who Feel Poor."

"I write as a brother. 'We are a large family. This world war made in Germany against which we are fighting has sent our incomes down and our expenses up. The pinch hurts, but it is not going to kill us. We still have enough and something to spare. Though we feel poor don't let us feel impoverished by selfish fear. Let us save in food, in service, in clothes, in luxuries, but not in money. Let us use that by giving it to save the wounded, the suffering, our friends our country. Let us keep Christmas this year by keeping up the Red Cross. Then it will not be a poor Christmas, but a rich Christmas to our hearts.'"

Today the membership booths were opened for the receiving of members. There are 50,000 of these in charge of uniformed Red Cross workers. Besides the appeals to congregations Sunday in behalf of the Red Cross membership campaign, superintendents and teachers in Sunday schools

The New Method

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

"The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while," says the famous Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric (double strength). If you have lumbago, rheumatism, gout, dropsy, begin immediately with this novel treatment.

MARVELOUS HERBAL MEDICINE CURES LONG-STANDING COUGH.

Goshen, Ind.—"I was down and out with what my doctor pronounced tuberculosis. I had coughed night and day for a whole year and had lost so much flesh I began to look like a walking skeleton. Two of my sisters had died of tuberculosis and I felt certain that my time had come, too. After the doctor gave me up, a friend recommended Dr. Fiebert's Golden Medical Discovery to my husband. The 'Discovery' gave new strength and vitality right from the start, and in a year's time I was just as strong and hardy as ever. I have never suffered with a deep-hacking cough since and it is all fifteen years since I was at death's door with this ailment."

—Mrs. ELIZA TAYLOR, 610 N. Main St.

urged them to do their mite for the work of relief during the war. Of the 136,000 ministers in the United States it was expected that the big majority would make today a Red Cross Sunday in their churches.

LIBERTY GUARD TO BE ORGANIZED AT ALBION

Former Quartermaster A. C. Kimmell, of Co. A is Circulating Petition.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Albion, Ind., Dec. 17.—In compliance with the proclamation of Governor Goodrich, December 12, an effort is being made by former Quartermaster A. C. Kimmell, of Co. A, to organize a Liberty guard, or state militia, in Albion, to take the place of the state militia now in federal service, and already twenty-four names have been enrolled upon the petition, our patriotic townsman, Leander Rupert, heading the list. Enlistments can be made by those between the ages of 21 and 45 years in the state of Indiana. It is expected to get the full quota of sixty-eight names to complete the company and almost unanimously there is voiced the captaincy of former Capt. Albert Black of Co. A to head the new unit. The patriotic fervor of Albion is shown in the readiness of those approached to become members and thus far refusals are few.

Arrested for Vagrancy. Adam Benhower, illiterate young man, deserted by both father and mother, unable mentally to foresee the necessity of making hay while the sun shines, half-clad and shabbily shod, left our city in a blinding snow storm a few days ago in search of greener pastures which he evidently failed to find as he returned Thursday and proceeded to his father's room, forced entrance into same and was cozily ensconced therein when nabbed by the officer for vagrancy and trespass. He will be sent to quarters where at least he will be clothed and fed and taught to earn same by sweat of the brow. His case is indeed a pitiable one.

Albion Short Notes. Mr. and Mrs. Amenz Reed, who have been guests of their daughter, Mrs. C. M. Stanley, and husband, near Albion, have returned to their home at Butler.

Subject to Croup. "Our little girl is subject to frequent attacks of croup," writes F. O. Strong, Calipella, Cal. "I always give her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as one or two doses of it cures her." This is a favorite remedy for croup, as it can be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. It contains no narcotic.

For Boys' and Girls' Christmas Gifts

Ours is the logical place to go to find them. Sleds, Skates and Wagons are always appreciated by boys and girls alike and affords them many hours of good healthful sport.

Then for their more serious moments a diversion of thought and mind, a handsome set of tools for the boys or a sewing outfit for the girls or perhaps a laundering or cooking set, will be most beneficial, instructive and entertaining.

It is not the most expensive things but the things their little hearts desire that give them the most pleasure.

"Knowing How" Is the Most Important Part in Life-Saving

Man Who Recently Offered His Services to the Government and Who Has Saved 500 from Drowning in United States, France and Panama Demonstrates the Approved Methods of Handling an Endangered Person in the Water.

CHARLES E. FITZGERALD, who gained fame as a life saver in and near St. Louis by rescuing from the water more than 500 men, women and children, has offered his services to the United States navy as an instructor in swimming and life saving for the period of the war.

FitzGerald is a deputy collector of revenue for the government, in the Eighth Illinois District, with headquarters at Pekin, Ill., but he has offered to resign his civil berth to do his bit for the country in the war with Germany.

While negotiating for a commission with the navy, the crack life saver gave a demonstration of the famous "hook grip," which he evolved in 1899, and which has since been adopted by professional life guards throughout the world as the best hold to use in rescuing a drowning person from the water.

Before FitzGerald introduced this scientific hold, it was a common thing for life guards to lose their grip on a victim struggling in the water.

The old-fashioned grip was not dependable. It was a cross between the "strangle hold" and a "half Nelson" used by wrestlers, and it interfered with the breathing of the person being rescued, causing them to struggle with the strength of desperation to break it.

FitzGerald almost lost two or three of those whom he rescued, because of this fact, and he conceived the idea of the "hook" grip to replace the old hold. He never has lost a life that he attempted to rescue since the hook was developed, and he has demonstrated that it is comparatively easy to swim out of a river or any body of water, towing a victim in this manner.

In 1907 FitzGerald saved the life of Veronica Mulvihill, noted St. Louis beauty and society leader, at the pool at Plaza Chautauqua. Allen Waters, a good swimmer, had gone to the rescue of Miss Mulvihill, but sank with her when she frantically clasped her arms about his head. Not being trained in the art of life saving, Waters had attempted the wrong grip and was unable to control the struggling figure of the girl.

Brought Pair to Surface.

FitzGerald, in charge of the life guards at the pool, saw the two struggling figures sink in the center of the pool where the water was deepest. He dove for the spot, and the breathless onlookers imagined that minutes elapsed before FitzGerald's head emerged from the water and it was seen that he brought with him Miss Mulvihill and Waters.

"Hold her head like this," shouted FitzGerald to the still conscious Waters, as he threw Waters' arm about Miss Mulvihill's head with the famous "hook" hold. Waters instinctively followed instructions, and FitzGerald promptly grasped Waters' head in the vice-like hook and struck out for the side of the pool.

It was a most sensational rescue, and when the astonished observers saw FitzGerald clamber onto the rail at the side of the deep water and pull the two figures from the water they delivered themselves of many resounding cheers to reward the rescuer.

Another dramatic rescue of unusual daring was performed by FitzGerald in 1903, when he rescued Fred C. Suehr of St. Louis from beneath a tugboat in the Mississippi River, diving for the drowning man with full street dress except for shoes and coat.

Suehr fell from the side of a tug just below Eads Bridge, as he was watching a swimming race in the river. Many eager eyes strained over the side of the tug to see him rise to the surface of the river, but his form did not appear. FitzGerald, one of the party, quickly slipped off coat and shoes and dived overboard. He feared Suehr had been drawn under the tugboat. A few strong strokes brought him beneath the heavy hulk. It was several seconds before the blind groping of FitzGerald brought him in contact with a man's arm.

The nerve life saver felt for Suehr's head, grasped it in the old reliable "hook" and plunged downward to get free of the screw at the rear of the tug. The two figures arose in the river some 50 feet or more away from the tug, and a shout greeted them from the decks of many craft in the vicinity. Suehr was unconscious, having swallowed much water. FitzGerald swam easily toward the nearest boat, and caught a line that was tossed to him.

The unconscious Suehr was drawn to the deck of the boat and FitzGerald climbed out. Suehr was revived after a few minutes, but in an hour he had developed a white lock of hair above one ear. It was the only time that FitzGerald saw a demonstration of the fact that a person's hair may turn gray in a short time while under a great mental strain. Suehr was under the care of a physician for three months after his experience, and is today one of the grateful admirers of the life saver to whom he owes his existence.

An Instructor in France.

FitzGerald has saved more than 500 lives in Europe and Panama. He was employed by the French government as instructor and life saver in a public swimming pool at Paris for two years, and performed many daring rescues there by means of his famous hook hold.

He has not a complete record of his rescues, because in 1906, during the great flood at St. Louis, he saved so many from the torrent of the swollen Mississippi that he could not tabulate them. The list of his other rescues would fill a good-sized book, and the descriptions of each many hundreds of newspaper columns.

FitzGerald is beyond the age of a soldier, in the eyes of Uncle Sam, but his patriotic spirit has led him to volunteer his services in the field in which he excels, in the hope that he may save the lives of many American sailors, both by personal performance and by drilling them in the "simple art," as he calls it, of saving lives.

Mrs. FitzGerald, an accomplished artist, at Springfield, Ill., her home, has given her consent to the entry of her daring husband into the naval service. It only awaits the decision of the government officials to determine whether life saving will become one of the courses of instruction in the navy, along with life-taking.

Would Have Navy Classes.

In naval actions and especially in ruthless submarine encounters, life savers are always in demand, FitzGerald says, and countless lives might be saved if cool heads were instructed in the art of keeping the imperiled ones afloat for a few minutes until more substantial aid can reach them.

FitzGerald will urge the navy authorities to establish classes in life saving, and to reduce the instructions to pamphlet form so members of crews on merchantmen may study the art of rescue. It is very difficult, and often impossible, to convey such instruction in the printed word, FitzGerald said, and the proper method of drilling is to employ capable life savers who will demonstrate in a practical manner to the student.

Only a few lessons would be necessary in the case of an ordinarily good swimmer to qualify him as a life saver. FitzGerald said, and it would be possible to improve the entire navy in a few weeks or months, if the government undertakes the task on the proper scale.

FitzGerald sums up the philosophy of safety first in the following terse phrase:

"Don't go into the water with food in your stomach and keep a cool head when you find yourself in danger."

More than half the drownings that occur, FitzGerald said, are due to the ignorance of bathers in eating a hearty meal shortly before entering the water. Cramps are sure to develop under these conditions, he says, and no matter how clever a swimmer one is, he or she will be helpless in even shallow water while in the throes of cramp.

CHAS. E. FITZGERALD, MASTER LIFE SAVER

The IMPROVED GRIP

The other drownings might be prevented if life savers were at hand to go to the rescue of those who get into trouble for one reason or another, he says. If a swimmer feels that he is tiring in deep water, it is almost certain that he can make his way to safety if he will remain cool and take easy strokes, FitzGerald holds. The danger is in becoming excited and swallowing water in a frantic effort to get out.

"Excessive use of cigarettes has caused the deaths of many persons," FitzGerald said, "and the man that is an excessive smoker should stay in the shallow water. Deep water causes a greater pressure against the lungs than the shallow water, and when the lungs are not working well the rest of the organs are not performing their regular functions."

"Guards at pools are also handicapped if they are excessive smokers. In many municipal pools they are put through a rigid examination; they are watched to see just how many cigarettes they smoke a day. In some cities which have municipal pools the guards are fired if they are caught smoking—cigars—pipes or cigarettes. "Cigarettes weaken the power of endurance, and, because of this weakness, most smokers are unable to stay under water for thirty seconds without attempting to draw their breath, filling their lungs full of water."

Cuts Down Endurance.

"Many remarkable demonstrations have been held all over the United States of the harm cigarettes will do to athletes. Some swimmers will say that cigarettes during the winter months will not hinder the swimmer in the summer, when they 'swear off.' But, during the winter months, the swimmer has so weakened his wind that they find themselves unable to comply with the tests which go with a good swimmer."

"Some of the swimmers probably will recover their endurance strength with sincere practice in the water and discontinuing the smoking of cigarettes."

Little danger exists in contracting disease in the water, FitzGerald said. He scouted the idea that more than ordinary danger lurks in the municipal swimming pools, and said that very little danger of diseases could be found in running waters.

"Thousands of parents have kept their children out of the water on account of fear of them contracting disease," FitzGerald said, "but it is all a mistake. Physicians, the greatest specialists all over the country, have given as their opinion that there are no grounds for this fear."

"Examinations have been made of the water in the pools and in the rivers, and little or no bacteria has been found in it. In fact, it has been less than that in private pools."

Few persons ever think of a sailor swimming. Indeed there are thousands of bluejackets who cannot pad-die a stroke and would be helpless if swept into the sea by a gust of wind or a breaking rope.

A modern warship is stripped for action at times, and then there are no rails or handholds to save an unlucky man from falling overboard. The rail is taken down, and nothing is left on deck but the linoleum, which is exactly like that in a kitchen. But as the battleship is a floating island, few think of needing to swim.

There are swimming pools aboard both for officers and men. On the smaller cruisers and destroyer types, when the close of day comes, and the sailors wish to swim, a canvas is hooked up at the corners and pumped full of sea water, making a big tub.

The surprising fact was first impressed upon this nation when the daughter of a former President, en route to the Philippine Islands, grew enthusiastic and leaped into the sailors' canvas plunge. The startling information was cabled all over the world, which in turn inquired, "How do sailors take baths?"

The submarine emphasizes another point as to why a sailor should know how to swim as well as to have sea legs. Holland's early divers were constructed in such a crude way that the crew was lost when the boat refused to ascend to the surface. Several years later it was found that the men, one by one, could be shot through the torpedo tubes, until but one man was left, and he had to drown, as there was nobody left to shoot him through!

Naturally a man bobbing up would have to be able to handle himself, else he had better remain on the bottom in his submarine.

The navy men on the subs are the pick of the navy, and the fewest possible accidents occur because of this.

A rich man may find it hard to enter heaven. On the other hand, it is equally hard to keep him in jail.

CLASSIFICATION FOR DRAFT ARMY STARTS

Questionnaires Are Being Sent to Registrants Each Day.

The four national army boards continued the mailing of questionnaires to the draft registrants Monday. They are being sent out according to the order numbers of the registrants, and attention is drawn to the "Notice to Registrants" on page two of the questionnaire, which provides a penalty for failure to return the questionnaires properly filled out on or before the seventh day after the date on the first page.

One of the chief sources of confusion to registrants is likely to arise out of the recent enlistments. Instructions to boards are that the questionnaires must be sent to every registrant except those that have been inducted into military service through the draft process, and except those who stand in the relation of deserters, either because they have failed to respond when called on to report for examination or service.

Newly enlisted men must answer the questionnaires until their status is determined by official records. This does not mean that bona fide enlistments will not become effective, but it does mean that, in the absence of official proof of enlistment, men will be certified to service, and if they fail to report must be treated as deserters.

Legal advisory boards have been established by each of the four boards who will assist the registrants in filling out their questionnaires properly and swearing to all necessary affidavits. All registrants are advised to submit their case to their respective advisory boards before filling out their questionnaires. No charge is made for this advice.

of the front from St. Quentin to Switzerland.

British troops are now making their influence felt on the Italian front. Berlin reveals this today in announcing an attack by their forces south of Monte Fontana Secca, which it declares broke down before the Teutonic positions. Counter attacks have recently been growing more frequent on the part of the Italians, and this British thrust gives added indication that more aggressive tactics are being adopted by the allies in opposition to the Austro-German invaders.

The British drive is on in the mountain line just to the west of the Piave, northwest of Mont Tomba. The German report today is the first specific mention of British activities on this front made in any of the official statements, although it had been known that considerable forces were in place in this sector.

Within the combat units vacancies to the extent of one third of the total will be filled in this manner and two thirds by promotion within the combat unit itself.

Those fully recovering from wounds will be assigned to the combat units. Arriving depot battalions hereafter will be considered part of the replacement divisions.

KNOW HOW SAMMIES LIVE.

With the American Army in France, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(By The Associated Press.)—Representatives of the United States food administration now know just how the American soldiers in France live. Last night the party of six split up and joined different units. Several units were on practice marches and the visitors had the experience of standing in the rain at mess without shelter. They were billeted for the night with soldiers who were sleeping in bunks and in rooms of farm houses. This morning one of the visitors wanted to wash and as the sergeants had been instructed to show them no favors he was directed to the nearest muddy stream where hardy soldiers were standing in mud and ice busy with soap, brushes and a frigid water. It appeared to be too much for one member of the party so the captain allowed him to share his blanket, which had a stove. All the members of the party agreed that one under the most trying circumstances and sometimes without a single apparent comfort, except possibly a cigarette, the morale and demeanor of the soldiers was the finest possible. Today the visitors spent part of the time with former national guardsmen from their respective home states.

SMOKE ENEMY'S CIGARETTES.

With the American Army in France, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(By The Associated Press.)—German and Austrian cigarettes are being smoked by the American expeditionary forces. There are two varieties being sold in the army commissaries and they are known by the soldiers as "Bosche smokes." One variety bears the name of a Berlin firm, while the other was made by a concern in Sarajevo.

The appearance of the cigarettes caused considerable speculation until it was learned they had been turned over by the French when they discovered the American cigarette supply was running short. The French captured the cigarettes in the early days of the war and since they have been stored in a warehouse.

outside the Jaffa gate. All aged subjects were sent away, but the American colony of about 300 was not molested. It did noble work in relieving distress, aided by funds from America.

When the United States broke off relations with Turkey these funds were discontinued. Nevertheless the members of the colony persisted in the good work to the best of their ability and between January and March of this year they assisted more than 350,000 persons. They also took charge of hospitals and have done splendid service. Recently the Germans attempted to obtain the exile of all Americans from Jerusalem. The Turks opposed the proposal, but a number of women and children were sent to Damascus. It was also intended to deport the remainder, but the British arrival defeated the intention.

Early in November Enver Pasha (the Turkish minister of war) came to Jerusalem and returned to Constantinople, where he recommended that the town be evacuated. Three days later, however, a change was made and reinforcements were hurried down. A proclamation was issued saying the Turks would hold out to the last. The new forces were very truculent and it is even said some of the sacred edifices were mined.

Von Falkenhayn in Charge.

"Later Gen. von Falkenhayn arrived and took control of defense measures. The day prior to our entry workmen were still engaged in fitting his headquarters with electric light.

"The population of Jerusalem is heart and soul with us and there can not be the slightest doubt of the attitude of the Jews and Arabs. According to the Turkish estimates there are in Palestine nearly 25,000 Arabs and Jews who deserted the army to evade military service but it is said the Turks lately have avoided undue severity as they were beginning to realize the mistakes of their policy."

"The position was changed late in the afternoon of the 8th. The magnificent feat was crowned with complete success and the Turks were driven out at the point of the bayonet. The survivors bled to either side of the town. Their losses were enormous.

"Turks in Desperate Spirit. "Throughout the whole fighting around Jerusalem the Turks showed a more desperate spirit and a greater tenacity than in almost any previous fighting. They stood their ground to the last.

"During the night the Turks withdrew to the north and east of the city and at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 9th the mayor and chief of police came out with a flag of truce and surrendered the town.

"Acceptance of the surrender was made formally at noon without actual fighting. The city, only pickets being posted to prevent surprise. Mounted our troops swept through the suburbs northward, being subjected to machine gun fire from the Mount of Olives and Mount Scopus. The ridge of Mount Scopus, north of the city, was stormed with the bayonet and the Turks were cleared from the Mount of Olives.

"Big demonstrations of joy broke out when the general advanced to take the surrender of the city. Flowers were showered on the troops and the populace clapped their hands to testify to the joy of deliverance from the hands of the oppressors.

"Further north the Turks were established along a series of trenches around the village of Beitelike. These trenches were carried with a rush and the British line advanced beyond the village.

Text of Armistice.

The text of the armistice agreement follows:

"Between the representatives of the higher command of Russia on the one hand and of Bulgaria, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey on the other for the purpose of achieving a lasting and honorable peace between both parties, the following armistice is concluded:

"The armistice shall begin on Dec. 14 (Dec. 17) at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until Jan. 1 (Jan. 14). The contracting parties have the right to break the armistice by giving seven days' notice. Unless notice is given the armistice automatically continues.

"The armistice embraces the land and aerial forces on the front from the Baltic to the Black sea and also the Russo-Turkish front in Asia Minor. During the armistice the parties concerned are obligated themselves not to increase the number of troops in the above fronts or on the islands in the Sound or to make a re-grouping of forces.

"Neither side is to make operative any transfers of units from the Baltic Black sea front until Jan. 1 (Jan. 14).

excepting those begun before the agreement is signed. They obligate themselves not to concentrate troops on part of the Black sea or Baltic sea east of 15 degrees of longitude east of Greenwich.

"The line of demarcation on the European front is the first line of defense. The space between will be neutral. The navigable rivers will be neutral, their navigation being forbidden except for necessary purpose of commercial or transport or on sections where the positions are at a great distance. On the Russo-Turkish front the line of demarcation will be arranged at the neutral consent of the chief commanders.

"Intercourse will be allowed from sunrise to sunset, no more than twenty-five persons participating at a time. The participants may exchange papers, magazines, unsealed mail and also may carry on trade in the exchange of articles of prime necessity.

"The question of release of troops freed from service who are beyond the line of demarcation will be solved during the peace negotiations. This applies also to Polish troops.

"Naval fronts: The armistice embraces all the Black sea and Baltic sea, east of the meridian 15 degrees east of Greenwich, applying to all naval and aerial forces. In regard to extension of the armistice to the White sea and the north Arctic Russian coast, a special agreement will be made. Attacks upon war and commercial vessels must cease in the above region and attacks in other seas must be avoided.

"After fixing the lines of demarcation in the Black and Baltic seas and limiting the movement of warships, the agreement stipulates that commercial navigation of these seas will be permitted under rules to be formulated by a commission.

"Immediately after the signing of the armistice, peace negotiations are to be begun. It is provided that measures shall be taken for the exchange of civil prisoners, invalids, women and children under fourteen years and for the amelioration of the condition of war prisoners.

"The treaty concludes with these words:

"With the purpose of facilitating the conduct of peace negotiations and the speedy healing of the wounds caused by the war the contracting parties take measures for re-establishment of cultural and economic relations among the signatories. Within such limits as the armistice permits, postal, commercial relations, the mailing of books and papers, will be permitted, the details to be worked out by mixed commission, representing all the interests of parties at Petrograd."

enemy trenches and bombs were dropped on numerous targets, including two positions of long range guns southwest of Lille. Later we again bombed these gun positions.

"During several fights three hostile machines were brought down and two were driven down out of control. None of ours is missing."

WILL AVERT SOME OF THE HORRORS OF WAR

Sick and Wounded American Prisoners to be Interned in Switzerland.

(Special Staff Dispatch.)

Washington, Dec. 17.—In an effort to safeguard in every possible way the welfare of Americans who may fall into Germany's hands as prisoners of war, negotiations are to be undertaken for the internment of sick and wounded prisoners in Switzerland.

Just what this Swiss internment means to the well-being of these prisoners, and how the whole system of internment on neutral soil works, is set forth in a report brought to this country recently by the Swiss commission.

Rules for the treatment of prisoners of war in belligerent countries are fully laid down in our treaties and in agreements of The Hague tribunal. Prior to this war, however, no arrangements existed for the care, in neutral countries, of sick and wounded prisoners.

Through the intercession of the international committee of the Red Cross, Switzerland early in the war negotiated an agreement between France and Germany for the exchange through her of prisoners so seriously wounded as to be unfit for further military service.

Then developed the idea of the internment of sick and wounded not totally incapacitated, an arrangement without precedent in history. A bureau of internment was created by the surgeon general of Switzerland in January, 1916, and a test made with 100 German and 100 French prisoners suffering from tuberculosis.

Since that time approximately 200,000 prisoners have been exchanged through Switzerland. In the first year, up to January, 1917, the bureau handled 52,500 French; 4,600 Belgians; 5,500 English; 47,300 Germans and Austrians.

Men who will recover, either from their illness or their wounds, sufficiently to enable them to return again to the fighting lines, are permanently interned in Switzerland. Those no longer fit for the hardships of war are returned to their countries and their families.

These permanently interned prisoners are given opportunity to learn trades or to further their education. The Swiss universities have taken up the work of caring for students in internment, and these men are permitted to follow courses of study at the principal intellectual centers of Switzerland. They are, however, subject to the same military discipline in force in internment regions.

More than 50 shops have been opened at which the men are given employment. Thirty of these are in the part of Switzerland where the German prisoners are held; in the sections occupied by allied prisoners. Women have taken an active part in organizing "Pro Captives" work, and the list of articles produced in these shops include alpines, sweaters, socks, buttons and retain work done and carved woodwork, toys, hammocks, tennis nets, boxes and cushions, shades, candy boxes, calendars, shoes, electric lights and shades.

Outside the shops, the men are employed in agriculture, and as butchers, jewelers, furriers, gas fitters, gardeners, masons and glass and iron workers.

Work is obligatory for every interned man whose health permits it, but the prisoners work for their own welfare and re-education, not for the benefit of the Swiss.

The food supplies at the Swiss internment camps are ample. Recreation halls have been established near each of the internment centers, and Swiss philanthropic agencies, as well as the Y. M. C. A. and the Catholic Mission of Health, have done much to make the life of these interns not only bearable but measurably pleasant.

Tuesday will be Friendship day. Calls will be made at every home in Lakeside and the evangelistic party with the pastor will pay special visits to the sick and aged in the community who have been unable to attend the services.

Yesterday was a great day. From the opening of the morning service until the close of the evening meeting, great interest was shown. In the morning, the most impressive service of the campaign was held and we doubt that Mrs. Barr with her unlimited resources will be able to give anything to surpass the solemnity and impressiveness of this hour, when many came to the front to confess their belief in Jesus Christ or having previously accepted Him, came forward to renew their vows of allegiance to their Lord and Master. The entire audience seemed to be moved by the earnest appeal of the Quakers who is working her way into the hearts of the people. And moved everyone must have been whether they manifested their emotions by coming forward or not. If there were any who were not touched by the impressiveness of the occasion, they surely had hearts of stone. Mrs. Barr's subject was a most fitting one, "Leaving First Love." The message was full of tenderness, earnestness and appeal, depicting in a beautiful manner the first love of the maiden, the first love of the lover, the first love of the mother and father and finally the first love of the Saviour for us and our response to that love. She said that she pitied the man and woman who had lost their first love in the home where the orange blossoms had faded, where the altar fires of love had kindled. God himself only can kindle those fires if they have been allowed to die out. In the afternoon the church was well filled by an audience of men who listened with great intensity and responsive hearts to the wonderful address of the evangelist on "Kings that Need Killing." This was conceded by all to have been one of the finest addresses yet given in Mrs. Barr. Let us say that it was a most impressive service. At the close of an inspiring service, during which time little Lorraine Ford and Doris Smith gave readings, Mr. Baldom sang with great effectiveness the beautiful solo, "What Will You Do with Jesus?" and this song made all hearts receptive for the message which followed on the same subject. Mrs. Barr depicted the trial of Jesus Christ in Pilate's hall, the crowd clamoring for His crucifixion, the cowardice of Pilate and all the scenes attending, in such a vivid and realistic manner that her audience was spell bound and no one in the church but felt the question brought home to him or her individually "What Will You Do with Jesus?" At the close of the sermon, many came forward and took a stand on the side of Christ.

FINAL WEEK OF BIG REVIVAL MEETING

Special Program Arranged for Each Night—Get-Together Supper Tonight.

The evangelistic services being held at the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church by Mrs. Daisy Barr and party will come to a close Sunday night. A special program has been arranged for each night this week as follows:

Tonight will be get together supper for the men at which time the organization for the furtherance of the work of this campaign will be completed.

Subjects for the week:

Tuesday night—"Can We Love Our Enemies?"

Wednesday night—"Is Christ Coming Again and When?"

Thursday night—"What Shall We Expect After Death?"

Friday night—"What is the Bible?"

Saturday night—"The Serpent's Sting."

Sunday morning 10:45—"Is Christ the Son of God?"

Special attention must be given for each night.

If Bill Get's Army's Goat He'll Be Loser

He's Sam Frisco, and he's mascot of an ammunition train wagon company at Camp Lewis, Wash. He's whetting his horns to give "Kaiser Bill" a ride. Postscript—Look out Bill.

The same hour Miss Mason to women only on "A Vision."

Sunday night—"The Ink Man."

Tuesday will be Friendship day. Calls will be made at every home in Lakeside and the evangelistic party with the pastor will pay special visits to the sick and aged in the community who have been unable to attend the services.

Yesterday was a great day. From the opening of the morning service until the close of the evening meeting, great interest was shown. In the morning, the most impressive service of the campaign was held and we doubt that Mrs. Barr with her unlimited resources will be able to give anything to surpass the solemnity and impressiveness of this hour, when many came to the front to confess their belief in Jesus Christ or having previously accepted Him, came forward to renew their vows of allegiance to their Lord and Master. The entire audience seemed to be moved by the earnest appeal of the Quakers who is working her way into the hearts of the people. And moved everyone must have been whether they manifested their emotions by coming forward or not. If there were any who were not touched by the impressiveness of the occasion, they surely had hearts of stone. Mrs. Barr's subject was a most fitting one, "Leaving First Love." The message was full of tenderness, earnestness and appeal, depicting in a beautiful manner the first love of the maiden, the first love of the lover, the first love of the mother and father and finally the first love of the Saviour for us and our response to that love. She said that she pitied the man and woman who had lost their first love in the home where the orange blossoms had faded, where the altar fires of love had kindled. God himself only can kindle those fires if they have been allowed to die out. In the afternoon the church was well filled by an audience of men who listened with great intensity and responsive hearts to the wonderful address of the evangelist on "Kings that Need Killing." This was conceded by all to have been one of the finest addresses yet given in Mrs. Barr. Let us say that it was a most impressive service. At the close of an inspiring service, during which time little Lorraine Ford and Doris Smith gave readings, Mr. Baldom sang with great effectiveness the beautiful solo, "What Will You Do with Jesus?" and this song made all hearts receptive for the message which followed on the same subject. TWENTY-TWO LOADS OF HAY BROUGHT TO TOWN

Fruit and Vegetable Prices Continue Unchanged—Local Markets.

Twenty-two loads of hay were weighed at the city scales with $26 as the top price. Further advances in hay, however, are not probable. One dollar and twenty-five cents was the top price paid for corn Monday. Three loads were brought to the city. Three loads of oats brought 73 cents.

Fruit and vegetable prices continue unchanged with the Christmas trade not showing particular effect yet. An advance of 2 cents per pound at local creameries today boosted the wholesale price of creamery butter to 51 cents per pound. While 60 cent pound tubs are now quoted at an even half dollar per pound wholesale, the one pound prints and thirty pound containers commanded 51 cents at all local dairy establishments today. It is problematical whether butter will go any higher at this time, although there is some indication that it may.

TWENTY-TWO LOADS OF HAY BROUGHT TO TOWN

Fruit and Vegetable Prices Continue Unchanged—Local Markets.

Twenty-two loads of hay were weighed at the city scales with $26 as the top price. Further advances in hay, however, are not probable. One dollar and twenty-five cents was the top price paid for corn Monday. Three loads of oats brought 73 cents. Fruit and vegetable prices continue unchanged with the Christmas trade not showing particular effect yet. An advance of 2 cents per pound at local creameries today boosted the wholesale price of creamery butter to 51 cents per pound. While 60 cent pound tubs are now quoted at an even half dollar per pound wholesale, the one pound prints and thirty pound containers commanded 51 cents at all local dairy establishments today. It is problematical whether butter will go any higher at this time, although there is some indication that it may.

AT THE MAJESTIC

BEN HUR SEAT SALE OPEN TODAY

Here are some interesting figures about the Klaw & Erlanger production of General Lee Wallace's "Ben Hur" at the Majestic theatre Dec. 20, 21, 22. There are 13,500 words in the manuscript of the play, read by seventeen principals in one hour and fifty eight minutes. The chorus sings twenty four minutes at each performance. There are seventeen scenes in the play. The canvas in these scenes would cover an area of 102,700 square feet. The entire scenery and properties, exclusive of the chariot race apparatus, weigh twenty one and a quarter tons. Forty men set and clear the stage of this equipment or handle it twice in thirty four minutes, the combined waits between the acts at each performance.

There are 375 lines, of about the size of clotheslines, used in suspending and holding the great drops or hanging pieces of scenery and as "strip lines." There are 150 feet of rope to each line, making 54,350 feet, or 10 1/2 miles of rope used in "Ben Hur." In the chariot race scene twenty horses are

GOODBYE BROADWAY.

Lively Little Farce With Joe Roberts and Big Company at Palace.

Goodbye Broadway, the delightful little farce with music in which Joe Roberts, the ponderous comedian and a company of snappy girls and funny folks are appearing at the New Palace, is a riotous sequence nonsense, feminine visions, lingerie and song niftily arranged with a world of intimate comedy stuff in which the audience is taken into the confidence of the artists and told about how it's all done behind the scenes. It is a Boby Woolfolk production and he has done himself proud for he has provided the farce with more talent than usually is afforded by two similar productions.

Alexandria, the master xylophonist, in a repertoire of classics, near classics, and straight jazz is a diverting artist, who is appearing as a special added attraction.

THE WAR IN THE HOLY LAND: LONG DREAM OF THE JEWS IS NEAR REALIZATION IN OLD PALESTINE

The Zion of Bible Times and the New Zion of Modern Israel's Cherished Vision Seem About to Blend in the Land of the Fathers.

BY HERMAN BERNSTEIN.
Editor of the American Hebrew.
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Joy was brought to the hearts of millions of Jews throughout the world last November 3 when Arthur Balfour, British foreign minister, wrote to Sir Lionel Rothschild, vice president of the Zionist organization of England, that the British government viewed with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jews.

But these were the joys of anticipation, the Jews having been prepared for this official declaration by a semi-official statement issued by General Sir Archibald Murray in March, just before his army reached Gaza.

"What shall we do with Palestine, which is now about to be stripped from the Turkish yoke?" he inquired, and answering his own question, he said: "Beyond doubt we will revive the Jewish Palestine of ancient days, and give to the Jews the possibility of realizing their ancient hope. Not all Jews will return to Palestine, but large numbers of them will. The new Jewish state, under either English or French protection, will become the spiritual and cultural center of all Jewry. The Jews will at last have their own nationality. Hopes which have sustained them through the centuries will now be realized."

Statesmen of Italy, France and Russia have politically pledged their countries support of this plan.

The pope recently received a Zionist emissary who explained the Zionist aspiration. After listening intently, his holiness ejaculated: "We will be good neighbors—we will be good neighbors."

Whether by coincidence or design, it is noteworthy that the American council in London, extending its greetings to the Zionist leaders on the official declaration in their favor by the British government, used the identical phrase that fell from the lips of the pope.

Germany, too, indicated its willingness to permit a Jewish state in Palestine, naturally under its overlordship. But since England's declaration, there has been a revival of feeling in Teutonic circles.

Since the fall of Jerusalem before the overwhelming legions of Rome, and the Jewish dispersion from Palestine, the liturgy of that people has been burdened with prayers for the restoration. Through the centuries there have been various attempts to re-establish the Jewish people on their ancient land, but nothing of a serious character is recorded prior to 1860, when the "Alliance Israelite Universelle" of Paris began operating in Palestine. The first thing done by the alliance was to establish an agricultural school, for which the Turkish government donated 625 acres of land near Jaffa. A school was opened in 1870 under the name of "Mikvah Israel."

In 1873 Laurence Oliphant, an English explorer, visited Palestine and became an advocate of Jewish resettlement of the country. But not until the 80's when the first Jewish massacres occurred in Russia, was the foundation laid for the present Jewish colonization. There were organized, throughout Russia, "Bilu" societies, composed of intelligent Jewish young men who determined to become pioneers of Palestine colonization.

Under their auspices a colony "Rishon Le Zion" (First for Zion) was established on the road between Jaffa and Jerusalem. They found a land arid, barren, waterless, exposed to the pitiless glare of the tropical sun, rotting in miasm and swamp, and were almost entirely surrounded by savage nomads.

We are thrilled with the story of the Pilgrim Fathers who fought their way to success from the precarious foothold in bleak Plymouth. All the valor and the unquenchable courage of the Pilgrim Fathers was displayed by these Jewish young men from the universities of Russia. In 32 years, from 1882-1914, this handful of pioneers grew to some 15,000 Jewish farmers in Palestine, strongly organized in 40 villages.

Meanwhile the Dreyfus scandal had occurred in France, and Dr. Theodor Herzl, Viennese journalist who reported the last trial of the historic scapegoat, published a brochure entitled "A Jewish State," in which he summoned the Jews of the world to revive their nationality and claim at the hands of the powers "a publicly recognized, legally secured homeland in Palestine." Inspired by this book, a call was issued for a congress, which was held in Basle, Switzerland, in 1897, and the Zionist organization, which today has branches throughout the world, was organized. The Zionist organization undertook firstly, political negotiations for recognition of the Jewish nationality and its claim on Palestine; and secondly, the fostering of a national colonization in the Holy Land.

In the last few years before the war there arose a number of large plantation societies ("Achuzoth"), which were founded in Russia, the United States, England and Rumania. Several workmen's settlements have been founded during the last few years mostly with the help of the Jewish national fund, in the neighborhood of the large colonies. At the same time the former colonies have been considerably enlarged by the purchase of land in their neighborhood.

A brisk influx of brave young laborers on the one hand, and of enterprising capitalists on the other, was particularly noticeable in Palestine during the last few years before the war.

The Jewish population of Palestine now bears a higher proportion to the total number of inhabitants of the country than does the Jewish population in any other country of the world. The old Jewish settlers the those whose religious sentiment drew them to Palestine, in most cases after they have passed the prime of life, to spend their remaining years in prayer and study on holy grounds. For the most part they have been from the outset, or have become in the course of time, dependent on charity. This evil has extended to their children, and their children's children.

Very different are the settlers of the new type who went there under the impulse of Jewish nationalism. They sought a foothold in the plains of Judaea and Galilee. As their agricultural colonies grew and their productivity increased, they brought business to the seaport towns of Jaffa and Haifa, and side by side with the development of the colonies there proceeded a rapid Jewish immigration into those two towns. Settlers of the new type began to come also to Jerusalem, where, as in the other towns, they formed modern suburbs outside the old and overcrowded city. In town and country alike the new settlers have brought with them European energy and ideals of progress.

The Arabs have not unreasonably felt some jealousy of the Jewish colonies, which compare so favorably with their own primitive villages, but they realize that economically the coming of the Jewish settlers has been greatly to their advantage, and they have accepted it as a matter of course that the Jewish colonies shall make their own local laws and regulations, as they build their own homes. Thus the Jewish colonies in Palestine have enjoyed a measure of independence and self-government which will be impossible in a more highly developed and closely controlled country. They have had to work out for themselves their own political and municipal problems.

Mr. Bernstein will tell tomorrow about the first battle in this war, which was fought not in Belgium, but in Palestine.

DOES SWEARING IN HUNGARIAN LANGUAGE

William Trevaten Uses Diplomacy in Cussing in Company.

A short uninteresting session featured Monday's police court. William Trevaten, arrested for using profanity in public, had his case continued indefinitely. The man was arrested on an affidavit filed by his uncle who said the young man used considerable "cuss" words at a family reunion of colored people. Most of the "cussing" was in Hungarian, however, according to the uncle's testimony, and Judge Kerr ruled that the case be continued inasmuch as none of the guests could understand that language.

AUSTRO-GERMANS DRIVEN BACK IN ITALY

ATTACKING FORCES HURLED BACK UPON LINES IN DISORDER

Italian War Office Reports a Severe Repulse of the Invaders on the West Front of the Piave.

THE BRITISH NOW IN ACTION IN ITALY

Rome, Dec. 17.—Austro-German forces which attacked the Italian lines on the northern front from the direction of San Martino were driven back to disorder, the war office announces today.

In the Col Caprille region the Italians attacked and then were counter attacked. Finally the enemy had to withdraw to the positions from which he started.

BRITISH IN THE BATTLE

Berlin, Dec. 17.—British troops on the Italian front yesterday launched an attack against the Austro-German lines south of Monte Fontana Secca, but it broke down before the Teuton positions, the German war office announced today.

CHEC GERMAN ATTACK

Rome, Sunday, Dec. 16.—There was little infantry fighting on the front between the Brenta and Piave Saturday and one hostile attack was checked, the official statement from the war office today says. There was much artillery fighting on the northern front. The statement continues: "At the delta of the Piave, a storming platoon, well supported by an armored motor boat, destroyed one of the enemy's small bridges and patrols, consisting of sailors, attacked some houses occupied by the enemy and captured a number of prisoners. Along the remainder of the front the fighting was normal."

"On the night of the 14th-15th movements of troops within the enemy's lines of communication was observed effectively by our airplanes. A hostile airplane was brought down by British airmen near Ormele and one of our airmen accounted for another machine west of the Sarca valley."

NOTHING NEW ON WEST FRONT

London, Dec. 17.—"There is nothing of special interest to report," says the official announcement today from the war office.

BRITISH IN AIR RAID

London, Dec. 17.—The British statement on aerial operations issued last night reads: "Although the weather was fine Saturday, a very high wind and ground mist interfered with reconnaissance and artillery work. Many rounds were fired during the day into

EVERY EFFORT FOR ORDNANCE

General Crozier's Official Report Vindicates War Department.

MACHINE GUNS ARE NOW COMING ALONG Work on Heaviest Artillery Slow and a Bit Disappointing.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—Army ordnance conditions at the beginning of the present fiscal year are treated only briefly by Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance in the annual report of his bureau made public today. Since the review was written General Crozier has furnished the senate military committee a much more complete record of what has been done to arm the forces in France or under training in the United States.

The report shows that up to June 30 orders have been placed for one million Enfield rifles, details for the re-chambering of the British standard gun for American ammunition having been completed June 12.

Machine Gun Equipment.

On the machine gun construction Gen. Crozier says that several types of weapon had been found efficient by the machine gun board but that procurement of an adequate supply was a question of securing deliveries.

"In other words," he adds, "the number of machine guns on hand when war was declared was so small that it was necessary to keep going at the greatest possible capacity those machine gun factories which were already in operation and to utilize their output when the guns so manufactured had been reported by the board as efficient, even though they may not have been reported as most efficient."

"Every energy has been bent to secure satisfactory output and considerable progress in this direction is being made. Funds appropriated to date are adequate for the purpose."

Or French Caliber.

It is shown in the report that all American field guns are to be similar in caliber to the French "seventy-fives" which have been so much discussed since the war began.

The French semi-automatic breech mechanism also has been adopted in modified form so that American and French batteries in France can be served from the same ammunition factories. Anti-aircraft guns of the "seventy-fives" type also have been adopted.

Both these and the machine guns are under manufacture in quantity, the report says. A considerable number of the anti-aircraft guns figured for mounting on motor trucks, also had been ordered.

The report shows that 3.3 inch and six-inch howitzers, the guns principally used for barrage work in trench fighting, were designed and ready for manufacture on June 30. Gen. Crozier expresses appreciation of the co-operation of French and British ordnance experts in turning out these guns.

Big Caliber Guns Come Slowly.

The production of large caliber mobile artillery, that is, weapons of the type of the German forty-two centimetre guns, appears to be the chief source of delay in the army's equipment. Gen. Crozier says a process of supplying our troops with these guns "necessarily will be slow and disappointing, although every advantage has been taken of the assistance secured from abroad."

NO TAX REFORM THIS SESSION.

TO GIVE THEM COMMISSIONS

General Pershing's Plans to Find Officers in the Ranks.

ALL NON-COMS ARE TO BE ELIGIBLE

Great School for Education and Training to be Kept in France.

With the American Army in France, Sunday, Dec. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The orders just issued by Gen. Pershing providing for a system of promotion from the ranks, under which any private who demonstrates his ability may win a commission, makes all non-commissioned officers, even corporals, eligible for a school which is being established at a large training center for the instruction of candidates for commissions. Privates who desire to become officers must first demonstrate their efficiency by earning appointment as non-commissioned officers.

The non-commissioned officers will be sent to the training school on recommendation of their superiors, which will be forwarded by the commanders of divisions or other separate units and by the chiefs of departmental staffs to the commander in chief.

When candidates attending the training school have been found to be proficient they will be assigned to vacancies as second lieutenants of replacement divisions. Thence they will go to fill vacancies occasioned by casualties and other causes in combat divisions. There will be no limit to the number of second lieutenants in the replacement divisions. On the contrary it is recommended that there be at least three times as many in a given division as in the combat divisions.

TO BE ELIGIBLE

When the armistice agreement between the Russian government and the central powers goes into effect on the eastern front today the emissaries of the several countries will begin negotiations looking toward peace between Russia and her former enemies. Meanwhile it is indicated in London that the allied powers may be preparing to deal more sympathetically with the Bolshevik government.

The armistice between Russia and the central powers is to continue for 28 days and for an indefinite period afterward unless a seven days notice is given. Both sides agreed not to carry on military transfers on the eastern theatre except those begun when the treaty was signed.

London newspapers forecast that the allies will give recognition of the Bolshevik "in order to prevent Russia from passing under the political and economic heel of Germany." Great Britain is said to have decided to release Tchitcherine, a Russian political prisoner, and the Bolsheviks are now permitting British subjects to leave Russia. To the American delegates at the Paris conference is said to belong the credit for tempering of the allied attitude toward the Bolsheviks.

Labor strikes appear to be the great obstacle before the Bolsheviks at present, especially in the Petrograd district. The railway and fuel situations are serious. The counter revolt is

CONSCRIPTION FACING CRISIS

Canadian Elections Today to Determine Spirit of Dominion in War.

BOTH SIDES ARE QUITE CONFIDENT

Women and Soldiers Are Depended Upon to Uphold Borden Ministry.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 17.—Upon the decision today of the voters throughout the dominion rests the fate of the new union government which, if retained in office, will enforce selective conscription fill the ranks of the Canadian army overseas. Opposing Sir Robert Borden, leader of the union forces, is the veteran liberal leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who proposes a referendum as an alternative to the compulsory conscription law, pledging the liberals to abide by the will of the voters.

The polls opened at 5 o'clock this morning and will close at 5 p. m. By acclamation already made, eighteen Laurier and eleven Borden supporters have been returned without opposition. Four contests have been deferred, leaving decisions to be given in 202 constituencies. It is estimated that there are a million and a quarter male domestic voters, three hundred thousand overseas soldiers' votes and probably half a million women who are permitted to vote through relationship with soldiers in service. Both the Borden and the Laurier managers express confidence, while the prevailing belief is that the decision will be given by the soldier and the women voters. The government bases its hopes on the soldier and women elements to retain the Borden ministry and confirm conscriptions with heavy majorities.

LITTLE LIGHT IS SHED BY REPORT ON AIR PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 17.—The tremendous air program of the American army is dismissed with a brief paragraph on the liberty motor in the annual report today of the chief signal officer of the army directly in charge of the work. The statement on the liberty motor concludes:

"The liberty engine, which for power, lightness and efficiency compares favorably with the best European types, was under development in June."

Other statements in the report as to the expansion of the signal service and the aviation section are so remote from conditions today, although they were made only a few months ago, that they furnish no additional information as to what the signal corps is doing.

CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM

Detailed Account of Fall of the Holy City is Furnished.

BRITISH HAD HARD MARCH AND BATTLE

Turks Fought With Much Spirit to Save Their Seat in Palestine.

London, Dec. 17.—In attacks preceding the surrender of Jerusalem, the Turks employed storming troops in successive assaults on Nebi Samuel northwest of the Holy City, then held by London troops, according to a Reuter despatch from British headquarters in Palestine. The despatch which was sent by airplane gives details of the capture and the entry into Jerusalem.

The final Turkish attack was preceded by such a heavy shelling that it appeared the enemy was confident the British would be blown off the summit, but all their attacks were repulsed sanguinarily. The Turks held a strong line west, south and northeast of Jerusalem. They were well provided with machine guns and their artillery dominated the crests over which the British should have to advance. Some Turkish guns were placed just outside the city walls, making it impossible to reply to their fire without endangering the town.

Roads Almost Impassable.

"A torrential rain made the roads impassable," the correspondent continues, "while a chilly east wind pierced the sudden soldiers to the bone. The problems of supply and transport almost drove us to despair. The camels were unable to continue a foothold on the slippery paths. Nevertheless, the food and ammunition supply was maintained fully."

"On the night of Dec. 7, when our attack began we moved up under cover of darkness, the attack pivoting on Nebi Samuel from which the Londoners advanced eastward toward Jerusalem while their troops ascended the Hebron road threatening the town from the south."

"They found Hebron evacuated, but encountered resistance around Bethlehem, where the Turks also had posted guns so that counter-battery work would endanger the sacred village. Hence our troops had the disagreeable experience of being shelled without the ability to reply. But they pressed forward and by noon of the eighth we were two miles north of Bethlehem."

On the Judean Hills.

"The Londoners had a hard task on the steep slopes of the Judean hills, where it was impossible to bring field guns to their support, but some mountain batteries and howitzers rendered magnificent service and by seven in the morning the Londoners had stormed and captured all the enemy works of the town. The Turks still held the last line on the ridge overlooking Jerusalem, having posted numerous machine guns in the houses of the Jewish and German colonists in the outskirts of the town."

Welsh troops advancing from the south pushed across the road east of Jerusalem leading to Jericho and thrust back Turkish reinforcements advancing alone this road to succor Jerusalem. In the course of all these operations they captured nearly 1,000 prisoners in addition to 700 wounded Turks in hospitals in Jerusalem.

Praise for Staff Work.

"The wonderful co-ordination of all our movements in itself speaks praise for the admirable staff work. Of conditions in Jerusalem I learned that in the early days of the war and the abortive Turkish attacks against the Suez canal, the Turkish losses in pack animals exceeded 45,000 dead from neglect, lack of food and overwork. The people were so famished from hunger that they used to fight for the bodies of the animals that died in and about the town. Then there was suspicion and persecution."

"Everybody suspected of sympathizing with the allies were imprisoned or killed. Many persons were executed. Among these was the Mufti of Gaza, belonging to a distinguished Arab family, who, after an attempt to escape, was captured and hanged with his son."

TEXT OF TRUCE FORMED ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT

Russo-German Pact Provides That Kaiser Is Not for the Time to Transfer Troops to Other Fronts.

ATTEMPTS TO BIND ALLIES ON SEAS

UNITED STATES HOLDING OFF

Washington, Dec. 17.—Recognition of the Bolshevik government by the United States still is remote, it was indicated today at the state department. Reports in Europe suggesting a developing sentiment in favor of dealing the new regime as a de facto government have found no response here and it was made plain that the United States would continue its policy of awaiting developments. Reports from Ambassador Francis are now being checked through with more regularity, but consuls in many parts of the country appear unable to communicate with Petrograd.

It was suggested here that one of the direct results of the armistice between the German and Russian armies might be the financing of the Bolsheviks by Germany with paper money. When the war began Russian money was being printed in Germany and the plates are still in Berlin.

Diplomatic dispatches to the state department from Teheran, Persia, contained an appeal for relief of the famine suffering people in that region.

Petrograd, Sunday, Dec. 16.—The terms of the Russo-German armistice, according to a statement issued here, obligate no transference of troops until January 14, (Jan. 1, Russian); no increase of troops on the fronts or of the islands in the Moon Sound or a re-grouping of forces.

The Germans are not to concentrate troops between the Black sea and the Baltic east of the 15th degree of longitude east of Greenwich.

Inter-course between the troops may be allowed from sunrise to sunset.

Groups are limited to 25 persons at a time who may exchange newspapers and unsealed mails and who may carry on trade and exchange articles of prime necessity.

A special agreement will be made by the naval general staff regarding the extension of the armistice to the White sea and the Russian coast in the Arctic zone. It is agreed also that attacks on war and commercial vessels must stop in these regions in order to avoid attacks in other seas.

The armistice on the naval front embraces all of the Black sea and the Baltic sea east of the meridian, 15 degrees east of Greenwich. The demarkation line fixed for the Black sea is from the light house of Slinka to the Estuary of the Danube to Cape Garas. In the Baltic the line runs from Reval to the western coast of Vornis is said to the island of Bagher to Kibaru.

House Will Take Vote Late on Resolution to Amend Constitution.

Resolution Has Passed the Senate, But Will Have to be Modified.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Both wet and dry predicted victory today when the house launched into a six hour debate which is to close at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the prohibition constitutional amendment.

The drys admitted that the wets had been gaining strength for several days but claimed twenty votes to spare over the necessary two thirds.

The wets gave no figures and predicted the defeat of the resolution by a narrow but safe margin.

Although the resolution has already passed the senate it will not be out of the woods until it passes the house.

As the debate ran on representative Barkley, of Kentucky, one of the prohibition leaders, claimed that a complete canvass of the state delegations indicated adoption of the resolution by a margin of 15 votes over the necessary two thirds.

As presented to the house, the resolution requires ratification by three-fourths of the states within seven years, while the draft approved by the senate last August fixes a time limit of six years for state action.

Favorable action by the house today means the difference must be adjusted in conference and the conference report adopted by both bodies before it is submitted to the state. It is apparent no indicate smoothing out processes can be completed before the Christmas adjournment tomorrow.

Representative Cooper, of Ohio, for the amendment told the house: "You look into a hat band or a coat to see if it bears a union label but you look in vain into the whisky bottle for a union label."

DAY'S WAR SUMMARY.

(By the Associated Press.)

When the armistice agreement between the Russian government and the central powers goes into effect on the eastern front today the emissaries of the several countries will begin negotiations looking toward peace between Russia and her former enemies. Meanwhile it is indicated in London that the allied powers may be preparing to deal more sympathetically with the Bolshevik government.

The armistice between Russia and the central powers is to continue for 28 days and for an indefinite period afterward unless a seven days notice is given. Both sides agreed not to carry on military transfers on the eastern theatre except those begun when the treaty was signed.

London newspapers forecast that the allies will give recognition of the Bolshevik "in order to prevent Russia from passing under the political and economic heel of Germany." Great Britain is said to have decided to release Tchitcherine, a Russian political prisoner, and the Bolsheviks are now permitting British subjects to leave Russia. To the American delegates at the Paris conference is said to belong the credit for tempering of the allied attitude toward the Bolsheviks.

Labor strikes appear to be the great obstacle before the Bolsheviks at present, especially in the Petrograd district. The railway and fuel situations are serious. The counter revolt is still more or less of a menace to Bolshevik authority and the constituent assembly is another knotty problem. The confiscation of all property, lands and money of the Russian church has been decreed by the Bolsheviks, who also have abolished all privileges of the clergy.

Except on the short stretch between the Brenta and Piave rivers there has been no marked infantry activity on the front from the north sea to the Adriatic. Although their losses have been heavy, the Austro-Germans continue their strong attacks in an effort to break the Italian northern defense. In hard fighting just east of the Brenta the enemy has gained Col Caprille, at the head of the San Lorenzo valley; after two attacks had been repulsed. The invaders have not yet reached the valley further efforts here having been checked by the Italians.

British troops on the Cambrai front have repulsed raids by infantry and by bombing parties on the southern end of the new salient. South of Lens the British improved their position. The artillery battle has been more marked south of the Scarpe in the Arras area and north of Langemarck in Flanders. In Chapagne, north of the Chemin des Dames and south of St. Quentin German efforts have been checked by the French, while intermittent artillery has been continued over a greater part

HORSE KILLED BUT DRIVER ONLY INJURED

Fast Pennsy Train Gives Frank Brenner Sudden Awakening at Nevada.

The second section of the eastbound passenger train, No. 6, on the Pennsylvania, crashed into a buggy on the Morrison street crossing in Nevada, O., at 4:14 o'clock Saturday night, demolishing the vehicle, killing the horse and injuring Frank Brenner, the sole occupant of the buggy. His right shoulder was broken and he sustained a painful scalp wound, but escaped serious injury. Brenner had the curtains of the buggy drawn tightly and was either asleep or did not hear the warning cry of the watchman and a spectator, who attempted to grab the bridle of the horse, but failed. Brenner is forty-five years old, married and has one child. The family reside in Edenville, where Mr. Brenner was going when he met with the accident. The train was running at the usual speed, not being scheduled for stop at Nevada. It was in charge of Conductor James Breen and Engineer F. Paul.

WHY IT'S "DIFFERENT" At Patterson-Fletcher Co.

When anyone in this store asks, "How may I serve you?" he means just what he says—he really wants to serve. That doesn't mean "sell you something," it means giving you just what you want; you may want to look at the telephone book or leave a message for a friend; whatever it is, you'll be as cheerfully received and as carefully taken care of as if you were buying a dozen suits. That's what we mean when we say, our service is different; you'll appreciate it—everybody does.

CONSERVATION OF GAS NECESSARY

Local Plant is Not Able to Get Sufficient Amount of Supplies.

The Northern Indiana Gas & Electric company issues the following warning: "Owing to this company being unable to secure sufficient material in the manufacture of gas, and in view of the extraordinary and unusual scarcity of all fuel material, consumers are cautioned to conserve gas in every way possible. If this is not done, it will soon be necessary to turn off metres until such times as it is possible to obtain sufficient material in the manufacture of gas."

"It is up to the government to relieve the shortage of material in the manufacture of gas," said S. E. Mulholland, vice-president of the Northern Indiana Gas & Electric company, Monday.

There is an alarming scarcity of material used in the manufacture of gas. The shortage is in gas coal, gas oil and coke. Unless the situation is not relieved in a day or two there will be an absolute necessity in cutting down the quantity used by consumers in Fort Wayne. The use of gas must be cut down to the very lowest quantity. If this is not done there will be grave danger of being necessitated in shutting down the plant.

This is the situation exactly without an exaggeration. The fact of the matter is, that the company has not been able for some weeks past to get the required quantities of material used.

The contracts which the Gas company hold with miners of gas coal, have been ignored. This is caused by the railways being choked. The gas company of Detroit informed Mr. Mulholland, that they had certain information that there were over 600 cars of coal on the side tracks of the C. & O. railway in West Virginia waiting to go forward, but that that company have nowhere near the number of locomotives necessary to move it.

The situation as it now stands is up to Dr. Garfield and the government. If Fort Wayne cannot get the coal there will be no gas. In this particular gas service is unlike electric, water or steam plants. These services can be instantly renewed in case of temporary suspension of a shortage of fuel, but not so with gas.

Pure Linen Initial Handkerchiefs, 50c. PATTERSON-FLETCHER CO.

IN CASE SHORTAGE INCREASES.

If the situation continues there will be no other alternative for the gas company but to shut off every individual gas consumer's metre, and after gas is turned into the line, then it will be their duty to make a second trip and turn them on again. In every case this will have to be done gradually. It must not be forgotten, that when sufficient materials have been received that it will be some time before the normal supply will be available; perhaps as long as from one to three weeks.

In summing up there is an unusual and extraordinary condition prevailing. It demands the greatest possible conservation of the use of gas by every consumer in Fort Wayne. The company must not be blamed for this condition, they are doing everything within their power to keep customers supplied, but government relief from fuel headquarters is the only remedy.

TOLEDO MILLIONAIRE WAS KILLED BY POISON

Chicago Physician Who Was Final Attendant Tells Coroner That.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—The death of Lucius B. Berdan, millionaire of Toledo, O., in a hospital here last Wednesday was due to poison in the opinion of Dr. H. F. Port who attended him during an attack of convulsions at a hotel here before taken to the hospital. Investigation into the death of Berdan has already been started by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman and today he expected to receive the report of Dr. W. D. McNally, coroner's chemist who is perfecting an analysis of the stomach contents. "Undoubtedly the convulsions were brought on by poisoning," said Dr. Port. "I thought so much of it that I notified Dr. Joseph Springer, the coroner's physician, of my suspicions, and also that I had preserved the stomach contents. It looks mighty queer."

Four other physicians who attended the post mortem examination expressed the opinion that Berdan's death was caused by interstitial nephritis but admitted the possibility of poisoning.

The Store That Does Things Wayne and Harrison

BUSIEST WEEK OF THE ENTIRE YEAR

Suburban Shopping Day
Will Bring Many to Town
Wednesday.

In anticipation of the busiest week of the entire year, the Fort Wayne merchants are not only arranging their goods for the most attractive display, but extra salespeople are engaged to care for the crowds which will be coming this week, especially on Wednesday, suburban day. Many have been prevented from coming to the city on account of the cold weather, but the time is now so short that it will be necessary to come now in order to meet the necessities of the season's shopping.

With the exceptional attractive "specials" which will be announced through the Sentinel tomorrow, this issue of the paper may well be taken as a guide to the very best things that are in store for the people this week.

With the Red Cross membership campaign now on, every element of Christmas seems to be centering upon the present work. In these days of sacrifice, of the warm-hearted consideration of the welfare of others, the Christmas spirit was never more clearly manifested than right now. So, the giving of gifts will be just as widespread and generous as ever before, and each gift will bear its message of love and tenderness as never before.

This week promises great things for both merchant and patron, and all who can arrange to come to the city this week Wednesday will be amply repaid for the time and energy required.

BOLSHEVIKI ON TOP.

It matters nothing how we view it—how fatuous it may appear as an undertaking nor how much it may injure democracy's cause—there is no reason to doubt that the Bolsheviks are on top in Russia. The strength of the extreme element is amazing and unaccountable, but it is undeniable.

The uprisings instigated against the Bolsheviks by Generals Gaidines, Korniloff and others have been put down. The elements relied upon by the more moderate factors in Russia to support their cause have proved weak and undependable. Lenin and Trotsky are the rulers of Russia and their rule is of iron. It is hinted that back of these radical agitators is some concealed strong force—some masterful hand—that knows the one way by which to drive Russia. There is something in the suggestion. It is not easily conceivable that a pair of street jawpers like Lenin and Trotsky can possess the character and force and the genius of a masterful leadership to make unrelenting headway against the best and strongest democratic opinion and statesmanship in that vast empire of near two hundred millions of people. That is the fact of contemporary history, but is not the explanation.

The undertaking of the Bolsheviks for an armistice has succeeded and the sequence of that, which is to be the conclusion of a definite peace, appears to be following fast. It will be the fault wholly of the kaiser and his war cabinet if war with Russia be not brought wholly to an end on terms that will profit the German empire greatly so long as that peace shall endure. Just how long that may be no one can say, because no one can say for what tenure the present regime in Russia is to have its way. The Bolsheviks has mastered the situation. Whether or not it has mastered the masses of Russia for good and all is a chapter yet to be written. Robespierre, Marat and Danton, that bloody triumvirate of the French revolution, held fast to affairs and ruled without question and without ruth until in the climax of that red terror they had conjured the people began to take counsel of their fears and the triumvirate fell, while France hailed the advent of a tyrant as the second triumph of her freedom.

It may not so fall out in Russia, but in the fondness of history for repeating herself she will find no stage more amply set for repetition of what transpired in France during the final decade of the Eighteenth century than in the land of the Muscovite in the second decade of the twentieth. What seems to be going on there now is the tyranny of democracy. Whatever stands in the way of the Bolsheviks is ridden down and run over. Only Bolsheviks successes in the elections are recognized. Only Bolsheviks delegates to the constituent assembly can have seats. It is rule or ruin—Bolsheviks or nothing. That can only mean either complete anarchy or an ultimate recrudescence of the despotism.

It is a singular political and social drama that is transpiring in Russia today. Nothing quite like has ever passed into human ken and it can be watched by the world with an interest altogether apart from its bearing on the fate of democracy in its life and death struggle with the mad ambitions of the Prussian military autocracy.

IS A STRICKEN WORLD'S NEED.

Almost the whole world stands today in need of the ministrations of the Red Cross. The havoc created by the war will not end with the war. If the great strife were to be brought tomorrow to conclusion in a peace humanity could trust there would remain a gigantic task for the Red Cross.

In France, in Belgium, in Poland, in Italy, in Serbia, in Rumania and throughout Western Asia humanity is prostrate under its desolation and its woe. All that the less stricken part of the world can do with America's great aid to relieve distress and agony in those crushed and bleeding lands will be none too much.

But the war is not going to end tomorrow and it is not, so far as mind now can penetrate the future, going to end soon. This nation is just beginning to put its strength into the conflict. Where we now have perhaps two or three hundred thousands of troops in the theater of war we shall have a year hence perhaps two or three millions. Whatever the need put upon this country to furnish men must be met. We must make the Red Cross organization for war work adequate to meet the necessities of a huge participation in the conflict. We must do more. We must make our Red Cross strong enough to serve also our allies, who are becoming destitute of all sorts of means to carry on the work of mercy. Human as well as financial and material resources have been critically diminished abroad by the unexampled stresses of more than three years of the bitterest war ever waged.

The war will vastly increase the work of the Red Cross here at home. That must be kept in mind and prepared for. While ministering to want and woe over seas we cannot neglect want and woe in our own midst. That by itself will constitute a prodigious task once America has gone far enough into the strife to have felt its desolations.

For our duty while the war lasts and for the tasks that will lie over half a world in the wake of the war we must make ourselves altogether ready. This week the great drive for the American Red Cross is on. It is the Christmas drive. When it is brought to a conclusion it is hoped that it will show the membership brought up to fifteen millions in the United States. That is a vast membership, to be sure, but it will mean but one in every seven of our population—not a great percentage in a patriotic and humane labor that should interest and enlist the fervor and service of all.

Get the Red Cross service flag in your window. Get the Red Cross Christmas spirit in your heart. Do it this week. Join the drive.

RATHER DRAGGING IT.

The senate pounced with some ferocity upon La Follette before the end of the last session of congress and began to prepare the skids for his exit from that body. Some headway was made and then the end of the session approached. The inquiry was put over until this session.

So far nothing doing. Congress is about to adjourn for the holiday recess and so there is no hope of anything doing until the statesmen come back from their yuletide rejoicings to take up once again the burdens of national assembly—including La Follette.

It may be that the last has been heard of that inquiry, begun with much noise of wrath. It is notable that when the senate voted on the resolution to declare war against Austria the Wisconsin senator made it unanimous by slipping from the chamber and hiding out until after the vote had been taken.

We make no accusations—do not even conjure a suspicion—but there may have been a deal of method in La Follette's retreat from the chamber while the war resolution was up. There have been—but that's suspecting and "suspicioning," and we disclaim that.

Perhaps the senate may consider it better to keep La Follette in its midst and also quiet than to give him the boot to the skids and the skids to the street. He could make quite a deal of a holler about that and would. A silent, tractable, well-behaved and chastened La Follette would be something of a drawing card in the senate.

There is no other movement in which a few pennies from everybody can do so much good as in the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign. That touches light upon the giver, makes him no trouble in giving, is all net gain to the cause and in the aggregate makes up a formidable war fund with which to rout the white plague.

No one can accuse the Bolsheviks of any want of energy and capacity. The fashion it has put down the rebellions that have flamed up here and there testifies to the good faith and ability of somebody who is running the big show in Petrograd.

A service flag, a Red Cross flag and a national food saving card in the window all join to give a good testimony to the patriotism that has its abode under that roof.

Taking Mr. Hoover's word for it, the sugar king is not in any sense a Santa Claus Spreckles at all. He's for getting, not giving.

I cannot sing the old songs now—
The old songs are no more.
The lino-man has set them up,
And melted them down, Astoria!

The colyum's pulse is loud and strong,
But, oh the end is near!

This colyum's shroud is spun.
I cannot sing the old songs now,
So I'll go and get a bun!

(What you really mean, ole pal, is that you'll "go an' get on a bun." And that, of course, is what we'll all do. Hey, Gany, bring us an abanthe a t, an' be quick abahit it!)

Lay on, Macduff, and a-h-med be he who first says, "Is it cold enough?"

Just remember, please, that the old guy who remarked that if we did not hang together we'd hang separately knew what he was spouting about.

We trust there is no truth in the hint that the senate is to be provided with anti-air-drift guns.

The way congress is playing silent thunder with the commercial robbers leads us to wonder who has been "spurious vernubt."

Probably the Hun will feel a bit disappointed because business prevents his wintering in southern Italy.

A good deal of the world's work is done by sawed-off dubs—of which we one, but not a w. k. one.

We observe with howls of approbation the little house-furnishings sign: "Marry, and avoid cold weather."

As we affixed our thrift stamp to the little yellow card this morning we overheard a wealthy "pro" remark in a painfully aloud aside that the reason why some folks never get along is because they always throw away their money on new things. Boots for the American Teuts.

We're forty-two, fat, half-blind, and with a heart like a leaky pump, but if Uncle Sam needs us we're ready. (The only man we ever felt like shooting was an American German—who was born in America by mistake.)

Terrible Swears.

As Private Thompson used to say,
He couldn't stand the war;
He cursed about it every day,
And every night he swore.

And, while a sense of discipline
Carried him on through thick and thin,
The mud, the shells, the cold, the din
Annoyed him more and more.

The words with which we others cursed Seemed mild and harmless quips
Compared to those remarks that burst
From Private Thompson's lips:

The Triumph of the Crusade

(Christian Science Monitor.)

"And Canaan begat Sidon his first-born, and Heth, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, and the Girgassite, and the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite, and the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad. Those verses, taken from generations of the sons of Noah, in the book of Genesis, contain the first mention, known to man, of Jerusalem, for the Jebusites were, of course, the inhabitants of Jebus, which as the book of Judges says, is Jerusalem. For centuries, indeed, the world believed that Jebus was the old name of Jerusalem when David captured it. But, in 1890, this theory was mercilessly exploded. In that year, the discovery of the el-Amarna tablets disclosed the fact that as early as 1400 B. C., at any rate, or some five centuries before the time of David, Jebus, if the bull may be forgiven, was known as Uru-salim, which in the Anglo-Saxon tongue is Jerusalem. Indeed, whether there ever was a Jebus on Mount Zion is something over which the pundits are still disputing.

Anyway, some time early in the tenth century before Christ, "all Israel gathered themselves to David unto Hebron." And David led Israel to the ridge of the Jebusites, unto Uru-salim; and Joab, the son of Zerubbab, was the first to mount the walls, and so to become the captain of Israel. After that David himself kept his court in the castle of Zion, and so ever since that time has Uru-salim been known as the city of David. That was twenty-seven centuries ago, and today some at all events of the troops of General Allenby have marched to the ridge of the Jebusites over the very ground trodden by the feet of all Israel after the elders had appointed David King over Israel in Hebron. Here then in the castle of Zion David lived and ruled, and builded the great temple which bore his name, though the materials for it had been collected by his father.

Some four hundred and twenty years after the mighty men of valor had climbed up the hill of the Jebusites behind Joab, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, and carried the people away into captivity. It was the beginning of Israel's sorrows, because though, when Cyrus conquered Babylon, the people of Judah were permitted to return, with Ezra and Nehemiah, to Jerusalem, and to rebuild the temple the Jews never were free again. Only now after twenty-seven centuries of the lash of the Babylonian task-master, the ghetto of the Christian, and the bastinado of the Turk, does the people of Mr. Balfour offer to Lord Rothschild, the descendant of the man who once declared that, if the Jews went back to Zion, he would ask to be appointed permanent ambassador in London, security for this very return of the Jewry to Jerusalem.

Between the hour of the proclamation of Cyrus, king of Persia, and the hour of the letter written by Mr. Balfour, much has happened in Jerusalem. It has seen Sennacherib come down from Bethoron, from whence the British troops have come today, and lie in wait to destroy the people as they labored on the wall. It has seen one of the fiercest and most savage sieges in history. It has seen the dawn of the Christian era, the coming of the Christ, the trial on the pavement, and heard the roar of the storm over Calvary. It has seen the dawn of the morning of the resurrection, and the night of the vengeance of Caesar. It has risen from its ashes, under the hand of another Caesar, a Roman city, by name Aelia Capitolina. It has seen Jupiter and Apollo go the way of Baal and the graven images, and the Christian pilgrims flocking to the Damascus gate, when Constantine ruled on the Bosporus. It has seen the builders of Justinian and the torch bearers of Chosroes, and then the long night of Islam, broken only by the flashes of the crusaders.

It was in 1244 that the last vestiges of Christianity disappeared in the Khazretian massacres. And then in 1517 came the Sultan Selim I, and Jerusalem became a Turkish city. That was just four hundred years ago, and the desert which Selim then crossed with his army, on his way to the conquest of Egypt, is the desert which the troops of his successor were destined to cross when they moved out of Jerusalem in the attempt to tear Egypt, this time not from the grasp of the Mamelukes but the British. In 1517 Selim and his Turks were successful, but in 1917 the troops of the Sultan came tumbling back in defeat, with the British marching remorselessly at their heels. It was at Gaza, in 1917, that General Allenby inflicted on the Turks the decisive defeat that placed Jerusalem within his grasp. The Turks had boasted that the Gaza lines were impregnable. There were miles of dugouts, with chambers far underground, just as on the Somme and the ridge at Passchendaele. But General Allenby's men seized these new gates of Gaza, just as Samson walked away with the gates of the old Gaza on his shoulders. And so, for the first time for six hundred and seventy-three years, the Crescent has been hauled down from the walls of Jerusalem, and the blondest crosses of St. George, St. Andrew, and St. Patrick, which men call the Union Jack, hoisted in its place.

What then does it all mean? The capture of Jerusalem, the Holy City of the Christians, as the Turks regard it, following immediately upon the capture of Islam's Holy City of Baghdad and the revolt of the Arabs in the Holy Places of Mecca and Medina, will deal a tremendous and shattering blow to the prestige of the Turk in Asia. When, in the early days of the war, Enver Bey succeeded in forcing Turkey into the conflict, it was by the talismanic promise of a jihad for the restoration of the Empire of Islam. The green flag was unfurled, the green turban assumed, and the blessing of the Sheikh-ul-Islam pronounced. But Islam, in spite of all, was cold. The Muhammadans of India proved true to the British raj, the Afghans in Kabul remained true to the British alliance, the tribesmen of Egypt were staunch in support of the British protectorate. Under the green flag, however, it was very different. First Mecca and Medina, then Baghdad, and now Jerusalem have been lost to the troops of the Khalif. In such circumstances men are beginning to wonder, can Enver hold his own? Djemal and Talaat are known to be wavering. The march of the soldiers of the ninth crusade into the streets which the knights of the first crusade fought their way through, means more, much more than the capture of a small Syrian town.

Our Army Great Leveler.

(Indianapolis Star.)
An army officer who has been visiting in Baltimore tells of a private soldier, a New Yorker, in a regiment at a southern camp, who is worth millions, yet who has no disposition to serve in any other capacity than as private. This officer was regarded as very remarkable, and the case was considered by a Baltimore paper of sufficient importance to "play up" under conspicuous headlines.

The New Yorker in question performs all the duties and tasks incident to the life of a private, and it was not until he asked the privilege of giving a limousine and the services of a chauffeur to the commanding general that his possession of wealth was discovered. When he first broached the subject to his commanding officer, that person marked him by asking where he stole the machine. Later it was learned that the car and the chauffeur were in a neighboring town and that the private owned the car. Also, it was learned, not through him, that he had given his yacht to the government and was very wealthy. It is considered by the officer who tells the story very remarkable that the private in question does not seek a commission.

Why the case should make such an impression is not clear. How many men of great wealth have enlisted as private soldiers there is no means of knowing; not many, probably, for men of army age are too young to have acquired riches by their own efforts. But in the ranks are young men of education and talent, men who have been in business and professional life long enough to have proved their ability and to have laid the foundation for promising careers. Such men, in giving up their callings and entering the army, whether as privates or officers, have made greater sacrifices than if they were leaving behind the luxuries made possible by a big bank account. The bank account will be there when they return; the business and professional life of the others will have to be started anew under less promising conditions.

Our army is made up of all kinds of and conditions of men—workmen, students, lawyers, teachers, artists, business men, farmers. Such men are in the ranks as well as among the officers. It is a democratic army and has no place for the distinctions of class or of wealth. If a rich man chooses to be a private, feeling, perhaps, that he is not fitted to command, that is his own affair. He deserves no special praise or consideration and presumably wants none.

(Baltimore American.)

Fate, destiny, providence, has flung back the dark curtain of Mohammedanism that has shrouded Jerusalem for a number of centuries, and the hosts of Christendom are now looking to the restoration of the sacred city, their waiting place, while they cried out to the Lord of Sabaoth. How long how long! Mighty pulsations of Providence through the arteries of contemporary events are causing the world to do signal service to the spirit of reverence with which Jew and Gentile alike regard the Holy Land, so long the spoil of the infidel and Turk.

Uncle Harry Explains Why President Wilson Speaks For The Allies

"What do people mean when they say that President Wilson is the spokesman for the allies? Haven't the allies any men who can speak for them like President Wilson?" asked Jimmy.

"How about Lloyd George, the Premier of England?" added Helen. "I used to think he spoke for the allies."

what is more important, the leader in the fight—not against the German people, but against the German imperial government and the militarism that that government upholds. You see, folks, our country did not enter this war until it had been raging for more than two and a half years. But last February when Germany renewed turn to the great conflict. That fact and the further one that the United States was the world's greatest democracy, and in certain ways the biggest and richest of all the nations, made our part in the war unusually important. Then President Wilson made his famous speech in which he declared that 'the world must be made safe for democracy,' and then a great many of the other countries that had been neutral either declared war on Germany or severed relations with her. Next, the liberal, or more democratic leaders in Russia, England, France and Italy announced that President Wilson had voiced their feelings as much as America's, and then, just naturally, Mr. Wilson, as the spokesman of the American people, came to be looked upon as the spokesman of all the allies."

"Was that why his message to congress was sent to all the allied and neutral countries?" asked Joe.

The "Message" to Germany.

"That was one of the two reasons," said Uncle Harry. "And the other was that President Wilson wanted the position of the United States in this war to be read by all peoples, and especially by the German people, if that were possible; and he knew that the wider the publication it was given in all parts of the world, the more likelihood there was of copies reaching the interior of Germany and being read by a greater number of German people."

"President Wilson has a lot of faith in the German people, hasn't he?" said Helen.

"All great men have faith in the common people," said Uncle Harry. "President Wilson believes that once the German people awaken to the real truth about their government the war will be practically over—and over for good. Because he believes that German people will establish their own government, which would, of course, be some kind of a democracy. And that is what President Wilson says is necessary before peace can be made, because the German imperial government, has shown that it cannot be trusted. So you see the president's message had three purposes—it was for ourselves and our allies, the people of the neutral countries, and last, but by no means least, the German people."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondence names will not appear in the articles.

Not Quite Down and Out.

Many a man feels that he is down and out when as a matter of fact he still has in him many years of good service that can be brought out by proper treatment. Stomach trouble often makes one despondent. It hits him where he lives, saps his strength and energy and makes him feel like giving up. Give him a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to improve his digestion and invigorate his liver and bowels, and in most cases recovery is prompt and effectual.—Advertisement.

WORLD POWER WOULD IN END DESTROY GERMANY

Member of Reichstag Points Out Weakness of Economic Position.

Amsterdam, Dec. 17.—German victory in the war would mean that the Germans "as the dominant race, would have to keep in subjection by force of arms the crushed and dispossessed peoples," asserts George Goethel, a leading liberal member of the German reichstag, in an editorial in the official organ of the influential German association for commercial treaties.

"Should we actually succeed in gaining a decisive victory, which only a few persons believe possible," he writes, "we should have to bear a weight of armaments for the purpose which would make it impossible for our national strength, so terribly weakened in any cause by bloody losses, again to regain its economic power. And yet without this permanent political strength is impossible. One day the world would rise against the German way, would burst its fetters, would destroy our power which would be lacking in economic support. For if we have been able to hold out this time, we have above all to thank our economic efficiency."

"There remains only one solution, peace by understanding. A peace which is permanent must remove from the world the rivalry of power."

"An economic war after the war would be unbearable for Germany."

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

It's a commendable trait that when something has been of benefit to us we want to share it with others who stand in need of the same help. It's the touch of Nature that makes the whole world kin—the wanting to be helpful to our fellow-men. That is why people who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers about it, and as to have them published so that other will know what to do under the same circumstance. Behind every one of these letters is the warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to some one else.—Advertisement.

How to Soften Rigors of Your Meatless Day BY BIDDY BYE.

We have enjoyed a weekly meatless day for several months now and find ourselves able to endure the privation and still strong enough to do our daily work the early rumblings of protest from reluctant families have died away, like stage thunder, into low and intermittent mutterings.

What was once a day whose meal times were hours of stolid endurance has now become a season of pleasant anticipation to see what new dish mother will hatch up next as substitute for roast beef, medium. Mother is so clever. And while the family beams approval of the results mother never breathes a word about her frenzied searchings of the cook book for meat camouflages. Here are a few recipes to assist mother on her patriotic way.

Celery Soup. One firm head of celery, cut in two-inch sticks, washed and put to cook in 1 quart of milk, with 1 dozen white peppercorns tied in a bit of muslin and cooked with milk and celery. Melt 1 tablespoonful of butter and add to milk. Two small onions fried light brown in butter are then added. Let all mixture boil and then simmer for an hour or until celery is tender. Rub through colander and return to saucepan, thickening with a teaspoonful of cornstarch and seasoning with salt and pepper. Serve with croutons of fried bread.

Rice Croquettes. Boil 1-2 cupful of rice until very soft, cool, then beat in 2 eggs, 2 teaspoonfuls sugar, and 1 teaspoonful salt. Mold in balls and dust with flour. Roll croquettes in egg and fry in oleomargarine or half lard and half oleomargarine. Serve with sweet sauce made of 1-2 cupful corn syrup, pinch of salt, 1 cupful water and vanilla to flavor.

Vegetable Chicken. Four cupfuls boiled Lima beans, 4 tablespoonfuls butter (melted), 2 hard boiled eggs. Rub the boiled Lima beans through a sieve and mix in the melted butter, salt and pepper. Place half the mixture on a floured board and mold into oblong shape. Spread the mold with a mixture of 1 cupful breadcrumbs toasted, 3 teaspoonfuls chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoonful lemon-thyme, 1-2 teaspoonful grated lemon rind, salt, cayenne pepper, yolk of 1 egg, 1 tablespoonful milk. Cut the 2 hard boiled eggs in strips and place across mold, cover with the rest of the dressing, spread remainder of the bean mixture over the top and shape mold like a fowl. Brush over whole mold with a beaten egg. Melt 2-4 cupful butter in deep pan and heat very hot, put in the vegetable chicken and bake for an hour basting frequently, and serve with a gravy made of the melted butter and browned flour. Garnish with parsley and serve very hot.

slowly until tender, remove the centers and chop well, adding the mushrooms which have been peeled, cooked in the butter and cut fine. Rub beans through sieve and add to onion mushroom mixture and seasoning and stuff the onion cups with filling. Set on buttered tin or paper, dot with butter, then bake until slightly brown.

TO MAKE MARMALADE WITHOUT USING SUGAR. Prune Conserve—Two dozen prunes, one-third pound of raisins, two oranges, one-third cup of corn syrup, one-half cup water, one-fourth cup nut meats. Dried apricots, peaches or canned plums may be used in this recipe. Wash and cut prunes in pieces; add chopped raisins and orange pulp and peel, cut very fine; then add corn syrup and water. Cook slowly until it is the consistency of marmalade. Add chopped nuts five minutes before removing from fire.

Carrot Honey—Take one pint grated raw carrot, two cups white syrup and two lemons. Mix ingredients and add the grated rind of one lemon. Heat slowly and simmer the mixture until it is thick and clear. Turn into scalded jelly glasses, and when cold cover with hot paraffin. Serve with cold meat or as a sauce for puddings.

UNITED STATES OF THE WORLD A VISION OF WAR

(Special Staff Correspondence) Washington, Dec. 17.—The appeal of Finland for recognition of her independence under a constitutional government, together with the determination of Poland, Ukraine, Siberia, Crimea, and Caucasus to secede from Russia, may indicate an ultimate reorganization of the great Russian empire into the United States of Russia.

In other words, the old state that was built from a czar down may be torn to pieces and rebuilt from the people up.

The lesson of the United States of America is before the eyes of the world. If we were organized as Europe is organized, with numerous independent kingdoms instead of 48 unorganized states co-operating under one federal government, we might have as perfect and war-like hell right here in America as they have over there.

On the other hand if the warring states of Europe were organized as the United States of Europe, with government "of the people, by the people and for the people," there might be the same peace permanently over there as there is here.

If Austria-Hungary were the United States of Something-or-other, with the Germans, Magyars, Czechoslovaks, South Slavs, Poles, Little Russians, Rumanians and Italians separately organized, and then subsequently organized as united states, the different peoples could get along together much better than under the present form of government with an emperor trying to hold them together with a club.

If the warring Balkan governments were organized as the United States of the Balkans, and dumped all their autocratic rulers overboard, their chance of getting along together without standing armies would be infinitely better than it is now.

And finally there would be possible the league of nations, the United States of the World, with one international navy to patrol the seas, and keep them free for all, and one international police force to preserve the international peace.

But the first essential, the absolute fundamental, is that all governments be governments of the people.

There is no fundamental difference between the working class of one country and the working class of any other country. Labor leaders in all countries—that is, leaders with imagination and vision—have sensed this fact and they have aimed at international unionism.

Capitalism has sensed the universe as one, instead of many. Probably oil, as represented by Standard Oil, comes the nearest to international organization; although it hasn't gone the full route. Steel was headed in the same direction. Likewise beef.

We have delayed the game by fighting organization and co-operation, and insisting on competition and war. International Socialists had the vision but the moment the world was plunged into war, they became national. When the Prussian Kaiser started this war on democracy—for that's what it is—the German Socialists lost their vision of internationalism and became Prussian soldiers, ready to be brutalized and murdered by their comrades of other nationalities.

Democracy was coming along too fast to suit the kings and kaisers. Something had to be done to save autocracy—and the Kaiser did it.

And right now there are no more dangerous enemies of genuine democracy than the Leninists and Trotskyists, who think they are internationalists.

A Love Idealist Who Is No Hero at Home

As a novelist, Harold Bell Wright creates the perfect lover and knows how to mate his heroes for a lasting happiness. But as a husband he seems to have been less successful. The author of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" is today writing "The Losing of Mrs. Wright" into the divorce records at Los Angeles, Cal.—a bitter sequel to his own romance. He charges his wife with mental cruelty, following an estrangement of some months, duration, proving that it's much easier to consummate the perfect marriage in fiction than in real life. The Wrights were married 18 years ago and have three children.

BRADEN MURDER TRIAL BEGINS IN ANDERSON

Charged With Killing of His Borther-in-Law During Quarrel.

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 17.—The trial of Marion Braden, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Frank Hodson, on August 4, began in the circuit court today. Nearly 100 witnesses have been summoned and the trial is expected to last all week.

Braden, who is 27 years old, was indicted for murder in the first degree. Following a controversy between the two men who lived in adjacent houses Braden shot Hodson, who died within a few minutes after the bullet had struck a vital spot. Hodson died without making any statement of the case, while Braden claims to have fired the shot after his brother-in-law made an alleged threatening move with his hand toward the hip pocket as if to draw a weapon. Search of the dead man's clothing disclosed the fact that he was unarmed.

The trouble which led up to the killing was a family affair. Hodson married a sister of Braden. Differences arose between the husband and wife which ran their course through the divorce court of this country over a period of nearly three years. In the trouble between Hodson and his wife Braden espoused the cause of his sister and that is what caused enmity between the two men.

DETECTS METAL IN WOUNDS.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Detection of metal in wounds by means of a new telephonic device is described in dispatches to the department of commerce. The instrument is moved over the body of the patient and emits a humming noise when over a shrapnel ball or shell splinter and is further used on guiding a probe toward the hidden metal. Whether the metal is magnetic and can be withdrawn by an electric magnet without the use of an incision can also be told by the instrument.

DETAIL MAP OF AMERICAN FRONT IN FRANCE!

This is the territory in France where there are American soldiers on the battle line. The line of combat is shown in the heavy dotted line; note that it is very close to the boundary of German Lorraine. The government has not announced exactly what section of this line the American troops are holding. The entire line shown here, however, is only 72 miles long, and the skirmishes between Sam and Germans were in the neighborhood of the Rhine-Marne canal, which crosses the battle line northeast of Luneville, almost in the center of the map. Observe that a few exceedingly small pieces of German territory north and east of Nancy are now in possession of the allies—presumably the French. Railroads are indicated on this map by crossed lines, good wagon roads by parallel lines, and canals by lines with circles on them. This map covers a territory 60 miles across. From Toul it is 160 miles west to Paris, and 42 miles northwest to Verdun.

NEW HAVEN ENTHUSED OVER COMING MEETING

Prominent Red Cross Speakers Will Augment Occasion Tuesday.

All arrangements have been made for the Red Cross meeting which is to take place in New Haven Tuesday evening. The most prominent speakers of this section of the country will be on hand to enliven the occasion. There is a great deal of enthusiasm being displayed over this event. There was a whole car load of Red Cross supplies sent forward Saturday night. The car consisted of 152 cases and a conservative value on this material would be $45,000. This was in all probability the largest single shipment that was ever sent from the Lake district. It speaks high praise for all those who were instrumental in making such a large shipment possible. Mrs. A. E. Fauve, in speaking of this accomplishment showed marked pleasure over the good showing that this department has made. There was a rush order of 2,500 sweaters sent out by express to camp Taylor, Louisville, Sunday morning. This is in preparation of the arrival of drafted men. Every one of these sweaters were made by northern Indiana women. An example of patriotism which would be well for younger persons to pattern after is the effort Mrs. Jenny, an inmate of the St. Joseph hospital. She is 84 years of age, and Monday morning she sent word to the local chapter to send her yarn, she wanted to knit, and that she felt sure that she could do more of this kind of work than many younger people. Little Ann Barrett, a young miss four years of age, donated a dollar to the cause Monday. She also took out her membership. With a precision that is complete from one end of the country to the other the big drive for Red Cross memberships will begin Tuesday. Mr. E. C. Miller, who has charge of the drive in this locality, and after a conference with all the different chairmen, stated that hundreds of workers were on their tiptoes ready to begin. There is a surty that northern Indiana will do her part towards enlisting the 15,000,000 people in the Red Cross movement in the United States.

The following are the county chairmen, who have reported to Mr. Miller that they are all ready for the word Go: J. B. Pomeroy, Auburn; Frank Dole, Angola; I. A. Poterfield, Lagrange; E. A. McCumber, Kendallville; Joseph Harrison, Columbia City; B. A. Batson, Bluffton; French Quinn, Decatur, and Harry Muller, Fort Wayne. There were very few churches Sunday, in this district in which the pastor did not deliver sermons on the Red Cross work; its great importance to the world in the incalculable good it was doing for suffering humanity.

SHAKE-DOWN FOR THE WAR

Rearrangement of the High Commands in Department Has Been Made.

GOETHALS TO BE QUARTERMASTER
Canal Builder Offered Post of Chief of the Army Supply Work.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Rearrangement of some of the high commands in the war department was indicated today by the detachment of officers designated by Secretary Baker to sit in the department's war council. It became definitely known today that Major Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal has been offered the place of quartermaster general to succeed Maj. Gen. Sharpe. Provost Marshal General Crowder is the only officer assigned to the war council who will not be detached from his present office. The three remaining officers are Major General Weaver, chief of coast artillery; Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance, who has been under fire in the senate investigation, and Major General Bliss, chief of staff, who has just returned from abroad where he participated in the war council at Paris with Colonel House and the other American delegates. What officers will act for them at the heads of the bureau is not yet known and probably has not been decided.

MARKED RISE IN THE

CROZIER STILL UNDER QUIZ OF THE SENATE

Tells Committee That U. S. Has Done Better Than Britain Did.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Gen. Crozier, chief of ordnance, declared when the war inquiry by the senate committee was resumed today that there was "entirely too much red tape" getting money. While an emergency appropriation request for a lump appropriation of $2,332,537,000 made by the war department April 6, a day before war was declared, it was June before congress made appropriations under the estimates. "But you had millions of dollars left of appropriations made a year before," interrupted Chairman Chamberlain. "I have not been entirely satisfied with any explanation made of this matter. For instance you had money appropriated for machine guns and you haven't the guns yet. We appropriated for small arms and you spent the money for pistols instead of rifles." "We were far shorter of pistols than rifles," Gen. Crozier answered, "and we are not going to be cowed up in this war in the slightest degree on account of rifles."

"We have placed orders of more than $1,500,000,000 since the war began," Gen. Crozier explained, citing the magnitude of operations. "That is more than fifty per cent. over the entire government's expenses for any year since the Spanish war." Senator Wadsworth asked whether the government should have an office or department similar to England's minister of munitions. "My own belief is that the better way is to enlarge and strengthen existing organizations rather than create new ones," Gen. Crozier replied. "Quicker results have been obtained here than by the British organization." Gen. Crozier disclosed that steps have been taken to equip American forces with tanks, similar to the new British machines but smilingly refused to go into details. "Have we taken steps for equipping them with bombs, hand grenades and other new fangled things?" asked Senator Chamberlain. The ordnance chief answered affirmatively. "Will there be sufficient as compared with those furnished the British and French troops?" asked Senator Weeks. "Yes and I don't anticipate any shortage, although a good deal of the United States supply will come from outside where they have been already under manufacture," said Gen. Crozier.

British Phrenologists Want Heads of Candidates Examined.

London, Dec. 17.—A proposal that all candidates for parliament should submit to examination by a phrenologist and "have their bumps told," is one of the features of the annual report of the British Phrenological society, which has just completed its annual meeting here. "The state's need of phrenology is evident in nearly every department of government administration," said one of the speakers at the convention. "Particularly in the election of members of parliament, it seems to us that the best-fitted candidate, according to the formation of his head and the volume and quality of his brains, is not always elected. A phrenological examination of all candidates would save an immense amount of unnecessary misunderstanding, blundering and expense."

"We have heard a good deal lately in political circles about 'brain efficiency,' but to this has been talk, because the authorities have no scientific formula by which they can calculate a candidate's brain capacity or his intellectual grip and ability, nor will they ever have found it they call us phrenologists to their assistance. "Cabinet ministers ought to be all selected according to the formation of their heads, and not merely upon personal influence, credentials or reputation. "Phrenology ought to be taught in the schools instead of German."

IVAL CITIES CHALLENGED

Fort Wayne, Evansville and South Bend to Fight for First Place.

Country Districts Are to be Covered by Committee in Bob Sleds.

"Fort Wayne, Indiana's second city, challenges Evansville to be the first to reach its quota of membership in the Red Cross Christmas campaign. We will telegraph you each evening our standing, and will expect the same from you. The quota from the city of Fort Wayne is sixteen thousand."

(Signed) HARRY MULLER, Chairman.

The above message was sent to both Evansville and South Bend, Monday morning. An answer has been received from South Bend accepting the challenge and containing a promise of defeat for Fort Wayne. Evansville has not yet been heard from but it will undoubtedly accept the challenge. There has always been a keen rivalry between Evansville and Fort Wayne in matters pertaining to civic affairs and the race will therefore be of the keenest. South Bend is no mean rival by any means and Fort Wayne residents will have to respond immediately to bring victory to their city. The outcome of the race day by day will be published as they are telegraphed in.

To be Used Nation Wide. The plan, started by the Indiana Red Cross organization in regard to street cars will be used by the national organization. Placards bearing the words "The conductor and motorman of this car are Red Cross members. Are you?" will soon be placed on every car in the city. Practically all of the carmen have signified their intention of joining the organization.

Designate New Members. In order to designate 1918 subscribers from those of last year, the organization has issued a tag bearing the words "A 1918 subscriber." One of these tags will be worn by every subscriber of the Red Cross. The usual Red Cross button designates that a person is a member of the organization, but it does not indicate whether he has joined this year or last.

Ready for County Drive. All is in readiness for the county drive. The motor reserve has signified its willingness to help and will carry supplies to various sub-stations where they will be more accessible to the various county committees. The county drive will be almost in the form of a hot party as most of the committees will be taken through their districts in bob sleds. Patriotic farmers have volunteered to carry the committees in their sleds. Chairman McComb states that the county organization is the best ever attempted in any drive held up to this time and he feels positive that the results will bear witness to this exceptionally fine cooperation.

Federal Protection.

In order to protect the people of the United States from impostors, the government has passed the following federal law. Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled: "Section 4. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person within the jurisdiction of the United States to falsely or fraudulently hold himself out as or represent or pretend himself to be a member of or an agent for the American National Red Cross for the purpose of soliciting, collecting money or material, or for any person to wear or display the sign of the Red Cross or any insignia colored in imitation thereof for the fraudulent purpose of inducing the belief that he is a member of or an agent for the American National Red Cross. If any person violates the provisions of this section he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any federal court shall be liable to a fine of not less than one nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, for each and every offense."

Downtown Work. Teams from the One Hundred Per Cent club and the Kiwanis club were busy all day in the downtown streets, which has been assigned to them. They were not to be outdone by the business girls, as everyone of the latter organization was busy before one-half of the occupants of the various office buildings to which they were assigned had arrived for the day's work. Miss Loretta Hayes, in charge of the Utility building, was going 100 per cent strong in practically every office.

Where Red Cross Money Goes. There are 3,000,000 members of the American Red Cross. They each gave a dollar for membership.

In addition to that the people of the United States gave a cool $100,000.00. What has become of that money? H. P. Davidson, head of the Red Cross work, says that only $1,500,000 of that great sum goes to paying for the expense of administering the Red Cross work.

The other 101,500,000 "goes to the spot."

Nifty work, I should say, and few corporations in the world have so great a net surplus to distribute in a year.

Well, what does the Red Cross do with its money? It has given $1,000,000 for sick and wounded French soldiers. Establish twenty dispensaries in the American army zone. Distributes supplies to 3,423 French military hospitals. Gives surgical supplies to 2,000 French hospitals. Operates ten army canteens at the front. Accommodates 30,000 French soldiers daily at six other railway canteens. Creating an artificial arm and leg factory. Building a movable hospital with 1,000 beds. Established camps for thousands of French refugees children. Caring for 500 French children daily who are sent back to France by the German army. Built a hospital for such repatriates who are coming in 1,000 a day. Arranging for another 1,000 hospital beds at Paris for victims of tuberculosis. Getting 200 tons of supplies at Paris daily and reshipping 125 tons daily to different parts of France. Uses 400 motor vehicles. To create a line of autos through Switzerland to carry French and German exchanged prisoners. Recently, in one day, all unknown to our people generally, 8,000 American soldiers "passing through" were fed here at Philadelphia by the Red Cross. So when you are now asked to help along this new Y. M. C. A. fund, don't dodge behind the query "I wonder what the Red Cross is doing with the money I gave it?"

NEW YORK DRAFT MEN CAME WEST

Draft Appellant and Lawyer Face Trial in Federal Tribunal.

Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—Back of the arrest of a Joseph Schur, national army draft appellant for a local division, and Maurice L. Snitkin, a lawyer, charged in a federal grand jury indictment with conspiracy to obstruct the draft laws, is said by federal authorities to have been a scheme to obtain for a money consideration exemptions for persons coming from New York to Indianapolis for the purpose of being exempted here.

The names of New York men are not mentioned in the indictment, being included under "divers persons unknown to the jury," but federal officers said today that evidence they hold indicates two men came here from New York. Schur and Snitkin were placed under arrest Saturday night, but the charges against them did not become public until today. Three local men are mentioned in the indictment with them, but they have not been placed under arrest, it is said, because they are willing government witnesses.

Schur and Snitkin were arrested several weeks ago, but the charges against Schur were dismissed before a United States commissioner. Snitkin waived examination and gave bond. The indictment was returned Saturday.

LOOKING UP LAW.

Not Likely Present Prosecutor Will Attempt to Oust Graber.

Although Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Emrick is looking into the law as to the probable action that could be taken, it is not likely that he will make any attempt to oust Jerry J. APPEAL MADE TO MINE MEN

Garfield Asks Operators and Miners to Forego the Holidays.

EACH IDLE DAY IS 2,000,000 TONS LESS

Authority Given to Close Industries to Relieve Domestic Stress.

Washington, Dec. 17.—To keep coal moving at a maximum, Fuel Administrator Garfield is preparing to appeal to operators and miners to forego the usual Christmas and New Year's holidays. Every idle day in the mines costs the country nearly 2,000,000 tons of fuel.

Authority to shut down industries, if necessary to supply householders with coal, was granted by the fuel administration today to W. K. Prudden, federal fuel administrator for Michigan. Many Michigan cities are said to be almost entirely without supplies for domestic needs.

The situation in the midwest, where cold weather and lack of fuel has brought much suffering, was gone over at a conference today by Dr. Garfield and W. C. Baird, in charge of the fuel administration of rail transportation and coal distribution. Mr. Baird reported conditions improving somewhat, although there is a great congestion of coal cars at some terminals.

SPRECKLES IS SPECIFIC

Says Western Sugar Administrator Made Millions Out of Order.

SUGAR KING HEARD FURTHER IN PROBE

Herbert C. Hoover Asks the Committee to Hear Him But is Not Heard.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Food Administrator Hoover personally appeared today at the senate committee investigation of the sugar shortage and asked to make a statement of his version of conditions. The committee, after considering the request in executive session, went on with the questioning of President Spreckels of the Federal Sugar Refining company, one of the administrator's chief critics, without announcing any decision on Mr. Hoover's request. The food administrator then left the committee room.

Spreckels declared that if this year's western sugar crop had been allowed to come east there would have been "an abundance of sugar." As the refined price for beets, he said, had been set by the food administration at 7.25 at all ports, the western refiners sold in the west to escape freight rate charges to eastern ports.

Spreckels reiterated that at the time his refinery was about to close for lack of supplies, 110,000 tons of raw cane sugar was held by the California-Hawaiian company the Western Refining company and that George M. Rolph, president of the former and director of the sugar division of the food administration, declined to allow any of it to come east.

Spreckels testified that the price for the Cuban crop now coming on would have been less than it has had it not been regulated and that the regulation would result in additional revenue of $9,000,000 to the California-Hawaiian Refining company of which Rolph is president. There would have been plenty of sugar in the east this fall, Spreckels maintained, if stocks held by Rolph's company and the Western Refining company had been allowed to be shipped. H. Curtis Lindley, counsel for the administration, suggested the committee ask if lack of railroad facilities were not the cause of the non-shipment.

Before the question could be put, Senator Reed announced a recess.

DEALERS MUST NOT BOOST BREAD PRICES

County Food Administrator G. M. Haffner and his force of deputies held a meeting at the Commercial club on Monday noon to discuss various phases of food regulation which were brought out by the Indianapolis meeting recently. Plans were also discussed for a meeting in the near future of all local manufacturers and dealers in food-stuffs.

There has been considerable complaint from several parts of the city that grocers are charging too much for bread. All cases will be investigated and prosecutions will follow. All customers suspecting that they are being charged too much are urged to report the fact at once.

SEE COMPLETE PEACE IN EAST

People in Petrograd Sure War With Germany is at an End.

GERMANY HAS HAD MATTERS OWN WAY

Belief is That Gen. Skalone, Russ Negotiator, Was Murdered.

London, Dec. 17.—The predominant fact as regards the Russian situation at the moment is the signing of an armistice which is announced officially at the capitals of all the countries concerned. According to special dispatches from Petrograd, every one there believes that a permanent peace between Russia and the central powers, will result.

Correspondents in general treat as negligible the undertaking of Germany and her allies not to withdraw troops from the eastern front.

A Petrograd dispatch to the Times says large masses of Germans already have been removed, and that probably the German command has transferred all it purposes to employ elsewhere, so that its plans are not likely to be deranged seriously.

The reported suicide during the armistice negotiations at Litovsk of the Russian general, Skalone, apparently has made a considerable stir in Petrograd, although the Russian national commissaries are silent in regard to it.

A Petrograd dispatch to the Post says General Skalone was responsible for the armistice conditions, including the evacuation of Moon Sound, which so offended the Germans at the first meeting of the negotiations and rendered nugatory the efforts of the first mission.

General Skalone returned most unwillingly for the second meeting, under imperative orders of his superiors. The correspondent seeks to show there is nothing to prove that he committed suicide, which is most improbable, and insinuates that he was murdered.

There is no confirmation of last week's official Bolshevik announcement regarding the arrest of General Kaledines.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN VARNEY MURDER TRIAL

Woman Charged With Killing Paramour's Wife to Know Fate Soon.

Dedham, Mass., Dec. 17.—Closing arguments occupied the day in the trial of Miss Harriett A. Varney, charged with the murder of Mrs. Pauline C. Keyes in Brookline last June. Attorney David O'Connell, for the defense, opened the arguments, and District Attorney Frederick J. Katzmann was expected to close in time to permit the giving of the case to the jury before adjournment. Attorney O'Connell in his address earnestly arraigned one whom he did not name but upon whom he placed the responsibility for Miss Varney's downfall, declaring that until she met this man the defendant was beyond reproach.

"Today she stands here alone," he said, "without the support of father or mother, with only her faithful sister at her side to aid and comfort her." The near to the scene of the murder was at the Huntington avenue station," the lawyer said. "After the murder or suicide she met Keyes and went to lunch with him. She ate and he did not. Who was nervous?"

CONGRESS WOULD SACRIFICE.

Washington, Dec. 17.—A bill to reduce salaries of senators and congressmen from $7,500 to $5,000 during the war was introduced today by Senator Kenyon of Iowa and referred to the appropriation committee.

NO JAPS IN VLADIVOSTOK.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Further denial that Japanese soldiers had been landed at Vladivostok was contained in dispatches to the state department from Tokyo. A telegram received at the Russian embassy from the Russian ambassador at Tokyo also said no Japanese troops had been landed at Vladivostok.

LOSES TWENTY DOLLARS.

Max Himmelstein, the Barr street grocer, is holding a worthless Mexican twenty-peso bill while he vainly awaits the appearance of a stranger who got $19.65 and thirty-five cents worth of sugar in exchange for it. The man entered the store and passed the bill to young Himmelstein who was attending to business. Investigation showed that the man was a bit of a wag, for over one corner he had written April 1.

JURY SAYS GASTON B. MEANS IS NOT GUILTY

Man Tried for Murder of Rich Chicago Widow Is Set Free.

Concord, N. C., Dec. 17.—Gaston B. Means was acquitted yesterday morning. He was charged with the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, widow of the wealthy James C. King, of Chicago. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" at 10:05 o'clock. Five minutes later Means walked out of the court room a free man, to carry the news to his aged mother.

Judge E. B. Cline was breakfasting when Sheriff Caldwell brought him news that the jurors had reached a verdict. Telling of the court house he had announced to the township that a decision had been reached, but only a few spectators were on hand half an hour later when the judge took his seat on the bench.

The defendant was there. Beside him sat his wife, William B. Means, Gaston's father, was the only other member of the family in court. Gaston had entered with a confident smile. As the jurors entered he greeted them with the usual smile.

The few formalities were quickly over. Then Clerk Stonestreet asked: "Gentlemen of the jury, do you find this defendant guilty or not guilty?" "Not guilty."

The verdict came from the lips of Juror Frank Goodman, who had been elected foreman. Spectators started forward from every part of the court room to offer congratulations. The jury took three ballots. On the first nine men voted for acquittal and three refused to vote. On the second eleven voted for acquittal, with one not voting. The third was the acquittal.

The verdict was what every one in Concord expected from the time it was announced that this town had been selected for the trial. Solicitor Clement, prosecuting official, expected it and accepted it with good grace.

WARMER DAYS ARE HEADED THIS WAY

Mercury Remained Above the Zero Mark Throughout Entire Night.

Although warmer days are coming soon, according to the weather observer, it is too early yet to put on lighter ones. The mercury remained above the zero mark all night, the lowest being three above, with four above the temperature at 8 o'clock this morning. Those who have pictured Canada as a frozen stretch of bleak country after November 1 should have been there yesterday when it registered twenty four above at Winnipeg and correspondingly high throughout all the country north of Fort Wayne. In Grand Rapids it was fourteen above when it was almost zero here. It is much colder to the east and warmer to the north and west which means that Fort Wayne soon will be enjoying relief from the cold snap which has continued for more than a week. A heavy frost fell last night covering trees but so far as has been learned it was not offered as an excuse for higher prices for butter and eggs or tomatoes.

us to conclude that the initiative in the west has passed from the allies to the enemy," says Secretary Baker in his weekly review of military operations made public today and devoted largely to the German advertising of an impending offensive. "During the period of the review (week ending Saturday) the general military situation in the west has remained unchanged," the review said.

"Rumors of great preparations on part of the Germans with a view to achieving some major strategic success in the west continue to reach us. Reports of massed hostile concentrations in those sectors where the enemy proposed to break through the French front and roll back the allied line on a broad scale are numerous. "The German higher command seeks peace through victory. The enemy is apparently very eager to have us believe that he is about to win such a victory. "For the past two years the Germans have been on the defensive in the west. The bold advertising of an imposing offensive on the part of the enemy, which, while in the realm of possibility and therefore should not be neglected or overlooked, must in no wise be interpreted to mean that the increased strength of the hostile forces will result in any permanent strategic advantage to the Germans. "Surveying the outlines of the general war strategy on all fronts we find that both belligerents have been on the offensive during the past six months. "The central powers have taken the initiative in the eastern and Italian theaters, the allies along the major front in the west, in Palestine, Mesopotamia and East Africa. "The enemy has confined his efforts to advancing his lines along the Russian front, resulting in the capture of Riga and then by a quickly conducted offensive in Italy with the assistance of an intensive political drive, gained a marked strategic advantage in this sector. "The allies in the principal theatre of operations, the west have been able to record an almost uninterrupted series of tactical advantages and in spite of the concentration of a preponderant majority of the most German offensives have gained considerable territory and taken a large quota of prisoners. "In the outlying areas of Mesopotamia and Palestine the British have driven the enemy before them and their offensive culminated during the week in the capture of Jerusalem. "Though the capture of the Holy City cannot be held a principal military objective of the campaign so vigorously pursued by General Allenby in this theatre, the conquest of Jerusalem will have a wide influence throughout the Turkish empire. And it will go far towards reaffirming the prestige of the allied powers throughout the orient. "Germany realizes the danger attendant upon the waning of her influence in the east and will therefore be more anxious than ever to conclude a speedy peace before the war map becomes less favorable. "The raiding of German towns of the interior, more especially the industrial centres of the Rhine and along the coast, as reprisals for the repeated bombardment of open towns in France and Great Britain by the Germans has been successfully initiated. "Reports of observers recently out of Germany, who were present during previous air raids state that these raids have had a very depressing effect on the civilian population and have heightened the growing discontent among the German people, who now for the first time are being brought face to face with real war conditions. "The armistice concluded by the Russians with the enemy now includes the entire eastern front from the Baltic to the Black sea. Negotiations are not proceeding smoothly. The German demands as reported to us specify among other points, the immediate opening up of channels of commercial intercourse between Russia and Germany."

COMMISSIONS FOR MEN IN THE RANKS

General Pershing Makes Provision for Promotions for Merit.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 16.—Every enlisted man in the American army now carries the stars of a general in his knap sack. Orders just issued by General Pershing and a plan announced today so provide for promotion from the ranks that any private may win a commission and, having won it, may climb rapidly up through successive grades. The latter feature is made possible by a section of the general orders which says that hereafter all temporary appointments and promotions on the American expeditionary force will be on a selective plan as in the British army. Recommendation for appointments and promotions must be based solely on demonstrated fitness and capacity of the man. The system of temporary appointments is one which the American army has not had previously.

Under it a first lieutenant who has demonstrated special qualities and fitness may find himself a temporary captain or even a temporary major. He would hold that position until he had proved himself worthy of the new rank when the appointment may be made permanent. The British have found this method excellent and by it have secured a great number of efficient officers.

It is announced also that regular reports on the fitness of all officers of all ranks are to be made for guidance in transfer and promotion, thus making sure that the soldiers are under competent leaders.

WHITLEY COUNTY CORN SHOW ENDS

There Were 320 Entries This Year and 149 Premiums.

(Special to The Sentinel).—Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—The Whitley County Corn Show and Woman's Auxiliary came to a close in the Commercial club rooms in this city Saturday afternoon, after a two-day exhibit, the largest ever held. There were 320 entries this year and 149 premiums, totalling $208 in cash, besides ribbon awards. Wade Heran, well known farmer of Washington township, was adjudged corn king, his ten-ear exhibit of yellow corn winning the prize for him. Exhibits of apples, onions, potatoes, beans, wheat, oats and mangels were also exhibited, and prizes awarded for them. A bushel of fine apples owned by George Peabody, who had them on exhibit at the corn show, and which were from a lot selected for prize winners, were sold at auction to A. A. Bush, for $7.00, and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross. Other products taken from the large exhibit were sold, the money being devoted to the same purpose. The auxiliary was especially fine this year. Added features were the warrentation table, where the domestic science girls of the high school served nut bread, Welsh rabbit, oak-hill potatoes and peanut salad; and the war knitting. The officers of the Whitley County Corn Growers association for 1918, follow: Clyde Miller, president; Nelson Keller, vice-president; succeeding Mal Blain; Lawrence Goble, secretary; and Adam Mullett, treasurer. All of the above officers, except the vice-president, were re-elected. Mrs. Charles W. Goble of this city is the new chairman of the Woman's auxiliary, and she will choose her secretary and staff of township assistants in a few months. The judge at the corn show was Ernest Thörnburg, paid by the U. S. government to attend such affairs as the above and judge the exhibits and give lectures on seed corn, and he spoke ten minutes Saturday afternoon, before leaving for his home at Winchester.

START ACTIVE WAR ON ENEMY PROPAGANDA

State and County Councils of Defense Offer Reward for the Guilty.

(By Indiana State Council of Defense.) Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—Treasonable and slanderous gossip against the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other war agencies has been so generally and so systematically carried on that Councils of Defense in many Indiana counties are offering rewards for evidence tending to prove the identity of persons starting and repeating the pro-German tales which are being industriously peddled in many quarters.

William Fortune, head of the Indianapolis Red Cross, offers a reward of $100 for information leading to the originator of the mysterious and absurd falsehood of the sweater knitted by an unknown woman for the Red Cross and later found by the knitter in the possession of a person who was reported to have "bought" the garment.

The Clay County Council of Defense also has put up a $100 reward for proofs as to the identity of persons who start or repeat slanders against the Red Cross. A miner employed in a mine on the Lybyre farm near Brazil, reported that a woman in Clay City had found a man in Brazil wearing a sweater she had knitted for the Red Cross, the sweater being intended for her soldier son. The story went on to say the woman knitter disclosed a secret pocket in which she had knitted money for her son's use. Red Cross sweaters are not distributed to individuals, but go in boxes, indiscriminately to the soldiers. The foolish falsehood is being traced and a search is being made for the miner who repeated it. The $100 reward has been provided by W. E. Carpenter, head of the Red Cross, and by M. M. Johnson, of the Clay County Council of Defense.

The Steuben County Council of Defense, finding enemy propaganda in that county, has formally offered a $100 reward for information which will enable the council to deliver pro-Germans to Uncle Sam.

SUFFRAGISTS END MEETING.

Washington, Dec. 17.—A vigorous appeal for adoption of the suffrage constitutional amendment made by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, chairman of the woman's committee of the council of national defense, marked the final sessions here yesterday of the annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association. James W. Gerard, former American ambassador to Germany, who was to have spoken, was unable to come to Washington because of illness in his family.

NOTED LAWYER IS DEAD.

Buckhannon, W. Va., Dec. 17.—George Robert Latham, former congressman from the second West Virginia district, union veteran of the civil war, lawyer and editor, is dead at his home here, after a long illness, aged 85 years. Col. Latham was born in Prince William county, Virginia.

There's But One Safe Way to Buy

I keep in close touch with market conditions of food products. I am correctly informed as to the cash and food value of practically every article of table and baking use. My knowledge and close acquaintance with baking materials and their quality and money worth passed on to you in my articles, should aid in the selection of proper foods at proper prices.

You have often heard the expression that "water seeks its own level." This same thought might well be applied to merchandise.

Inferior merchandise may find a ready demand when first put on the market—but its inferiority is soon found out—and its sale usually takes a slump. Hence I have come to the conclusion that the biggest seller is the best buy.

When some certain brand is given a wide preference over all similar merchandise it means but one thing—merit has proved it best.

So it follows that if housewives would purchase only merchandise that meets the greatest demand their buying would be far more satisfactory.

I have noticed invariably that the demand for a product always verifies the value of a product determined by scientific tests—which proves my contention conclusively.

Take baking powder. The biggest selling brand on the market today proved to me by the most critical experiments that it is entitled to the preference it has gained.

There are more pounds of Calumet sold than any other brand of baking powder. Usage has proved its superiority—my tests pointed to the same fact. The woman who buys Calumet eliminates all possible waste. She profits by the experience of millions of women who after testing many different brands of baking powder find Calumet best. It is safe to buy because overwhelming choice shows the supreme satisfaction it renders the vast majority of housewives.

I have made investigations and trips through many plants that manufacture food articles, and I have yet to find a finer and better equipped, more up to date, sanitary plant than that of the Calumet Baking Powder Co. Anyone who will visit this plant will readily understand why they should and how they do manufacture baking powder that fills all the requirements.

SEE JEWISH UNITY IN PALESTINE'S CAPTURE

Baltimore, Dec. 17.—Two hundred leaders of the Zionist organization of the country launched at a concert yesterday the great movement to realize Jewish national entity as a result of the recapture of Palestine from Turkey. "An historic gathering," Nathan Strauss, of New York, termed it amid cheers. It was the first concrete step toward the achievement of the national character taken by the Jews of the world and intimation was given during the meeting that a practical recapture of the Holy land would be under way within a month or two.

The outlines of a general Jewish fund of $100,000,000 to make the Jewish re-occupation real and practical were given and within a few minutes $85,000 was raised toward an initial $1,000,000 of the international fund with which to begin the reestablishment of the "promised land."

The $100,000,000 fund is to be used for constructive and administrative work in the new Jewish state.

GREAT WHITE WAY DIMMED.

New York, Dec. 17.—It Megones has been patrolling Broadway without a lantern last night he would not have recognized an honest man if he had passed one. It was the flat, real "highlights night" the "Great White Way" has known since electric lamps were invented. There were no lights in the streets of course, but the famous advertising signs were dark. By contrast with its usual brilliancy, the thoroughfare was dark as the inside of a pocket. The Broadway association announced that the fuel administration ordered the street arkened Sunday and Thursday nights.

What Leon Dabo Said

*To the Merchants Association of New York
After a Tour of Investigation in France*

(Reprinted from The Cleveland News)

"I have seen the widows of France, I have seen the blind boys of England, I have seen England's navy guarding the North Sea. All that the correspondents send over about the atrocities that have been committed, all the inhumanities, all the beastialities that no paper can possibly receive in ink—they are not only true, but the worst of them cannot be told.

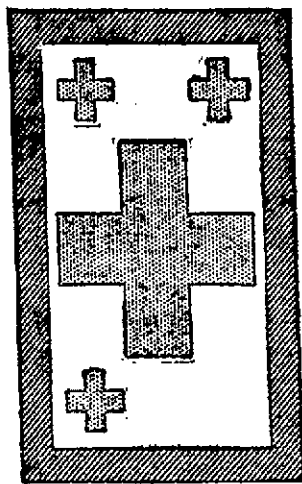

"You have been told that our women and our girls have been protected by the British navy from the fate that befell the women of France and of Belgium. Men, believe it; it is absolutely true. It is more than true. I have been in the hospital in the Department of Lamerck, of France, where there are nearly a thousand girls; not one is eighteen years of age, and all will be mothers. And 61 per cent are in addition afflicted with the most filthy, unspeakable malady that we know of, and 11 per cent in addition are stark mad. I have seen the boys that will never be men; I have seen the boys who have been cruelly mutilated. You don't know anything about this war. You don't know.

"We don't know we are at war, and some of you think that because you have bought a hundred dollars' worth or a million dollars' worth of liberty bonds, you have done your share. Some of you think that because you have given $10 or $100 to the Red Cross you have done your share. You have not, and you will not have done your share until it hurts. And men and women, when next February or March you take up your daily papers and on the front page you read that casualty list, and when you read the columns and columns of names of dead, the wounded, the missing, then and then only will you realize what England, what Australia, what Canada, what New Zealand, what France has gone through for three years.

"This war is not won. This war will begin for us next spring. Don't you get the idea that because you see our boys in khaki on our streets this thing is now going to be attended to, this thing is going to be won, and that shortly. Oh, no! There will be more thousands, there will be more millions, and they have got to be transported, and they have got to be fed, and they have got to have munitions to fight your battles and save your women and protect your girls, and to protect the grandmother, because the Beast makes no difference between the girl who has not reached womanhood and the venerable mother or grandmother with white hair."

What Leon Dabo Said

*To the Merchants Association of New York
After a Tour of Investigation in France*

(Reprinted from The Cleveland News)

"I have seen the widows of France, I have seen the blind boys of England, I have seen England's navy guarding the North Sea. All that the correspondents send over about the atrocities that have been committed, all the inhumanities, all the beastialities that no paper can possibly receive in ink—they are not only true, but the worst of them cannot be told.

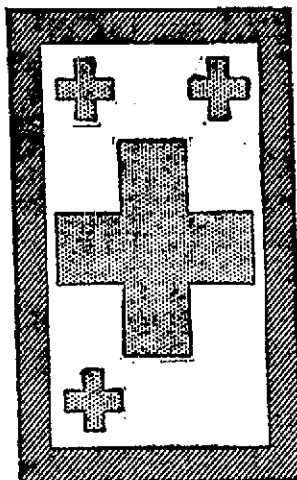

"You have been told that our women and our girls have been protected by the British navy from the fate that befell the women of France and of Belgium. Men, believe it; it is absolutely true. It is more than true. I have been in the hospital in the Department of Lamerck, of France, where there are nearly a thousand girls; not one is eighteen years of age, and all will be mothers. And 61 per cent are in addition afflicted with the most filthy, unspeakable malady that we know of, and 11 per cent in addition are stark mad. I have seen the boys that will never be men; I have seen the boys who have been cruelly mutilated. You don't know anything about this war. You don't know.

"We don't know we are at war, and some of you think that because you have bought a hundred dollars' worth or a million dollars' worth of liberty bonds, you have done your share. Some of you think that because you have given $10 or $100 to the Red Cross you have done your share. You have not, and you will not have done your share until it hurts. And men and women, when next February or March you take up your daily papers and on the front page you read that casualty list, and when you read the columns and columns of names of dead, the wounded, the missing, then and then only will you realize what England, what Australia, what Canada, what New Zealand, what France has gone through for three years.

"This war is not won. This war will begin for us next spring. Don't you get the idea that because you see our boys in khaki on our streets this thing is now going to be attended to, this thing is going to be won, and that shortly. Oh, no! There will be more thousands, there will be more millions, and they have got to be transported, and they have got to be fed, and they have got to have munitions to fight your battles and save your women and protect your girls, and to protect the grandmother, because the Beast makes no difference between the girl who has not reached womanhood and the venerable mother or grandmother with white hair."

Campaign Started Sunday from Thousands of Pulpits.

Washington, Dec. 17.—With the delivery yesterday of thousands of sermons from as many American pulpits, urging membership in the American Red Cross, the Christmas campaign of that organization for ten million new members was formally started. The drive will continue until Christmas Eve by which time it is expected that the total membership in the United States will reach fifteen millions at least.

Among those who realize from European experience the war started the urgent need of virtually universal Red Cross membership in this country is Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton, formally Minister to the Netherlands. Dr. Van Dyke makes this appeal under the caption: "A Red Cross Christmas to Those Who Feel Poor."

"I write as a brother. We are a large family. This world war made in Germany against which we are fighting has sent our incomes down and our expenses up.

"The pinch hurts, but it is not going to kill us. We still have enough and something to spare.

"Though we feel poor don't let us feel impoverished by selfish fear. Let us save in food, in service, in clothes, in luxuries, but not in money.

"Let us use that by giving it to save the wounded, the suffering, our friends our country.

"Let us keep Christmas this year by keeping up the Red Cross.

"Then it will not be a poor Christmas, but a rich Christmas to our hearts."

Today the membership booths were opened for the receiving of memberships. There are 50,000 of these in charge of uniformed Red Cross workers.

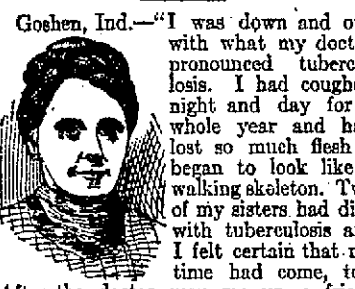

Besides the appeals to congregations Sunday in behalf of the Red Cross membership campaign, superintendents and teachers in Sunday schools

The New Method

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, dependent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

"The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Auric tablet before each meal for a while," says the famous Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. Simply ask your favorite druggist for Auric (double strength). If you have lumbago, rheumatism, gout, dropsy, begin immediately with this novel treatment.

MARVELOUS HERBAL MEDICINE CURES LONG-STANDING COUGH.

Goshen, Ind.—"I was down and out with what my doctor pronounced tuberculosis. I had coughed night and day for a whole year and had lost so much flesh I began to look like a walking skeleton. Two of my sisters had died with tuberculosis and I felt certain that my time had come, too.

After the doctor gave me up, a friend recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to my husband. The 'Discovery' gave new strength and vitality right from the start, and in a year's time I was just as strong and hardy as ever. I have never suffered with a deep-backing cough since it is all of fifteen years since I was at death's door with this ailment."

—Mrs. Eliza Teeter, 610 N. Main St.

LIBERTY GUARD TO BE ORGANIZED AT ALBION

Former Quartermaster A. C. Kimmell, of Co. A is Circulating Petition.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Albion, Ind., Dec. 17.—In compliance with the proclamation of Governor Goodrich, December 12, an effort is being made by former Quartermaster A. C. Kimmell, of Co. A, to organize a liberty guard, or state militia, in Albion, to take the place of the state militia now in federal service, and already twenty-four names have been enrolled upon the petition, our patriotic townsman, Leander Rupert, heading the list. Enlistments can be made by those between the ages of 21 and 45 years in the state of Indiana.

It is expected to get the full quota of sixty-eight names to complete the company and almost unanimously there is voiced the captaincy of former Capt. Albert Black of Co. A to head the new unit. The patriotic fervor of Albion is shown in the readiness of those approached to become members and thus far refusals are few.

Arrested for Vagrancy. Adam Benhower, illiterate young man, deserted by both father and mother, unable mentally to foresee the necessity of making hay while the sun shines, half-clad and shabbily shod, left our city in a blinding snow storm a few days ago in search of greener pastures which he evidently failed to find as he returned Thursday and proceeded to his father's room, forced entrance into same and was coaly encoined therein when nabbed by the officer for vagrancy and trespass. He will be sent to quarters were at least he will be clothed and fed and taught to earn same by sweat of the brow. His case is indeed a pitiable one.

Mrs. T. L. Catwood and sister, Mrs. John Walton, her guest, from Detroit, returned Friday evening from Elkhart, where they had spent the day and where Mrs. Walton formerly resided. The Albion basketball teams contested for honors with the Wolf Lake teams at the latter place Friday evening, and—got back.

The mercury dropped to 8 degrees below zero Saturday morning—and even the coal dealers did not wear the customary smile—too many empty coalbins and no relief in sight.

Mrs. Frank Whitehead, of Cromwell, who attended the funeral of Mrs. M. I. Rapp, Wednesday, returned to her home Friday.

Subject to Croup. "Our little girl is subject to frequent attacks of croup," writes F. O. Strong, Calipella, Cal. "I always give her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as one or two doses of it cures her." This is a favorite remedy for croup, as it can be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. It contains no narcotic.

For Boys' and Girls' Christmas Gifts

Ours is the logical place to go to find them. Sleds, Skates and Wagons are always appreciated by boys and girls alike and affords them many hours of good healthful sport.

Then for their more serious moments a diversion of thought and mind, a handsome set of tools for the boys or a sewing outfit for the girls or perhaps a laundering or cooking set, will be most beneficial, instructive and entertaining.

"Knowing How" Is the Most Important Part in Life-Saving

Man Who Recently Offered His Services to the Government and Who Has Saved 500 from Drowning in United States, France and Panama Demonstrates the Approved Methods of Handling an Endangered Person in the Water.

CHARLES E. FITZGERALD, the tugboat. A few strong strokes who gained fame as a life saver in and near St. Louis brought him beneath the heavy hulk. It was several seconds before the blind groping of Fitzgerald brought him in contact with a man's arm. The nifty life saver felt for Suehr's head, grasped it in the old reliable "hook" and plunged downward to get free of the screw at the rear of the tug. The two figures arose in the river some 50 feet or more away from the tug, and a shout greeted them from the decks of many craft in the vicinity. Suehr was unconscious, having swallowed much water. Fitzgerald swam easily toward the nearest boat, and caught a line that was tossed to him.

Fitzgerald is a deputy collector of revenue for the government, in the Eighth Illinois District, with headquarters at Pekin, Ill., but he has offered to resign his civil berth to do his bit for the country in the war with Germany.

While negotiating for a commission with the navy, the crack life saver gave a demonstration of the famous "hook grip," which he evolved in 1899, and which has since been adopted by professional life guards throughout the world as the best hold to use in rescuing a drowning person from the water.

Before Fitzgerald introduced this scientific hold, it was a common thing for life guards to lose their grip on a victim struggling in the water.

The old-fashioned grip was not dependable. It was a cross between the "strangle hold" and a "half Nelson" used by wrestlers, and it interfered with the breathing of the person being rescued, causing them to struggle with the strength of desperation to break it.

Fitzgerald almost lost two or three of those whom he rescued, because of this fact, and he conceived the idea of the "hook" grip to replace the old hold. He never has lost a life that he attempted to rescue since the hook was developed, and he has demonstrated that it is comparatively easy to swim out of a river or any body of water, towing a victim in this manner.

In 1907 Fitzgerald saved the life of Veronica Mulvihill, noted St. Louis beauty and society leader, at the pool at Plaza Chautauqua. Allen Waters, a good swimmer, had gone to the rescue of Miss Mulvihill, but sank with her when she frantically clasped her arms about his head. Not being trained in the art of life saving, Waters had attempted the wrong grip and was unable to control the struggling figure of the girl.

Brought Pair to Surface.
Fitzgerald, in charge of the life guards at the pool, saw the two struggling figures sink in the center of the pool where the water was deepest. He dived for the spot, and the breathless onlookers imagined that minutes elapsed before Fitzgerald's head emerged from the water and it was seen that he brought with him Miss Mulvihill and Waters.

"Hold her head like this," shouted Fitzgerald to the still conscious Waters, as he threw Waters' arm about Miss Mulvihill's head with the famous "hook" hold. Waters instinctively followed instructions, and Fitzgerald promptly grasped Waters' head in the vice-like hook and struck out for the side of the pool.

It was a most sensational rescue, and when the astonished observers saw Fitzgerald clamber onto the rail at the side of the deep water and pull the two figures from the water they delivered themselves of many resounding cheers to reward the rescuer.

Another dramatic rescue of unusual daring was performed by Fitzgerald in 1903, when he rescued Fred C. Suehr of St. Louis from beneath a tugboat in the Mississippi River, diving for the drowning man with full street dress except for shoes and coat.

Suehr fell from the side of a tug just below Eads Bridge, as he was watching a swimming race in the river. Many eager eyes strained over the side of the tug to see him rise to the surface of the river, but his form did not appear. Fitzgerald, one of the party, quickly slipped off coat and shoes and dived overboard. He found Suehr had been drawn under the tugboat. A few strong strokes brought him beneath the heavy hulk. It was several seconds before the blind groping of Fitzgerald brought him in contact with a man's arm. The nifty life saver felt for Suehr's head, grasped it in the old reliable "hook" and plunged downward to get free of the screw at the rear of the tug. The two figures arose in the river some 50 feet or more away from the tug, and a shout greeted them from the decks of many craft in the vicinity. Suehr was unconscious, having swallowed much water. Fitzgerald swam easily toward the nearest boat, and caught a line that was tossed to him.

The unconscious Suehr was drawn to the deck of the boat and Fitzgerald climbed out. Suehr was revived after a few minutes, but in an hour he had developed a white lock of hair above one ear. It was the only time that Fitzgerald saw a demonstration of the fact that a person's hair may turn gray in a short time while under a great mental strain. Suehr was under the care of a physician for three months after his experience, and is today one of the grateful admirers of the life saver to whom he owes his existence.

An Instructor in France.
Fitzgerald has saved more than 500 lives in Europe and Panama. He was employed by the French government as instructor and life saver in a public swimming pool at Paris for two years, and performed many daring rescues there by means of his famous hook hold.

He has not a complete record of his rescues, because in 1906, during the great flood at St. Louis, he saved so many from the breast of the swollen Mississippi that he could not tabulate them. The list of his other rescues would fill a good-sized book, and the descriptions of each many hundreds of newspaper columns.

Fitzgerald is beyond the age of a soldier, in the eyes of Uncle Sam, but his patriotic spirit has led him to volunteer his services in the field in which he excels, in the hope that he may save the lives of many American sailors, both by personal performance and by drilling them in the "simple art," as he calls it, of saving lives.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, an accomplished artist, at Springfield, Ill., her home, has given her consent to the entry of her daring husband into the naval service. It only awaits the decision of the government officials to determine whether life saving will become one of the courses of instruction in the navy, along with life-taking.

Would Have Navy Classes.
In naval actions and especially in ruthless submarine encounters, life savers are always in demand, Fitzgerald says, and countless lives might be saved if cool heads were instructed in the art of keeping the imperiled ones afloat for a few minutes until more substantial aid can reach them.

Fitzgerald will urge the navy authorities to establish classes in life saving, and to reduce the instructions to pamphlet form so members of crews on merchantmen may study the art of rescue. It is very difficult, and often impossible, to convey such instruction in the printed word, Fitzgerald said, and the proper method of drilling is to employ capable life savers who will demonstrate in a practical manner to the student.

Only a few lessons would be necessary in the case of an ordinarily good swimmer to qualify him as a life saver. Fitzgerald said, and it would be possible to improve the entire navy in a few weeks or months, if the government undertakes the task on the proper scale.

Fitzgerald sums up the philosophy of safety first in the following terse phrase:

"Don't go into the water with food in your stomach and keep a cool head when you find yourself in danger."

More than half the drownings that occur, Fitzgerald said, are due to the ignorance of bathers in eating a hearty meal shortly before entering the water. Cramps are sure to develop under these conditions, he says, and no matter how clever a swimmer one is, he or she will be helpless in even shallow water while in the throes of cramp.

The unconscious Suehr was drawn to the deck of the boat and Fitzgerald climbed out. Suehr was revived after a few minutes, but in an hour he had developed a white lock of hair above one ear. It was the only time that Fitzgerald saw a demonstration of the fact that a person's hair may turn gray in a short time while under a great mental strain. CHAS. E. FITZGERALD, MASTER LIFE SAVER

The other drownings might be prevented if life savers were at hand to go to the rescue of those who get into trouble, for one reason or another, he says. If a swimmer feels that he is tiring in deep water, it is almost certain that he can make his way to safety if he will remain cool and take easy strokes, Fitzgerald holds. The danger is in becoming excited and swallowing water in a frantic effort to get out.

"Excessive use of cigarettes has caused the deaths of many persons," Fitzgerald said, "and the man that is an excessive smoker should stay in the shallow water. Deep water causes a greater pressure against the lungs than the shallow water, and when the lungs are not working well the rest of the organs are not performing their regular functions."

"Guards at pools are also handicapped if they are excessive smokers. In many municipal pools they are put through a rigid examination; they are watched to see just how many cigarettes they smoke a day. In some cities which have municipal pools the guards are fired if they are caught smoking—cigars—pipes or cigarettes. "Cigarettes weaken the power of endurance, and because of this weakness, most smokers are unable to stay under water for thirty seconds without attempting to draw their breath, filling their lungs full of water."

Cuts Down Endurance.
"Many remarkable demonstrations have been held all over the United States of the harm cigarettes will do to athletes. Some swimmers will say that cigarettes during the winter months will not hinder the swimmer in the summer, when they 'sweat off.' But, during the winter months, the swimmer has so weakened his wind that they find themselves unable to comply with the tests which go with a good swimmer."

"Some of the swimmers probably will recover their endurance strength with sincere practice in the water and discontinuing the smoking of cigarettes." Little danger exists in contracting disease in the water, Fitzgerald said. He scouted the idea that more than ordinary danger lurks in the municipal swimming pools, and said that very little danger of diseases could be found in running waters.

"Thousands of parents have kept their children out of the water on account of fear of them contracting disease," Fitzgerald said, "but it is all a mistake. Physicians, the greatest specialists all over the country, have given as their opinion that there are no grounds for this fear. "Examinations have been made of the water in the pools and in the rivers, and little or no bacteria has been found in it. In fact, it has been less than in private pools."

Few persons ever think of a sailor pressed upon this nation when the daughter of a former President, en route to the Philippine Islands, grew do a stroke and would be helpless if swept into the sea by a gust of wind or a breaking rope.

A modern warship is stripped for action at times, and then there are no rails or handholds to save an unlucky man from falling overboard. The rail is taken down, and nothing is left on deck but the linoleum, which is exactly like that in a kitchen. But as the battleship is a floating island, few think of needing to swim.

There are swimming pools aboard both for officers and men. On the smaller cruisers and destroyer types, when the close of day comes, and the sailors wish to swim, a canvas is hooked up at the corners and pumped full of sea water, making a big tub.

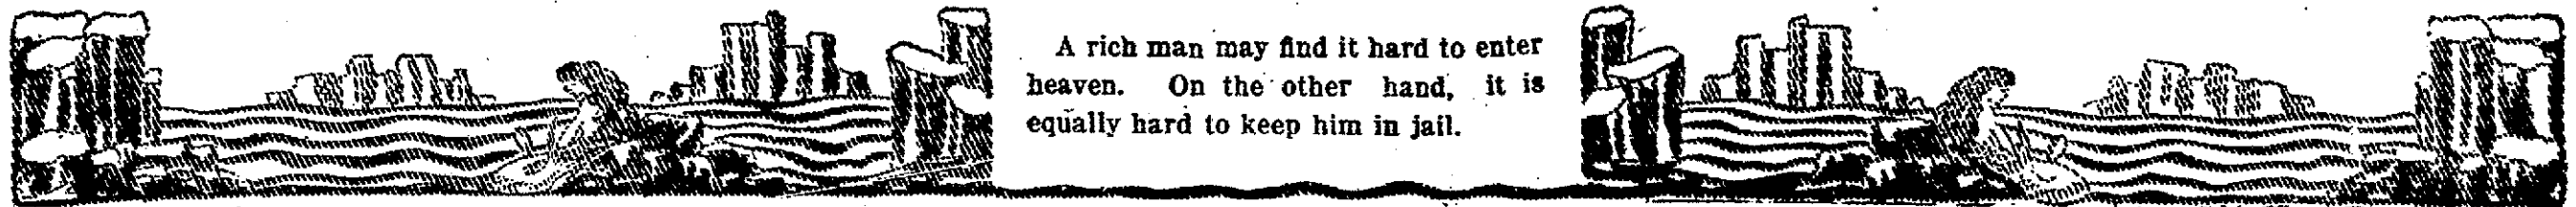

The surprising fact was first impressed upon this nation when the daughter of a former President, en route to the Philippine Islands, grew enthusiastic and leaped into the sailors' canvas plunge. The startling information was cabled all over the world, which in turn inquired, "How do sailors take baths?"

The submarine emphasizes another point as to why a sailor should know how to swim as well as to have sea legs. Holland's early divers were constructed in such a crude way that the crew was lost when the boat refused to ascend to the surface. Several years later it was found that the men, one by one, could be shot through the torpedo tubes, until but one man was left, and he had to drown, as there was nobody left to shoot him through!

Naturally a man bobbing up would have to be able to handle himself, else he had better remain on the bottom in his submarine.

The navy men on the subs are the pick of the navy, and the fewest possible accidents occur because of this.

A rich man may find it hard to enter heaven. On the other hand, it is equally hard to keep him in jail.

TWENTY-TWO LOADS OF HAY BROUGHT TO TOWN

Fruit and Vegetable Prices Continue Unchanged—Local Markets.

Twenty-two loads of hay were weighed at the city scales with $26 as the top price. Further advances in hay, however, are not probable. One dollar and twenty-five cents was the top price paid for corn Monday. Three loads were brought to the city. Three loads of oats brought 73 cents. Fruit and vegetable prices continue unchanged with the Christmas trade not showing particular effect yet. An advance of 2 cents per pound at local creameries today boosted the wholesale price of creamery butter to 51 cents per pound. While 60 cent pound tubs are now quoted at an even half dollar per pound wholesale, the one pound prints and thirty pound containers commanded 51 cents at all local dairy establishments today. It is problematical whether butter will go any higher at this time, although there is some indication that it may.

AT THE MAJESTIC

BEN HUR SEAT SALE OPEN TODAY

Here are some interesting figures about the Klaw & Erlanger production of General Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur" at the Majestic theatre Dec. 20, 21, 22. There are 18,500 words in the manuscript of the play, read by seventeen principals in one hour and fifty eight minutes. The chorus sings twenty four minutes at each performance. There are seventeen scenes in the play. The canvas in these scenes would cover an area of 102,700 square feet. The entire scenery and properties, exclusive of the chariot race apparatus, weigh twenty one and a quarter tons. Forty men set and clear the stage of this equipment; or handle it twice in thirty four minutes, the combined waits between the acts at each performance.

There are 375 lines, of about the size of clotheslines, used in suspending and holding the great drops or hanging pieces of scenery and as "strip lines." There are 150 feet of rope to each line, making 54,350 feet, or 10 1/2 miles of rope used in "Ben Hur." In the chariot race scene twenty horses are used. They run one minute in 15 seconds. Though running on treadmills, they cover a distance practically of 1350 feet each performance. There are 1800 six-candle power incandescent lamps and sixteen electric calciums used during each performance. The incandescent lamps burn 300 amperes and the calciums 400 amperes.

GOODBYE BROADWAY.

Lively Little Farce With Joe Roberts and Big Company at Palace.

Goodbye Broadway, the delightful little farce with music in which Joe Roberts, the ponderous comedian and a company of snappy girls and funny folks are appearing at the New Palace, is a riotous sequence of nonsense, farcical visions, lingerie and some nitty comedy stuff in which the audience is taken into the confidence of the artists and told about how it's all done behind the scenes. It's a Boby Woolfolk production and he has done himself proud for he has provided the farce with more talent than usually is afforded by two similar productions.

Alexandria, the master xylophonist, in a repertoire of classics, near classics and straight jazz is a diverting artist, who is appearing as a special added attraction.

THE WAR IN THE HOLY LAND: LONG DREAM OF THE JEWS IS NEAR REALIZATION IN OLD PALESTINE

BY HERMAN BERNSTEIN.

Editor of the American Hebrew.
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Joy was brought to the hearts of millions of Jews throughout the world last November 3 when Arthur Balfour, British foreign minister, wrote to Sir Lionel Rothschild, vice president of the Zionist organization of England, that the British government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jews.

But these were the joys of anticipation, the Jews having been prepared for this official declaration by a semi-official statement issued by General Sir Archibald Murray in March, just before his army reached Gaza.

"What shall we do with Palestine, which is now about to be stripped from the Turkish yoke?" he inquired, and answering his own question, he says: "Beyond doubt we will revive the Jewish Palestine of ancient days, and give to the Jews the possibility of realizing their ancient hope. Not all Jews will return to Palestine, but large numbers of them will. The new Jewish state, under either English or French protection, will become the spiritual and cultural center of all Jewry. The Jews will at last have their own nationality. Hopes which have sustained them through the centuries will now be realized."

Statesmen of Italy, France and Russia have politically pledged their countries support of this plan.

The pope recently received a Zionist emissary who explained the Jewish aspiration. After listening intently, his holiness ejaculated: "We will be good neighbors—we will be good neighbors."

Whether by coincidence or design, it is noteworthy that the American council in London, extending its greetings to the Zionist leaders on the official declaration in their favor by the British government, used the identical phrase that fell from the lips of the pope.

Germany, too, indicated its willingness to permit a Jewish state in Palestine, naturally under its overlordship. But since England's declaration, there has been a revulsion of feeling in Teutonic circles.

Since the fall of Jerusalem before the overwhelming legions of Rome, and the Jewish dispersion from Palestine, the liturgy of that people has been burdened with prayers for the restoration. Through the centuries there have been various attempts to re-establish the Jewish people on their ancient land, but nothing of a serious character is recorded prior to 1850, when the "Alliance Israelite Universelle" of Paris began operating in Palestine. The first thing done by the alliance was to establish an agricultural school, for which the Turkish government donated 625 acres of land near Jaffa. A school was opened in 1870 under the name of "Mikvah Israel."

In 1878 Laurence Oliphant, an English explorer, visited Palestine and became an advocate of Jewish resettlement of the country. But not until the 80's when the first Jewish massacres occurred in Russia, was the foundation laid for the present Jewish colonization. There were organized, throughout Russia, "Bilu" societies, composed of intelligent Jewish young men who determined to become pioneers of Palestine colonization.

Under their auspices a colony "Rishon Le Zion" (first for Zion) was established on the road between Jaffa and Jerusalem. They found a land arid, barren, waterless, exposed to the pitiless glare of the tropical sun, rotting into morass and swamp, and were almost entirely surrounded by savage nomads.

We are thrilled with the story of the Pilgrim Fathers who fought their way to success from the precarious foothold in bleak Plymouth. All the valor and the unquenchable courage of the Pilgrim Fathers was displayed by these Jewish young men from the universities of Russia. In 32 years, from 1882-1914, this handful of pioneers grew to some 15,000 Jewish farmers in Palestine, strongly organized in 40 villages.

Meanwhile the Dreyfus scandal had occurred in France, and Dr. Theodor Herzl, Viennese journalist who reported the last trial of the historic scapegoat, published a brochure entitled "A Jewish State," in which he summoned the Jews of the world to revive their nationality and claim at the hands of the powers "a publicly recognized, legally secured homeland in Palestine." Inspired by this book, a call was issued for a congress, which was held in Basle, Switzerland, in 1897, and the Zionist organization, which today has branches throughout the world, was organized. The Zionist organization undertook firstly, political negotiations for recognition of the Jewish nationality and its claim on Palestine; and secondly, the fostering of a national colonization in the Holy Land.

In the last few years before the war there arose a number of large plantation societies ("Achuzoth"), which were founded in Russia, the United States, England and Rumania.

Several workmen's settlements have been founded during the last few years mostly with the help of the Jewish national fund, in the neighborhood of the large colonies. At the same time the former colonies have been considerably enlarged by the purchase of land in their neighborhood.

A brisk influx of brave young laborers on the one hand, and of enterprising capitalists on the other, was particularly noticeable in Palestine during the last few years before the war.

The Jewish population of Palestine now bears a higher proportion to the total number of inhabitants of the country than does the Jewish population in any other country of the world. The old Jewish settlers the those whose religious sentiment drew them to Palestine, in most cases after they have passed the prime of life, to spend their remaining years in prayer and study on holy grounds. For the most part they have been from the outset, or have become in the course of time, dependent on charity. This evil has extended to their children, and their children's children.

Very different are the settlers of the new type who went there under the impulse of Jewish nationalism. They sought a foothold in the plains of Judaea and Galilee. As their agricultural colonies grew and their productivity increased, they brought business to the seaport towns of Jaffa and Haifa, and side by side with the development of the colonies there proceeded a rapid Jewish immigration into those two towns. Settlers of the new type began to come also to Jerusalem, where, as in the other towns, they formed modern suburbs outside the old and overcrowded city. In town and country alike the new settlers have brought with them European energy and ideals of progress.

The Arabs have not unnaturally felt some jealousy of the Jewish colonies, which compare so favorably with their own primitive villages, but they realize that economically the coming of the Jewish settlers has been greatly to their advantage and they have accepted it as a matter of course that the Jewish colonists shall make their own local laws and regulations, as they build their own homes. Thus the Jewish colonies in Palestine have enjoyed a measure of independence and self-government which will be impossible in a more highly developed and closely controlled country. They have had to work out for themselves their own political and municipal problems.

William Trevaten Uses Diplomacy in Cussing in Company.

A short uninteresting session featured Monday's police court. William Trevaten, arrested for using profane language in public, had his case continued ineffectively. The man was arrested on an affidavit filed by his uncle who said the young man used considerable "cuss" words at a family reunion of colored people. Most of the "cussing" was in Hungarian, however, according to the uncle's testimony, and Judge Kerr ruled that the case be continued inasmuch as none of the guests could understand that language.

Brothers Let go. Henry and Fred Burghman, residing a short distance out of town on the Decatur road, were discharged. Both men were arrested Saturday evening on a drunk charge. Henry was found down and out on Nutman avenue. Both brothers were surprised at the other's presence when they regained their senses Sunday morning.

Adams Case Dismissed. The case of George Adams was dismissed Monday morning. Adams issued a check on a Bryant bank at the German-American bank it is alleged and then ordered payment stopped. Because he had funds sufficient to cover the check on deposit in the home bank it was deemed advisable to dismiss the case.

FARMER DROPS DEAD

Henry W. Jackson Stricken With Apoplexy at Home Near New Haven.

Mr. Jackson was alone in the kitchen busying himself with some small tasks and his wife was in another part of the house, while a foster son was at the stable engaged with the morning chores, when the fatal seizure came upon the aged farmer.

Mr. Jackson heard him fall and hurried to his side and then summoned the son from the barn. Nothing could be done for the stricken man and he expired before medical attendance could reach him.
